Granddaughter.
Boiling, Surging Wall Street.
1,000,000 Rubber Acres.
King George's Chapter.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Elinor Patterson, of Chicago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patterson, and great-granddaughter of old Joseph Medill, decided not to sit around, as rich American girls usually do, waiting for some young man to marry her, and thus bestow a career upon her.

She chose to do something in the meanwhile, and has achieved success, playing the part of the nun in "The Miracle."

Three things, yes, four, women can do better than men—singing, acting, dancing and patiently studying the stars. There is plenty of room for "a career," to say nothing of producing the entire human race in pain and sorrow, a job that would drive many men to suicide, after one experience.

The father and mother of the ambitious, intelligent girl are congratulated upon their good judgment, allowing their daughter to develop her talent, in spite of the fact that she doesn't need the money."

Happy, busy day yesterday, in little old Wall street. "Boiling and surging" describes the market. Two and a half million shares were bought and sold. Even the little curb market sold more than half a million shares. All records since 1916 broken. A seat on the big exchange has sold for $126,000. More kinds of stocks were sold than ever before, and for two hours after the market opened, stocks sold at the rate of 10,000 shares a minute, what you might call "a market." Even expensive gambling money, 5½ per cent for call loans, couldn't discourage it.

But keep away from gambling. Ask the seedy ghosts that fill the air in New street after the brokers go home.

Little and big concerns come forward with smiling faces to announce "increases." For the first nine months this year Western Union took in $10,000,000 more than last year. Otis Elevator made $500,000 more than a year ago. And the powerfully managed telephone company took in many millions "extra." Telephone receipts are a gauge of national development.

Little things grow into big things. Not long ago, on the other side of the ocean, a man was giving his friends little red lumps of curious substance, saying: "Use this to rub out pencil marks." It was caoutchouc, milky juice from a tropical tree, hardening when exposed to the air. Because it rubbed out pencil marks it was called "a rubber." And to this day the caoutchouc shoes we make for our feet we call rubbers, although we don't use them to rub out pencil marks.

Little did the man who gave away pieces of rubber imagine that nations

SCHOOL BOARD FIGHT CARRIED TO HIGH COURT BY R. H. PERRY

Appeal Will Forestall Introduction of Religious Instruction.

RULING IS MADE

Judge Jones Warns Against Grading Pupils.

The East Liverpool district board of education yesterday won the second round of the fight over the proposed introduction of a course of religious education in the schools, when Judge Walter Jones, of Troy, presiding in the case at Lisbon, dismissed the temporary injunction granted R. H. Perry, steel plant executive.

Notice of Appeal Given

The court's ruling refused Perry's application for a permanent injunction to restrain the school board from permitting the Ministerial association to use the school rooms during school hours for the proposed Bible study.

Attorneys George E. Davidson, of East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell of Lisbon, representing Perry, took exceptions, filed notice of appeal and furnished $200 bond, preliminary to carrying the case to the appellate court. Whether the appeal will be argued in Lisbon during the week of Nov. 9, the date for the next session of the court, has not been determined.

The notice of appeal forestalls plans to proceed with the establishment of the proposed course until the higher court rules.

Opposes Grading of Pupils

The court held that the school board was acting within the scope of authority given it by the law, but added, "The grading of pupils in religious instruction is near the danger line, and I recommend that part of the plan be eliminated. The plan looks like one leading to the upbuilding of good morals and citizenship. If some people are alarmed, I think they are unduly so."

The temporary injunction against the board of education was granted Perry last August by Judge J. G. Moore, of Lisbon, after the school board had voted, 4 to 1, to comply with the request of the Ministerial association. Attorney J. H. Brookes, who opposed the plan, later resigned as president and member of the school board.

Arguments were heard yesterday on Perry's application for a permanent injunction. Rev. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church; Emmett Gaston, clerk-treasurer, and D. F. White, president, of the board of education, were among the witnesses called.

SIX ARMED MEN SEIZE $45,000

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Six men armed with sawed off shot guns and revolvers seized the $45,000 payroll of the International Harvester company's plant here this morning, and escaped after holding more than 20 men at bay. No shots were fired.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 17. — The First State bank of New Brighton, 13 miles northeast of here, was robbed of $15,000 by armed bandits today, in the second daylight holdup in two days in the Twin City area.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Oct. 17.—Four bandits entered the postoffice here today bounded and gagged Edward Long, watchman, and cut open the vault with acetelyne torches and escaped with stamps valued at $100,000 and $200 in cash.

Try to Trap 'Dutch' Anderson After Huntington Bank Robbery

Police of Three States Join in Chase as Suspected Master Bandit Flees With $7,000.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 17—Police in cities in three states today had drawn a network about Huntington that they believe cannot be pierced by George "Dutch" Anderson, pal of Gerald Chapman, and far sought alleged double slayer, who is suspected of being the leader of a daring bandit gang that late yesterday swooped down on the Guyandotte bank here and escaped with $7,000 in currency.

The bandits informed H. A. McNeer, cashier, they were after an $80,000 payroll of the International Nickel plant which they said they understood was to be in the bank. They threatened to kill McNeer when he explained the payroll had not arrived. Brief descriptions of the leader of the robber gang, who entered flashing pistol in each hand and calmly herded the bank employes and a score of customers into a vault, tallied closely with descriptions of Anderson, police said.

The bandits fled in an automobile, which was traced as far as Hurricane, W. Va., half way between here and Charleston, W. Va. Authorities along all highways are on the lookout for men and the car. It is believed the suspects are headed east through the most picteresque mountain section of the state. Especial watch is being maintained along the new state highway to Sulphur Springs.

This was the first bank robbery in Huntington since Jesse James and his band raided the Huntington National bank in the center of the town district back in the '80's.

INDIANIANS PAY HOMAGE AS BODY OF SENATOR RALSTON GOES TO GRAVE

LEBANON, Ind., Oct. 17.—There were tears in the skies of Indiana today as a motor funeral cortege swung northward along the highways under leaden clouds, bringing home to Lebanon the body of Senator Samuel M. Ralston.

Strung out for miles behind it, waiting at every cross roads for the procession to pass that still more might join in the one last pilgrimage to do him homage, were motor cars of every make, carrying men and women from every walk of life—all bound to one focal point and all inspired to indifference to weather and discomfort by love of the man whose whole creed was written in the word of the poet:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Men were there from the highest political councils of the nation who remembered that Samuel M. Ralston might have been the standard bearer of the Democrat party had he not realized that failing health might not allow him to make the presidential race or live through the devitalizing four years of national leadership that sapped the vitality of Wilson and of Harding, and sent them to their deaths ahead of their normal time.

Men there were from the—[illegible] township surrounding Lebanon, who knew him in the role he chose to live—that of husband, father, neighbor

The prince has made solicitious inquiries concerning the health of his grandmother, Queen Alexandra, and it is understood he will take the first opportunity to go to Sandringham to visit her. The queen mother is now enjoying a drive almost daily and is said to be in better health than for some time.

DISARMAMENT PARLEY LOOMS AS SECURITY PACTS GET O. K.

Great Britain Will Welcome Invitation From U. S.

LOCARNO HAPPY

Tiny Swiss Town Wins Place in History.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

President Coolidge is ready to issue the invitations, just as soon as he is assured that the nations of Europe and Asia are willing to come in.

The signing of the Locarno security pact, under which France and Germany and their neighbors agree to abolish warfare among themselves, has, in his opinion, removed the last great obstacle to the success of such a gathering.

Aims of Conference.

The chief aims to be sought in this second Washington conference are expected to be:

1.—Reduction of the world's standing armies.

2.—Limitation of aircraft armament.

3.—Limitation of submarines, both as to size and number that each nation may possess.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Great Britain would welcome an invitation from the United States to a disarmament conference, now that the European security pacts have been concluded at Locarno, it was stated in official circles today.

Whitehall officials said that they realized that it was a little early to discuss disarmament conferences until the Locarno pacts have actually been signed and their effectiveness has been noted, but they pointed out that while European nations may be inclined to delay action themselves they could not well afford to ignore any invitation coming from the United States.

Peace Receives Impetus.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 17.—After a night of celebration over the completion of the European security pact, this tiny Swiss town settled down today prepared to take its place in history as the spot where European peace received its greatest impetus.

As the various delegates to the security past conference prepared to leave for their homes, there was a greater evidence of international good feeling than has been seen since the Government Petition Charging Violation of Sherman Anti-trust Act, is Filed in Cleveland Against Porcelain Appliance Corporation of Washington, Its Organizers, Managers and Member Companies.

DAVIDSON AND R. THOMAS & SONS COMPANIES AND H. R. HOLMES LISTED

Uncle Sam Alleges Defendant Manufacturers of Porcelain Insulators Have Conspired for Several Years to Eliminate Competition Among Themselves and to Establish Uniform Prices for Their Products.

Three East Liverpool district porcelain manufacturers are among the 16 defendants named in the government suit charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, which was filed in the United States district court at Cleveland yesterday against the Porcelain Appliance Corporation, of Washington, its organizers, managers and members.

Member companies, alleged to form the Porcelain Appliance corporation, are charged with having pooled their patent rights under its control and with manufacturing and selling under licenses from it, thus fixing all prices.

District manufacturers listed in the suit are the Davidson Porcelain company, operating its plant in Chester; R. Thomas and Sons company, and H. R. Holmes. Two other defendants, the Brunt Tile & Porcelain company, Columbus, and G. O. Anderson, Parkersburg, W. Va., are formerly of East Liverpool.

Others Named in Action

Other member companies and individuals charged in the suit with conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade are:

Cook Pottery Co., Trenton, N. J.
Colonial Insulator Co., Akron, O.
Federal Porcelain Co., Carey, O.
Findlay Electrical Porcelain Co., Parkersburg, W. Va.
Illinois Electrical Porcelain Co., Macomb, Ill.
Mogadore Insulator Co., Mogadore, O.
National Electrical Porcelain Co., Carey, O.
J. H. Parker & Son, Inc., Parkersburg, W. Va.

Circle "F" Manufacturing Co., Trenton, N. J.
Ravenswood Porcelain Co., Ravenswood, W. Va.

J. H. Parker, Parkersburg, W. Va.
R. C. Spencer, Carey, O.
J. E. Bicknell, Findlay, O.
P. G. Duryea, Trenton, N. J.

Patents Pooled, Charge.

The government alleges the defendant manufacturers of porcelain insulators have conspired for several years to eliminate competition among themselves and to establish uniform prices for their products. The first attempt was through the Armstrong bureau, a trade association later condemned by the supreme court, it is set forth.

Their purpose was finally attained through pooling patents in and issuing manufacturing licenses from the holding company, it is alleged.

Sargent Orders Suit.

The government also charges the patents they hold on porcelain insulators cover only minor improvements and are invalid because granted "improvidently and by mistake."

If valid, the theory is that the patents cover such narrow scope as not

COUNTY CHURCH 105 YEARS OLD

Hanoverton Congregation Plans Two-day Services.

The congregation of the Hanoverton Christian church, one of the oldest churches in eastern Ohio, will celebrate its 105th anniversary with special services tonight and Sunday. Many former residents of the district are expected to attend the celebration which will take the form of a homecoming.

The history of the Hanoverton churches dates back to the days when the village was made up of a few log cabins. It was established in 1820 and was known as the Bible Christian church. The first pastor came from Kentucky.

The church was almost wrecked by a controversy which developed in 1924 but six years later the congregation was reorganized with a membership of about 100. The present building was erected in 1859, just 66 years ago.

Many leaders in the Christian church served the Hanoverton church in bygone days. Among them are Alexander Campbell, Isaac Errett, H. L. Ice, Harrison Jones, Hiram Van Vorhees, W. H. Cramblett and others.

A house-warming and get-together meeting will be held at the church tonight. Prof. Irvin T. Green will speak at the Sunday morning service while visiting pastors and friends of the church will take part in the afternoon meeting. Prof. Green will also occupy the pulpit Sunday evening.

What the Bible Teaches About Church Attendance

Does God require a man to go to church?

Does the man who stays at home on Sunday have equal chance to the joys of the future life as the man who regularly attends church?

Why thousands do not go to church.

Does the church have a real message for the age?

Will we ever have a new religion?

Hear these questions discussed Sunday night.

NARROWS PLAN IS APPROVED

Jefferson County Acts on Improvement Project.

Jefferson county commissioners this morning passed a resolution authorizing engineers to proceed immediately with steps toward the temporary improvement of the "narrows," by the construction of a roadway under terms of a proposal from the state highway department.

Jefferson county commissioners yesterday were notified by the state highway department that $15,000 would be given to the project by the state if the county would provide a similar amount for the improvement of a five-mile stretch from Stratton to Yellow Creek, which would give traffic a through river road for use this winter.

The state highway department pointed out that if the plan were to be taken up, that steps should be taken immediately so that the job could be completed before winter.

Manager Brooks is desirous of arranging games with any team weighing 160 pounds in this vicinity. Communication should be addressed to him at 1614 Chester avenue, Wellsville.

Nomads of Mongolia To Establish Modern University at Ourga

MOSCOW.—Mongolia, home of nomads, aspires to Western learning. Two delegates from Mongolia to the bi-centennial eclebration of the Russian Academy of Science, announce that in Ourga, chief city of the country, which does not yet possess a railroad, will be a modern university within five years.

Within ten years, they say, they will be able to staff their university exclusively with native Mongolian professors. Many Mongolians are now studying here in the Communist university of the Tailing East.

The two Mongolian scholars are Zyven-Dshanzarano, secretary of the Scientific committee of the Mongalian government, and Chagtshou, manager of the library of the Mongolian republic. They report that plans are now on foot to establish a Mongolian academy of science.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

Last Chance To Register

A comparatively small number of electors' names were added to the registrars' books in the 21 precincts in East Liverpool on Friday, the first day of registration for the November 3 election, according to reports received by the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections.

And, too, few voters who have changed their place of residence since the August 11 primaries, applied to the precinct officials for transfers. Like electors who neglect to qualify, failure of removals to transfer means their disfranchisement.

Today is the last chance to enroll for the fall balloting, when municipal, township, judicial and board of education officers as well as a clerk of the municipal court will be elected, judgment passed on three proposed constitutional amendments, a $950,000 road bond issue and a three-mill school tax levy.

From 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 5 to 10 p. m. registrars will be on duty in the precinct voting places, prepared to enroll new voters, make corrections in registrations and issue transfers.

If you are not registered, go to the precinct place before 10 o'clock tonight. Failure to do so will bar you from the polls next month.

Appreciation For Roughnecks

Just as college students settle down to the serious business of fraternity life and organized football cheering, they are jumped onto by a rude professor from the University of California. Dr. J. B. Finley says the colleges are full of young men who are there because they don't want to work. Furthermore:

"We do not want a race of mollycoddles. The manicure shop is not the place where men are bred. I would rather trust the fate of the nation to a genuine roughneck than to a highbrow. Our nation will probably be saved, for a few years at least, by the young man who cannot go to college.

"Manhood is the ideal that is being overlooked in our educational system. We are trying to polish an article that is veneered. Give me an oak tree with the bark on it."

Fortunately for Prof. Finley's peace of mind, he is leaving all that behind him. He is going to take a position in the University of Mexico City. We may learn later whether Mexican students are underbrained and overmanicured like our own decadent youth. It hardly seems possible that there should be any "oaks with the bark on" down there, but they may have the saving grace of Spanish bayonets.

A Classical "Bawl-Out"

When Vice Chancellor Joseph Wells gave his annual Latin address at Oxford recently, he spoke his mind quite freely on the subject of undergraduate follies.

The stylish Oxford bags he described as "more barbarian than anything which the Dacians or Sarmations ever wore." He "bawled out" men and women students alike for their pernicious habit of sipping coffee for hours at a time in Oxford cafes. He attacked whole-heartedly the speed and number of student-driven automobiles in Oxford. "They have made the streets impassable save at grave peril, and their noise resounds through all open spaces."

It is rumored in these United States that some American students in some American colleges and universities need a similar scolding. But it is questionable whether many of them would derive much benefit from it if it were delivered in Latin.

Flyers Leaving Morocco

An official communication of the French military authorities at Fez has announced, according to a recent dispatch, "the approaching dissolution of the Sherifian escadrille composed of American aviators against the Moroccan rebels."

"This escadrille," says the communique, "now is reaching the end of its activities. Its members have shown themselves worthy of their great reputations." French squadrons are going in to take their places. This action follows a polite hint from the United States government.

No doubt the American flyers have done effective work there. But for that, the American public is not disposed to praise them so highly as the French. Americans at home are glad to learn that American citizens are going to stop helping foreign powers crush the life out of a small nation of brave, free people who deserve independence and have never done Americans any wrong.

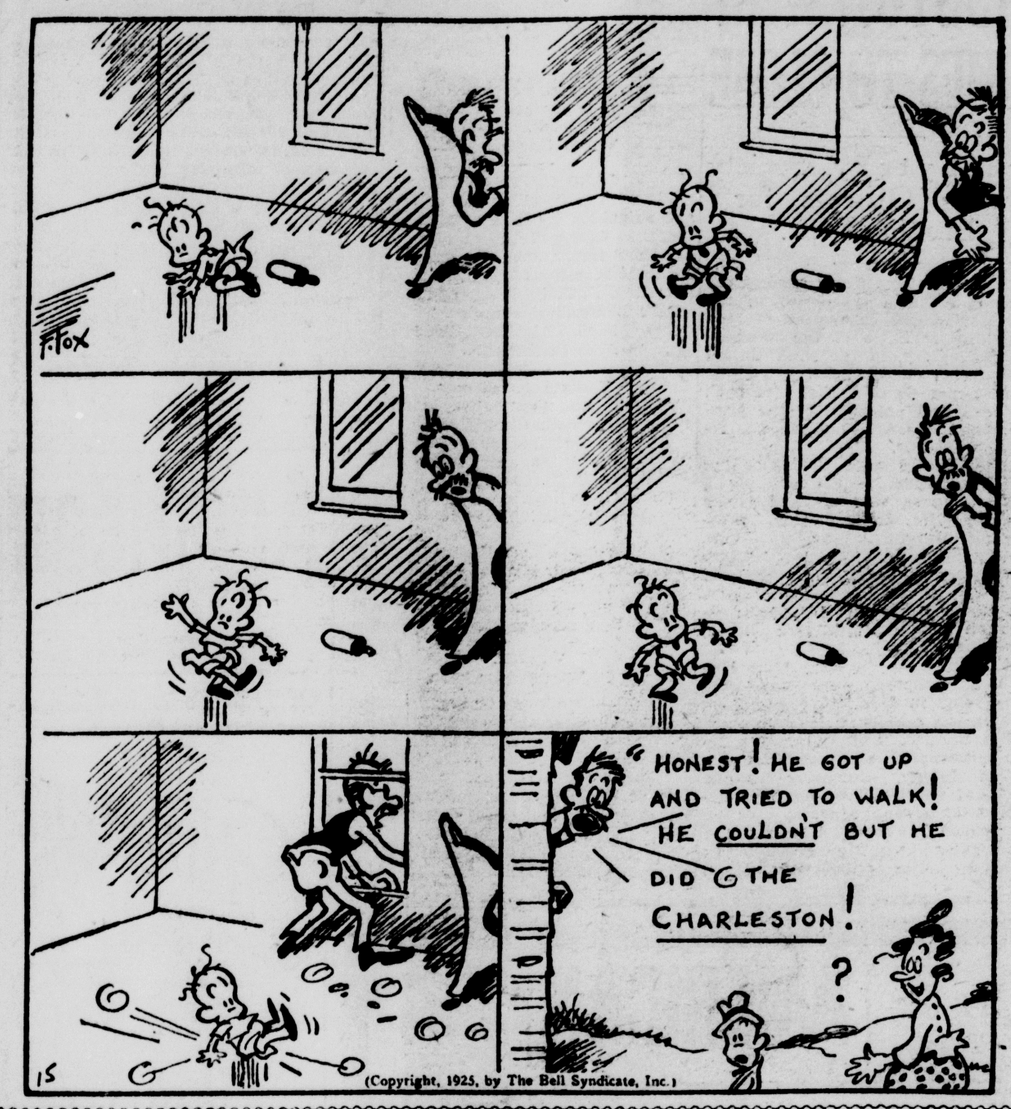
What, asks a realist, is the satisfaction of achievement compared with the satisfaction of watching other people work?

"Every legitimate business transaction benefits both sides," remarks a banker. But then why do bankers always act as if lending money at a profitable rate of interest were merely a favor to the borrower?

A motoring generation is now going back to horseback riding for exercise. Some future generation will make itself healthy and happy by discovering the art of walking.

Why make fun of the New Jersey girl who went to Chicago because she "wanted to get away from everybody and everything?" Everybody in Chicago acts like that all the time.

Baby's First Steps— By Fontaine Fox



NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Literature so far as our popular fiction goes is falling into new hands. Margazine and publishing houses from Fall lists indicate time for a new deal. A new crop of writers suddenly sprung up to dazzle them.

Old favorites have reached a point where they must stir their stumps and typewriters. Names hitherto unknown to the public are tagged to best sellers. A few years ago theer was a hiatus and then along came Sinclair Lewis with his triple blast.

Another hiatus and now there are at least a dozen fiction writers who are being eagerly sought at their own price to sign on the dotted line. I am told by a publisher's confidant that thre were a half dozen novels by old favorites rejected this season to make way for the new.

There is an age old bleat that the new writer must have a drag or be well known to receive attention of editors. This new situation disproves it. Also the theory that the scribbler must live in New York. Only one in the new list resides in the metropolis.

One indeed lives on an obscure farm in British Columbia, Genius, like water, finds its level and a writer does not have to fare forth with a hunting horn to be discovered. Nearly every magazine and publishing house has a literary Columbus whose job is to discover new talent.

It has become a most important post. Education it would also seem does not play such highly important part in novel writing. Three new writers were not even graduated from high school but all were omniverous readers. They learned largely from life.

The chief thing is to have a story to tell. So few have, en passant. The era of hysterical thought is gone. The new story tellers are telling coherent tales. Writing in the final analysis is merely self expression.

European hotel proprietors are sending their sons to New York to learn the hotel business. Louis Adlon of the Adlon in Berlin has one son who is a bus boy at the Ritz and another who is working in the kitchen of the Ambassador.

Hotel men probably know more about it but I do not believe anyone can learn one single thing that will aid him as a hotel proprietor by serving as bus boy. Nor as a waiter. But as a cook! That is different. Every hotel man should be a first rate cook and front office clerk. Still there may be something in the bus boy theory for five prominent hotel men have served in that lowly job. Yet I believe they would have gone just as far without this training.

Over the desk of a big hotel executive, by the way, is this sign: "Don't Worry — It Won't Last — Nothong Does."

When I was a clerk in a country hotel I used to rush to the edge of the sidewalk to carry the drummers' suitcase in. Also carry up his ice water. Today if some hotel clerks even answer a query you feel important.

When a tong war blazes forth in Chinatown all vehicles are forbidden to enter the tiny streets. Tong men with their sawed off shotguns are able to fire at their enemies from behind wagons and escape returning fire if vehicles fill the streets. The Chinese are especially careful of the innocent bystander. Every effort to bring about peace among the tongs has failed. Warfare always breaks out again and usually simultaneously in several cities.

Chuck Conners, down in Chinatown, used to say: "When a Chink gets mad he gets wronger and wronger until he kills. Then he lights a pill and is a peaceful feller until he kills again."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oc. 16.—A campaign against illiteracy in the United States is about to be waged under the direction of the Bureau of Education. The last census of the United States showed that this country ranks tenth in illiteracy, which seems appalling in a nation which is considered by its citizens as a leader in the progress of the world. The aim of those interested in this campaign is to reduce the amount of illiteracy before the next census is taken in 1930.

L. R. Alderman, a prominent educator of Portland, Oregon, has been appointed as Specialist in Adult Education in the bureau. Mr. Alderman has had a great deal of experience along this line. Furthermore, his interest in adult education amounts almost to a hobby. As he puts it, "it is wonderful to get paid for doing something you like."

Mr. Alderman has been a county school superintendent a university professor in the department of education, State superintendent for the State of Oregon, and city superintendent of the city of Portland, Oregon. During the World War he went to France and worked with the Army Education Corps. Afterwards he inaugurated a plan of education in the Navy which now reaches 25,000 men. He was also a member of the Survey Staff of the New York Public schools.

Although Mr. Alderman has had much experience in general educational work, he has always been particularly interested in adult education. He has watched and studied the various methods applied to teaching adults. From this study he has come to the conclusion against learning to read and write. It is simply told to show that many so-called illiterates have native ability which if directed in the right way take them far.

When teaching an adult Mr. Alderman believes that consideration should be given to what the pupil has learned by actual experience. For instance some golf instructors giving lessons to one who perhaps has played golf a little will take no note of that fact. They begin their instruction on the basis that the pupil has never played golf and knows absolutely nothing about it. They tell him so much at one time that he becomes confused and consequently gets little of nothing out of the lesson. On the other hand an instructor who gets the best results will first observe just how the pupil makes his strokes and holds his clubs. He then calls the attention of the pupil to any incorrect method he is using and shows him how it should be done.

The Bureau of Education hopes to decrease adult illiteracy through the co-operation of the States. It is planned that each state shall appoint a commission and through this carry out a plan which is to be worked out by the Bureau. Several states have already appointed commissions and are preparing to work vigorously toward reducing illiteracy so that when the next report of the Bureau of the Census come out the United States will make a better showing.

Summer Schools For Adults

Oklahoma has set up a commission and courses of instruction in teaching adults were given at the summer schools. Classes for adults were also held.

The Bureau has very ambitious plans, which while they are not directly connected with the program for reducing adult illiteracy, still in a measure overlap it. They include a survey of the education that adults require an entirely different system of teaching.

One of the outstanding differences between teaching a child and an adult is that repetition must be avoided in the case of the latter. A child's education may be planned with a view to the fact that he has no background of experiences. Everything is new to him. The same thing may told him over and over and he does not mind. With an adult it is different, however. He has thousands of experiences which have given him a practical knowledge, even though he may be termed an illiterate. He is bored with reiteration, and likewise does not as a rule take kindly to lecture courses.

Illiterate But Not Stupid

Mr. Alderman stresses the fact that because a man is illiterate does not necessarily mean that he is stupid. As an instance he tells the story of the janitor of a public school in a large Eastern city. This man was an excellent janitor and performed his duties in an entirely satisfactory manner. However, he could neither read nor write. Finally the powers-that-be decreed that it was out of keeping to have as janitor of apublic school an illiterate. Whereupon he was dismissed.

Later this erstwhile janitor rose to a position of prominence and wealth in the business world. He had become a successful contractor. One day while in a bank putting through a loan, an acquaintance upon noticing him make his mark instead of signing his name, exclaimed, "Gracious, do you mean that you can not write your own name?" Upon receiving an affirmative answer he continued, "Just think where you might have been if you could read and write?" To which the contractor replied somewhat grimly, "Yes, I know where I'd have been—janitor of a school."

The foregoing story, however, is not ment as a warning of aliens and factory industrial education. The bureau is interested in knowing just how courses for aliens are conducted, and how large factories and industrial plants train new employees.

Mr. Alderman believes that one of the best ways for grown-ups to advance their education is through the various extension courses. He says that such courses are such more compatible with the adult temperament than a straight college course would be. This, of course, does not apply to illiterates. Such courses are only for those who feel that they would like to continue their education after they have finished school. In many cases they may have been out of school for several years before beginnig an extensive course.

All persons interested in education feel that illiteracy in the United States has reached the point where drastic measures must be taken to combat it. Mr. Alderman is of the opinion that enforcing the compulsory education law is the most important one thing that can be done. He feels that by making this law effective illiteracy may be completely wiped out.

During the World War the tests of the War Department showed that illiteracy was more prevalent than even the Census reports showed. Practically 24 per cent of those in the draft could not read a typewritten order or letter. Some of these probably could sign their names or perhaps in a labored fashion read a few printed lines. They, therefore, probably would not have been classed as illiterates in the Census reports for the simple reason that when asked if they could read and write they would have replied, "yes."

Illiteracy is one of the foremost problems of the day and it is felt that everyone who can will be more than glad to do his share toward solving it within the next four years.

New Method Eradicates Wrinkles Like Magic

It has been found that a simple tarkroot mixture, spread over the entire face, acts almost magically upon even the deepest wrinkles and crowsfeet. It produces the natural rejuvenating effect of massage, only to a more marked degree. The danger of loosening the skin or muscles, as in unscientific or too frequent massaging, is eliminated, no rubbing being necessary. On the other hand, the skin and underlying tissues are so invigorated they become much firmer, and the skin's texture is so changed it again assumes its original clear, smooth, velvety appearance.

If you will procure a package of powdered tarkroot from your druggist, mix a spoonful with a spoonful of lemon juice, apply with the fingers, and sit down before your mirror, you will see the wrinkles and sags disappear, in less than 15 minutes! You will be amazed, to say the least. Tarkroot of course is perfectly harmless. And certainly it is inexpensive; a treatment costs less than three cents!

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Mrs. Miles Was Miserable a Long Time—Owes Final Recovery to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dover, Ohio.—"After my last baby was born I was up and around again, but I was sickly all the time and did not know how to get my work done. I had washed a heavy carpet and I think that was the cause of my troubles. I went to several doctors, but their medicines did not do me any good. I asked what the trouble was, for I could hardly walk and always had such pains in my left side and then in my right side. He told me I had inflammation that caused it. I had one of your text-books and was reading it, and I thought I would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After four days of taking it I began to feel better, so I took three bottles without missing a dose. That helped me more than any other medicine I had yet taken and I always have it handy now. It surely did put me on my feet again."—Mrs. JAMES MILES, 419 Cherry Street, Dover, Ohio.

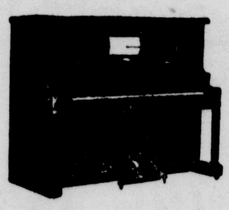
Gulbransen Registering Pianos Now in American Homes

America's Answer to Mr. Gulbransen's Remarkable Creation

FRIENDS and families all over America gather nightly about the Gulbransen Registering Piano when the day's toil is done. It's the social center of thousands of homes that are known for their entertainment and charm.

By means of Mr. Gulbransen's masterful creation, the owner of a Gulbransen Registering Piano always has the companionship of music—not mechanical music as played by the ordinary player piano—but music of his own expression—his personal touch, the thing that makes hand playing what it is. On the Gulbransen you get hand played results by playing roll music. And anyone can play it—you, or your guests—without previous musical training.

You can play the Gubransen Registering Piano for dances in perfect time and rhythm. You can accompany a singer as a musician would play—lively at first, then slowly as you near the words, pausing for the singer, then subduing the melody to a whisper—just as an accomplished pianist playing by hand.



If you haven't played a Gulbransen Registering Piano you have a new thrill awaiting you. We shall be glad to have you try this instrument in our show rooms. Come in and play a few rolls of the kind of music you like. You'll be surprised at the musical talent you possess even though you have never had any musical training, for you can play this instrument by roll with a personal touch just like hand playing.

$1095 "yet I certainly place it in the $2000 class!"

... "And better than the car I discarded which cost me almost twice as much," says the same delighted owner!

... "beauty such as has never before been seen in a popular-priced automobile" ... "a symphony in color" ... "to ride in the ordinary Six, then to experience the luxury and comfort of this one, is like comparing a day-coach to a Pullman" ... "this, indeed, is a real automobile" ... "as fine a specimen of engineering as I have ever seen" ... these are but a few of the sentiments expressed by present owners and they represent the opinions of others by the thousands! ...

"The Handsomest Car on the Street"—one owner calls it

... a spectacularly beautiful color-combination ... base of body a rich Peacock blue—upper structure two beautifully blended tones of grey—gleaming jet-black top trim—a fine gold line running all around the body-belt adds a still further note of richness ... Beauty in general effect—beauty in details—beauty in color-harmony—from every viewpoint of good taste and good appearance this big Overland Six will excite your admiration as it has that of every man or woman who ever has seen it!

"All My Friends Remark Upon its Delightful Roominess"—

... Thus another owner speaks—and why shouldn't the wonderful spaciousness of this big comfortable car cause comment! ... An extra inside area of 16½ cubic feet—the equivalent of the amount of space ordinarily occupied by 1½ more people ... Consider what all that extra roominess means to the comfort and enjoyment of yourself and your passengers ... Comfortable riding. No cramping, no crowding.

"An Engineering Masterpiece"—so an internationally famous engineer describes it

... in every sense the power-plant of this big Six is a positive wonder. It is a simple statement of fact that never before under the hood of an automobile have six cylinders lived and worked together more harmoniously or more efficiently. Power enough for your every need—lightning getaway—unbeatable stamina—the lowest gas and oil consumption you've ever known in a six-cylinder automobile ... The finely balanced crankshaft is drilled for positive force-feed lubrication at all speeds. Engine, clutch and transmission are a unit, all completely enclosed for protection against mud and dirt ... "Everything about this car suggests bigness, quality, richness, fineness"—this is the expressed impression of owner after owner—To the best of our knowledge and belief, no better materials, no greater care, no broader engineering experience have ever been before concentrated on the production of an automobile.

FISHER PARK AGENTS NAMED

J. S. Hilbert and C. W. Hendershot Offer Allotment

Two East Liverpool realtors were added to the Fisher Park selling organization today when C. W. Hendershot, Potters' Savings and Loan building, and J. S. Hilbert, of George H. Owens and company, accepted selling agencies.

Fisher Park lots, large, level and beautifully laid out, are being offered at introductory prices. When the present program of improvements is completed, prices will be advanced.

Unlike the average home site selling proposition. Fisher Park is promoted by R. E. Hoopes and W. H. Watson, owners, who purchased the Sanford E. Fisher farm of approximately 67 acres. Only 98 home-site locations are being offered in the first plat. The remainder will be developed and offered in two separate plats.

Hoopes and Watson will continue the development and improvement of the property as fast as it is absorbed by East Liverpool home builders. The improvement of plat one, now on sale, will be completed next spring. The liberal terms—10 per cent down payment and 1 per cent each month—enable any worker to purchase a home site or make a profitable investment and pay as he or she earns.

East Liverpool people with time to spare are invited to join the Fisher Park sales organization. The company's offices are located at the corner of Sixth and Washington streets.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our many friends and neighbors and Rev. Reinartz, for their kindness and sympathy and beautiful floral offering during our sad bereavement in the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Gertrude.

THE ONE FORM OF INVESTMENT WHICH COMBINES ALL THE ELEMENTS OF A GOOD INVESTMENT IN THE HIGHEST DEGREE

Real Estate

WHAT GREAT MEN HAVE SAID OF REAL ESTATE

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SAID:—

"Property is the fruit of labor ;property is desirable. It is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence a just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not he who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself, thus be example showing that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN SAID:—

"Real estate is the best investment for small savings. More money is made from the rise in real estate values than from all other causes combined. To speculate in stocks is risky and even dangerous, but when you buy Real Estate you are buying an inheritance."

ANDREW CARNEGIE SAID:—

"The wise young man or wage earner of today invests his money in real estate—suburban real estate."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT SAID:—

"Every person who invests in well selected real estate in a growing section of a prosperous community adopts the surest method of becoming independent, for real estate is the basis of wealth."

GROVER CLEVELAND SAID:—

"No investment on earth is so safe, so sure, so certain to enrich its owner as undeveloped realty. I always advise my friends to place their savings in realty near some growing city... There is no such savings bank anywhere."

PERMANENT WEALTH exists in but few forms. The most stable, the most useful, the most profitable form of permanent weath is real estate.

FISHER PARK IS IMPROVED RESTRICTED REAL ESTATE

That's what you are being offered in Fisher Park. Fisher Park is the acme of location. Less than two miles from the Diamond. On the Lincoln Highway, it is on a main artery of travel. Improvements are being rushed and are costing thousands of dollars. Every dollar's worth of improvements is increasing the value of the property for purchasers.

There will be still more improvements next Spring. There will be homes built next spring. If we did not absolutely KNOW these statements to be true we would not make them. Both the improvements and the new homes will still further increase the value of Fisher Park Realty.

FISHER PARK PRICES MUST GO UP.

Sixty-seven acres of beautiful restricted home sites are offered in Fisher Park. Plat No. One, containing approximately 100 choice, improved lots, is ready, is meeting with enthusiasm, is selling fast. When Plat No. 1 is closed out; when building operations make Plat No. 1 a hive of industry, a colony of happy people in a desirable neighborhood, then Plat Two and Plat Three will be offered. But Plat One will be making profit for investors and providing protected neighborhood for home-builders before Plat Two improvements start.

Plat One is being offered at Introductory Prices. These prices must be advanced when the improvements are completed. Hence purchasers now can make additional profits by taking advantage of the introductory prices.

Ask any purchaser how much profit he wants right now on HIS investment. The more sales, the more improvements, the more building, the bigger the profits. It is your opportunity to share in these profits if you act now.

EASY PAYMENT TERMS FOR THE EARNER

Any man or woman who can save $10 to $15 a month out of present earnings can buy in Fisher Park. Our Easy Payment Plan insures that. All East Liverpool's growth in suburban trend of home builders, insures constantly improving market when you are ready to sell.

Strong Men Face Fateful Days; One Ill, Two are Dead

"Ajax" Whitman, who once pushed a freight car weighing 27,000 pounds up a hill, is seriously ill at his home here from injuries sustained in lifting a comparatively small bag of bullion.

Eugene Sandow died in London this week as the result of an injury when he lifted his own automobile out of a ditch after an accident.

Sigmund Brietbart, German strong man who succeeded Sandow as the world's strongest man, died a few days ago in Germany, the result of poisoning from a small scratch on the finger.

PONY EXPRESS RIDER ARRIVES

Joseph W. Irwin Will Spend Week-end in City.

On a 610-mile trip, which began at Cleveland nearly two weeks ago, Joseph W. Irwin, of Cleveland, arrived here at noon today in pony express fashion.

The rider, who is a grandson of one of the original pony express riders, who carried messages through the west before the Civil war, was met at the postoffice by Chief of Police McDermott, Postmaster Edwin McClure and a large crowd. He was escorted to East Liverpool by a motorcycle officer and a delegation of Boy Scouts.

Irwin, who is 25 years old, carried the mail pouch used by the original riders, and also letters from mayors, postmasters and other citizens in towns in which he has visited. He is a member of the Black Horse troop, 107th Cavalry, Ohion national guard.

The pony express rider will spend the week-end here, where he and his horse will rest. He will leave early Monday morning for East Palestine, his next stop. From East Palestine he goes to Columbiana, Youngstown, Warren and back to Cleveland.

During the entire trip, Irwin is riding but one horse, "Hoppy," as he has been named. Thus far he has covered 290 miles, much of which has been done through snow and rainstorms.

He will compare time consumed in this trip with the time necessary to cover the same course by the more modern means of transportation — train, airplane and motor trucks.

He will rest for 10 to 12 days when he returns to Cleveland, after which he will make a trip from New York to San Francisco. During this journey he will use 55 mounts and stop only enough each day to get four or five hours sleep. From St. Joseph, Mo., from which point the original pony express riders started, to San Francisco, he will follow as nearly as possible the old trails used by the riders employed by the Wells-Fargo Express company about 65 years ago.

13 Injured, Heavy Property Damage in Storm in Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Oct. 17.—Thirteen persons injured and a heavy property damage toll were left here today in the wake of a wind of near-tornado proportions which played havoc in a swath five miles wide and fifteen miles long through Hart and Warren counties in south central Kentucky yesterday.

Houses and barns crumbled before the rsush of the wind, trees were uprooted and material damage was done, the reports stated.

Unconfirmed reports said damage had been heaviest in Camner a town of 300 population to which communication had not been restored today.

Dramatic Mezzo-Contralto With Chicago Company Will be Soloist in Civic Music Association Recital.

"The American people have only themselves to blame for the foreign dominance of American opera," says Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto with the Chicago Civic Opera company, who will appear here in a concert October 19 under the auspices of the Civic Music association.

"We shall never have real American opera until we change our deferential attitude toward everything imported. We claim to be patriotic, we wave the Star Spangled Banner, yet we regard with awe everything artistic that bears the foreign label," states Miss Van Gordon.

"Lillian Norton had to Italianize her name to 'Nordica' before she could gain recognition in America. Edward Johnson sang for years in Italy under the name of 'Eduardo de Giovanno' but was courageous enough to drop that name when he returned to his native America. Charles Marshall was known in Italy as 'Carlos Marzialli.'"

"America," asserts Miss Van Gordon, "is producing just as good voices as France or Italy and has just as good schools of music. American audiences are beginning to realize this, and are according our native opera singers the recognition that they deserve.

"Of course, we shall need French, Italian, German and Russian opera," Miss Van Gordon hastens to explain, "and we shall need foreign stars to sing them, but the day is passing when singers will be engaged in this country merely on the strength of European reputation."

Miss Van Gordon has not only made an enviable name for herself in the realm of opera, but she is recognized everywhere as a superb concert singer.

would struggle for control of earth's rubber supply, or that a quiet little man from Indiana, Harvey Firestone, would buy a million acres of African land in Liberia, to invest $100,000,000 in a rubber plantation.

That's what Firestone is doing, to make the United States and its manufacturers independent of the British rubber control.

His majesty, King George, allows it to be known that every day of his life he reads a chapter of the Bible. When he comes to the twenty-second chapter of St. Matthew he will find material for a whole week's thinking. All the way through he will realize, with pardonable self-complacency, how gentle modern kings are, compared with old kings, and how very temperate in their marriage enterprises.

Records of the eloquent voice of William Jennings Bryan will be preserved "for all time" at the national museum. How that voice will interest a civilized, educated race 50,000 years hence, if still audible! How the voice of an earnest Cro-Magnon would interest us today, if we could hear and understand it.

The government will take a census of "illiterates." Americans that can't read or write.

A long list, it will include extremely useful citizens. If you could get a list of human beings that can read and write, but can't think, of those that can read and write and think, but don't want to work, you would have a list of the easily spared.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—After forging ahead aggressively to new high price levels in the short session of the stock market today, industrial and motor stocks were called upon to absorb an enormous amount of profit taking, and values melted with surprising suddenness. All through the week's uproarious advance there has been considerable profit taking in all sections of the market, induced by the spread of the growing conservative attitude of Wall street interests.

Today there was a scramble to take profits near the close and the market wavered as values steadily declined.

The suit was sent to Cleveland by Attorney General John G. Sargent to be filed by United States Attorney A. E. Bernsteen, because most of the companies are located in this district.

The filing of this suit is in keeping with Sargent's recent statement that the anti-trust division of his department has been especially investigating and preparing cases which it is expected will bring about a clarification of the law as to whether patent owners have the right to make agreements which are in apparent violation of the Sherman act.

BIDS RECEIVED ON DWELLINGS

Plan to Move Five Houses for Street Right of Way.

Bids for the five frame dwellings bordering the south side of West Eighth street, west of Jethro, were opened by Service Director A. G. Ellis this afternoon.

The houses are a part of the private right of way purchased by the city for the proposed West Eighth street improvement. The houses, three of which are one-story structures and the other two two-story buildings, will be removed immediately as Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin, who hold the contract for the road job, plan to begin work within the next 10 days.

The contractors will build retaining walls and make fills on the south side of the road during the winter to enable the traction company to move its tracks off the main roadway.

Private property on the northside of the street is to be condemned and will not be taken over by the city before next spring. This property includes several dwellings which must be moved before the street can be widened.

Bible Study Fight

Interesting Legal Questions.

From the moment Perry's attorneys began their opening statements to the judge until the court ruled, interesting legal questions bobbed up. Stress was laid upon that phase of the Ohio code by counsel for the board of education that gave the board wide latitude in outlining a course of study, and of the right of school boards to open buildings under its charge to community meetings, etc.

Counsel for Perry argued that while the resolution passed by the East Liverpool board proposed the addition of religious instruction to the course of study, no reference was made to what kind of religious instruction would be authorized.

Attorney Farrell's Argument.

"I don't know what kind of religion they propose to teach, and they do not say what kind is proposed," Attorney George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, of counsel for Perry, said during his closing argument. "The character of the issue is the only legitimate question. There are few instances in this country, so far as our search discloses, where boards of education have gone so far. Therefore, we do not have many cases to refer to. You cannot erect a church through taxation, and while schools can be erected through taxation, they can only be used for the purpose for which they are intended and as the law provides.

"Why does not the other side come before the court fairly and squarely and say what they are going to do? When the Ministerial association goes before the board of education and asks for bread will it give them a stone? Why not be frank? The resolution says they are going to teach religious instruction. What religion? They don't say. They say they don't know. I don't."

"The supreme court of the United States has spoken on this issue," City Solicitor Harry Brokaw said during his closing argument. "The board of education has discreationary power. The plaintiffs in their arguments have fallen short of the mark. They have nothing justifiable to back this suit."

Brokaw referred to numerous citations of courts in Ohio and in other states to support his argument, and also declared that "the reading of the Bible in the public schools was religious instruction."

Judge Praises Counsel.

Judge Jones, in dictating his decision, announced that he "believed he was as well qualified as any other magistrate to decide the issue because "I am rather liberal in my views. I am a member of one of the denominations herein represented, and I may add that I have many times attended services in a Catholic church. I have sat within the walls of the synagogue, and to take another step I have set within the walls of the Mormon temple at Salt Lake during a service. I am prone to inject personality into an issue, and I may offer an apology for so doing in this case, but as I have stated I have a quite liberal knowledge of these situations."

The court took 30 minutes to hand down his opinion. He commended opposing counsel for the able manner in which they presented the issues in question, declaring that "arguments were able and thorough on both sides."

"I am unable to believe the matter is as serious as some seem to think it is," Judge Jones said. "The facts in the pleadings are agreed upon. Is this a question wherein there is a violation of the constitution and the bill of rights? The question is: Is it going to be religious instruction or religious propaganda? But, religious instruction does not mean propaganda.

Authority Not Overreached.

"What is religion? 'Do justice and walk humbly before God.' This should be inculcated in the minds of all. What is religion? The Sermon on the Mount? The framers of the constitution wisely decreed that religion is essential to good government. We cannot shut our eyes to some of the modern tendencies. Look at the crime wave. It's not what the different churches teach, but the Holy Scriptures.

"The presumption is that those who may be engaged as teachers will instruct in the fundamentals in the highest sense, by teaching the relation of God to man and of man to God, and not a church ritual. When those wholesome rules are violated then it would be time to envoke the aid of the courts. The law permits religious instructions in public. It is not the business of the courts to regulate the actions of the board of education a bit more than it is to regulate the actions of the board of county commissioners. When the authority of such bodies are everreached, then the aid of the courts can be sought to right any wrong that has been committed.

Premature Action, Court Believes.

"This action is prematurely brought, I believe. The law is not contradictory unless there is some overt act. The court will not allow a danger signal to be hoisted before something is done.

"The grading of pupils in religious instruction is near the danger line, and I recommend that part of the plan be eliminated. The plan looks like one leading to the upbuilding of good morals and citizenship. If some people are alarmed, I think they are unduly so.

"The court will therefore sustain the demurrer to the evidence, and the temporary order is dismissed at the costs of the relator."

Find Bloody Fingerprints On Auto In Which Two Die

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 17.—Four bloody fingerprints on the left side of an automobile in which pretty Madeline Latimer of Milwaukee and James Sears, Kenosha garage man, were shot to death on the Howland avenue road six miles north of here, were today discovered by Chief of Police Thad L. Logan and Detective Sergt. Emil F. Meissner. A hurried call for Milwaukee's finger print expert, John Bauschek, was sent in by police officials in the hope that the impressions may be that of the murderer, although many other hands have been permitted on the car since it was removed form the scene of the tragedy.

Only after having exhausted all the obvious leads did the searchers finally return to the most logical field for evidence. The reason for this was due to the fact that Sheriff Frank Willems had ordered the car brought to the county garage immediately after its discovery and it was felt by the police who were not officially called into the case until yesterday by Coroner Joseph Friend that the deputies that drove the car had destroyed all chances of securing the murderer's fingerprints from the steering wheel. The slayers drove the car 300 feet away from the actual scene of the murder.

A number of minor leads are also being run down by the combined forces of the Sheriff, police and coroner's offices. The most important of these was the discovery of several blood stains under the Pike Creek bridge on the Howland road where the bodies were discovered. Specimens of the blood were collected and sent to Milwaukee Laboratories for analysis.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17. — Bartholomew Ulcar, 8, was dead today, the result of being run down by an auto in a street last night. The driver, held for investigation, said he stepped from behind a street car directly into the path of his machine.

Put House in Order.

Germany's delegation returns home to set his house in order and make every effort to meet the conditions which the allies have laid down to be fulfilled before there can be a relaxation of the terms of the treaty of Versailles. The allies' interpretation of article XVI is said to meet the demands of the Germans and it is understood that once Germany has convinced the allies of her intent to carry out the Versailles treaty that Great Britain has agreed to evacuate Cologne and France has promised that the Rineland will be relaxed.

Dr. Luther and Herr Stresseman realize that they will face some difficulties when they bring their program before the Reichstag, but they are confident they can overcome these obstacles.

Present plans are for a special meeting of the league of nations in December to admit Germany to membership.

Sign Pacts on Dec. 1.

aled here will be formally signed in aled here will be formally sined in London on December 1.

Once the security pact is actually in operation it is understood that the signatory powers will then lend their support to a disarmament conference, probably under the auspices of the league of nations. This understanding has been reached among the allies as a concession to Germany. The German statesmen declared that Germany alone is disarmed and that she can not enjoy equal privileges under the league of nations covenant unless other nations are similarly disarmed. To offset this the allies have promised to lend their support to a disarmament conference. It is understood that reference to this promise is made in the general protocol signed yesterday.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Initialing of the western security pact, hailed as a cause of general rejoicing in other European countries and as a historic step toward peace and moral stability, aroused only lugubrious comment in Germany's Nationalist newspapers today.

The fact that the approval of the Locarno delegates was not binding until their respective parliaments had approved, and that the contents of the pact have not been made public, were pointed out in these pessimistic comments, which warned that the rejoicing might prove premature. The results must be considered with suspicion as yet, the press said.

With the exception of Vowaerts, the Social Democratic organ, the enthusiasm of even the Democratic newspapers was dampened by the fact that Germany had secured no concessions as to the status of the Rhineland.

"If Germany passes up her chance this time," said Lokal Anzeiger, "she should realize she is no longer needed for any political bargaining in Europe."

Tageblatt recalls the late President Wilson's 14 points, on which the paper claimed Germany was duped.

COUNTY WATER SUPPLY SAFE

The water supply in Hancock county has been declared free from pollution and safe for use by L. F. Warwick of the State Department of Health who has just completed an inspection and survey of the water works in this county.

During his inspection tour the state representative was accompanied by Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health officer. The towns of Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Pughtown, Holidays Cove and Weirton were visited. Several springs around Weirton and through the county at large were condemned but the water supplied by public water works all tested pure.

Dr. Ahouse has stated that at this time there is no sickness in the county traceable to polluted water, a condition which Mr. Warwick brands as very unusual and praiseworthy.

The county health head assisted by Miss Brown, county nurse, is now inspecting the school children and urging their parents to correct the defects in health they discover.

SURRENDER
The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Franklin Morris

CHAPTER 71.

She sat regarding herself in the mirror of her exquisitely carved dresser. Her own face faded out, and there was reflected in her eyes two spectral figures in a shadowy scene on the wide veranda of Ainsley house on a Sunday afternoon. One of the figures is herself, and the other is Philip Weinrich.

She is entertaining, or rather tolerating, a caller.

"Now, Phil," she says, "I don't know whether I am going to marry you. She regards the diamond gleaming on the third finger of her left hand.

"Why, Amoura," the spectral Philip exclaims. "What do you mean?"

"I've been thinking about it, Phil, and I just can't go on—."

"You mean," he flushes, "that our engagement is at an end? That everything is over?"

"Don't be dramatic, Phil. I'm not jilting you to marry some one else. I love you as much now as I ever have—if I have loved you." The wraith of Philip Weinrich winces at this. "But I've been digging deep into myself to find out, if I can, what I know and what I don't know. And I find I don't know anything. I've been brought up to be a LADY, and consequently I'm totally ignorant of all the big things that really matter. I don't know how to do anything, except, perhaps, bang a piano in the conventionally approved Miss Priscilla fashion. Listen, Phil, if our parents were to die tomorrow and leave us penniless, we would be as helpless as babes in the woods. Neither of us could earn enough to feed ourselves. We'd be worse off than the most miserable family down in that alley. And here we are preparing to marry, and raise a family—."

"But," is the protest, "they aren't going to leave us penniless, and besides, I—."

"No, Phil, there's no use arguing," she says. "You know I'm right; or you ought to know."

The other spectre regards her sullenly.

"We need not say anything about the engagement being broken. I'll wear your ring until I go away, then I'll return it. Then mother can diplomatically let it be known that everything is off."

"You're going away! Where?"

"I don't chose to tell you—or anyone," she says, rising. Seated, he gazes at her as one awe-stricken. "Amoura! What—."

She bends over and kisses him like a child caressing a dog. With that she leaves him alone on the veranda. . . .

With the whole scene vividly impressed upon her mind, Amoura sits there at the mirror as one in a trance. Then the spectres disappear and her own face is reflected. Calmly she regards herself. Has she changed since then? Has Philip? She couldn't imagine Philip being any other than the Philip she had parted from that day in Chicago, but in her mind there was little relation between the Amoura of then and now. (Human, very human.)

She dressed very carefully and went down to the sun parlor to await his coming. Her heart missed a beat or two when Della announced him.

"It's good to see you again," she said, extending both hands.

He gave one of his funny little bows—it was little more than a nod—as he took her hands lightly. "You are as beautiful as ever, Amoura," he remarked simply.

"I know you're lying, but say it again." She mimicked the expression of her casual friend in La Houblerre's dressing room.

"You are as beautiful as ever, Amoura," he repeated solemnly.

They both laughed.

"Philip, I'm dying to see the roads and the woods. I haven't dared to venture out alone, except once, because of the staring eyes."

"I was going to suggest it."

An hour later they sat on the stump of a tree in the shadow of another ten times as old as Westland, intent on the vast panorama spread out below.

They had been silent for many minutes when Philip spoke.

"I want to tell you," Amoura, that—." He hesitated.

MISSING WEIRTON MAN IS SOUGHT

Police of two states are looking for Anas Simon, 28, Syrian coffee house proprietor of Weirton, who disappeared one week ago and has not been seen since. A reward has been offered for information as to his whereabouts.

His wife says that she knows of no reason for his disappearance, unless foul play befell him. He had paid all of his debts the day before, and she had had no trouble with him.

PEAKS OF PACIFIC NOT REALLY DEAD

Might Again Burst Out as Volcanoes.

Tacoma, Wash.—Ice-crowned volcanic cones along the Pacific coast generally are presumed to be dead. Scientists, however, agree they are not merely burned-out shells, but that it is entirely possible they may erupt at any time.

Mount Rainier and Mount Baker in Washington, Mount Hood in Oregon and Mount Shasta and Lassen peak in California are individuals in a great series of volcanoes that extends in a circle for 10,000 miles or more around the North Pacific ocean in both North America and Asia.

There was a time, in the opinion of the scientists, when these peaks were in violent eruption at the same time, so that a chain of fire bounds the Pacific coast, for the five peaks are so close together that any one in eruption could be observed from its nearest neighbors.

Lassen Alone Now Is Active.

Since 1914 Lassen has been in frequent eruption, and it is regarded as scientifically established that not one of the volcanoes can be called dead. All except Lassen have been quiet for several thousand years, in the opinion of expert reckoning.

During the last century there have been several minor eruptions from Mount Rainier, the mightiest of the five volcanoes. It has been hundreds of years since the great peak blew off a half mile of its top and scattered volcanic ash to a depth of hundreds of feet over what now is Washington.

Almost every year faint earthquakes are recorded on Rainier, and steam still issues from the crater, which is half a mile across. This steam is so intense that great caverns have been melted in the snow that fills the crater.

These caves, sheltered from the winds and warmed by the escaping steam, have often proved of advantage to persons scaling the peak.

Owed Lives to Warm Caverns.

Stephens and Van Trump, the first white men to conquer Mount Rainier, more than half a century ago, undoubtedly owed their lives to these steam caves. It would have been impossible for them to have retraced their steps in the darkness, and they could not have lived through a night on the summit without blankets or other protection if it had not been for the timely discovery of the warm caverns.

The steam on top of Mount Rainier is so hot that it will transform a pan of snow to boiling water in ten minutes. Eggs can be cooked if placed in the hot pumice of the crater.

Many Indians on Farms In State of New York

Albany, N. Y.—More than 23,000 acres of land are under cultivation by Indians in New York state, a recent census shows. Some Indians run farms as large as from 300 to 400 acres, and only basketry can compare with farming on the reservations.

St. Regis reservation heads the list with 8,738 acres under cultivation, Allegany follows with 5,209 acres, and Tuscarora comes third with 3,373 acres. About 300 of the Indians do not speak English, and northern New York state has many who speak only French. Old Indian names are fast disappearing, and many of those on the reservations do not know their own ages.

WOMEN GRANTED DIVORCE DECREES

On the grounds of extreme cruelty, a divorce has been granted Adda M. Wilkes against her husband, Henry C. Wilkes. The custody of the children has been awarded the plaintiff by the court.

Extreme cruelty was also the grounds upon which the divorce action of Blanche G. Snyder based her action for divorce against her husband, George C. Snyder. There was no contest in this case when it went to trial.

Hearing Continued.

The hearing on the citation in the divorce action of Marie Prince of Salem against her husband, Paul Prince, which was to have come up in common pleas court Friday, has been continued until Nov. 2.

Two Divorce Actions.

James Lester Prosser, who was married at New Cumberland, W. Va., Sept. 26, 1918, has filed an action for divorce in common pleas court against his wife, Annie M. Prosser. The petition declares that Mrs. Prosser has been guilty of extreme cruelty.

John McMillen, whose last known address was New Cumberland, W. Va., has been sued for divorce by his wife Hazel McMillen, whom she married at Lisbon, March 4, 1920. Wilful absence is charged in the petition.

Case Settled.

After pending in common pleas court for over a year, the case of W. F. Smith as receiver against James McConnell and others has been finally settled.

Denied New Trial.

A motion for a new trial has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore in the case of Bell Bruder against Simon Burson, in which action a jury recently returned a verdict for $400. The plaintiff sued to recover $2,000 as a result of an automobile accident. Exceptions to the ruling of the court has been taken by the plaintiff, and a judgment for $400 and plaintiff's costs has been handed down by the court.

Petition Filed.

William H. Pancake, as trustee under the will of Joel Johnson, deceased, has filed his petition in common pleas court against Levi George of Negley and others, asking the court to place a construction upon the will of the decedent.

Case Appealed.

After Abe Griffith was awarded a judgment by default for $40 for work and labor in the court of Justice of the Peace P. V. Mackall in East Liverpool against Verne Carson, the defendant then took an appeal to common pleas court, the transcript having just been filed.

Motion Overruled.

In the $25,000 damage action filed in common pleas court by Elizabeth Clark against Robert Auld, a motion to amend the petition has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore, to which the defendant has taken exceptions. Leave has been granted the defendant to plead by October 31.

Seeks Alimony.

Claiming that she is 60 years of age, and that her husband left her March 15 last without cause and abandoned her, Elizabeth Meek has filed a petition for alimony in common pleas court against her husband, William Meek. The couple were married at Wilkinsburg, Pa., January 29, 1906.

MIKE CEBULA, CHESTER HURLER, LEADS RIVALS IN INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

Frank Riley's Ace, Big Factor in Chester's "Baby World's Series" Conquests, Wins 15 Games and Loses Three During Season; Strikes Out 108 Batters in the 113 Innings in Which he Works; Thomas and Pollock Among Leaders.

Mike Cebula, Pilot Frank Riley's "ace,' easily qualifies as the leading pitcher of the City Industrial League with a percentage of .833 for 15 victories and three defeats during the 1925 season, according to figures by T. T. Jones, league statistican. He did not lose a single game in the initial half of the year. His trio of losses occurred in the second section, when, following a slight indisposition, he started out lacking his old form.

He lost one to Laughlin, one to K. T. K., and one to Babcock and Wilcox.

His victories in the second half were: Two from K. T. K., one each from Trotter and Wellsville.

In the first half he won 11 games. He then defeated Trotters four times; K. T. K., thrice; Laughlin twice; and B. & W. and Wellsville once each.

Cebula pitched the most innings during the season—113; struck out the greatest number of batsmen—108; and also walked the most—42.

Cebula and Thomas, of Laughlin, were in 19 games each as pitchers while R. Pollock started in 20 or part of full contests with Howell and P. Bennett of B. & W., and Sainor, of K. T. K., in 16 each.

Next to Cebula with 113 innings, was Thomas, of Laughlin, who hurled 103 innings. Then followed R. Pollock, of Trotter, with 98 1-3 and Sainor of K. T. & K., and Stoffel, of K. T. K., who haved 81 1-3 and 78 innings, respectivaly.

Sainor, of K. T. K., allowed the most runs—61. P. Bennett, of B. & W., permitted 59 and M. Cebula of Chester, 57, with Powell, of the same club right behind with 56.

Sainor, of K. T. K., permitted the greatest number of hits, 94, with M. Cebula second, 81 being made off him, and 79 off P. Bennett, of B. & W., with Stoffel, of K. T. K., and Thomas, of Laughlin, following closely with 75 each.

In strikeouts, M. Cebula took honors with 108 with Thomas, of Laughlin, second with 82 and R. Pollock, of Trotter, third with 61. Sainor of K. T. K., fanned 53 and Stoffel of K. T. K., and Powell, of Chester, 50 each.

"Mike" walked 42 men, the top number. Thomas of Laughlin, passed 34, third to Howell, of B. & W., who sent 37 to first base in this manner.

M. Cebula hit seven batters during the season, and Bucher, of K. T. K., who was in less than half of the number of games in which the former worked, landed just as many times on the opposition's anatomy. Sainor, of K. T. K., and McGeehan, of B. & W., hit five each.

In all, 51 differeent players essayed to do hilltop duty at various times during the season. They were divided among the seven teams as follows: Wellsvile 11; Chester 10; B. & W., 9; Laughlin and K. T. K., 8 each and Trotter, 5. Manager Fowler used only R. Pollock, Deshler, Barr, Heckathorne and Sawyer during the scheduled engagements.

Complete statistics on all pitchers will be announced later.

RAIN DROPS PLAY PRELUDE TO MIDDLE WEST'S PREMIER---COLUMBIA VS. STATE

ILLINOIS-IOWA ATTRACT FANS

Zuppke-Ingwerson Tilt Bound to Produce Thrills.

By George A. Strickler.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Saturday for the first time in twelve months, football, king in the college court, will parade the walks of popularity unchllenged by baseball and its mighty following.

Leading the great athletic promenade in the middles west will be the Illinois-Iowa game at Iowa City, a contest of father against son, Zuppke of Illinois portraying the paternal role with Ingwerson, the beligerent offspring.

Aside from it's import as a conference title race tilt, the game will attract attention as the meeting of Grange, all-American iceman, and Kutsch, sophomore upstart of Iowa, Grange has yet to exhibit in his customary phenomenal manner this fall, and in this game will undoubtedly be pressed for honors by the fleet Hawkeye half-back, who is making his maiden appearance in a conference game.

Other games of little less importance are the Chicago-Northwestern joust and the family argument at Madison, where Yost and Little clash figuaratively while Michigan and Wisconsin take to task the matter of big ten rating.

Michigan is an undisputed favorite in the latter affair, but a winner in the Chicago game at present is purely a matter of opinion.

At Indiana Ingram will test a new offense against Syracuse. Purdue will forego conference competition for another week, tackling a hoosier entry from Rose Poly, and Minnesota takes on Wabash at Mineapolis. Butler and Franklin play at Indianapolis and at Davenport St. Ambrose is host to Loyola.

Fans Disappointed Because Wet Field Will Slow up Running Attacks and Passes of Both Teams.

By JACK CEJNAR.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 17.—The drip, drip, drip of a steady rain played the prelude today to the middle west's football premier—the intersectional clash between Columbia and Ohio State universities.

The weeping skies brought disappointment to thousands of Buckeye fans for a wet field meant the slowing up of the running attacks and overhead offenses of both teams, upon which the fans had expected to feast their eyes.

Today was the day and 2:30 p. m. the time, when Elmer Marek, a highly touted, corn-fed youth from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was to make his debut in the Ohio State stadium as a successor to Chic Harley.

For years Ohio State supporters have scanned their football horizon for a man to fill the immortal Harley's shoes. Coach John W. Wilce has assured them that the young Hawkeye athlete would step into them and not rattle around inside. Some of his more optimistic assistants have even indicated Harley's shoes might pinch the 1925 find. Accordingly the fans, some 40,000 of them, as advance ticket sales indicated, planned to be present this afternoon and see this meteoric son of Mrs. Marek in action.

As to the outcome of the game, campus opinion seemed evenly divided today. While both Coach Charles Crowley and Coach Wilce smeared the bear dope on heavily, the fans, in face of the bad weather and the heavy field called it a toss-up.

Coach Crowley claimed his crew was outweighed, and that the rain therefore operated in favor of Ohio State. He also pointed out that his team had not yet gone through the acid test of a big game, as the Buckeye gridders did when they met and tied Stagg's veteran eleven in Chicago last week.

On the other hand Coach Wilce was lamenting that he was forced to send a squad of cripples against the flashy visitors who ran up 170 points on their first three opponents this season and kept their own goals uncrossed.

The probable lineup:

Columbia.		Ohio State.
Furey	L. E.	Cunningham
Weiberg	L. T.	Urifil
Shaw	L. G.	Hess
Schimmettitsch	C	Klein
Rappael	R. G.	Myers

Wagner	R. E.	Rowan
Capt. Pease	Q. B.	Grim
Kirchmeyer	F. B.	Karow
Madden	H. B.	Marek
Sessit	H. B.	Clark

Officials—H. P. Swain, Dickinson, umpire; H. C. McCreath, Boston, referee; Don Hamilton, Notre Dame, field judge; H. J. Thompson, Georgetown, head linesman.

Time of periods—15 minutes.

YALE FAVORITE OVER PENN 11

Eli Backfield, However, Slowed up by Injuries.

By Larry Smits.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 17. — Yale ruled a five to three favorite in the renewal of football relations with Pennsylvania today after a lapse of 32 years, but the fans who flocked from Pennsylvania points were willing to lay four to three that Penn would score on the much-revised Blue team.

The prospects at an early hour were that Phil Bunnell, Bulldog quarterback, would remain alone of the regulars in the backfield, at least for any considerable part of the game. Dan Allen was still suffering from a sore hand from the Georgia game and the mashed nose Ben Cutler received probably would necessitate his demoval. Billy Kline, plunging half, ruined a knee in Thursday's practice and was an unlikely bet today.

Penn had less ill luck with injuries, although Captain Willson's painful boil, which threatened his incapacity, was not expected to improve his play. The Red and Blue team counted on the low-running, and hard-hitting Krueze to make heavy gains through the Yale line.

INTERSECTIONAL TILT CALLS FOR SPOTLIGHT ON TODAY'S SCHEDULE

"Four Footmen" take Horsemen's Places on Midwest Outfit, and They Use Their Feet Extremely Well, Says Walsh; New Forward Line is Believed to Have Decided Edge on 1924 Seven; Both Coaches Predict Defeat.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The moot question of whether the genius that is Knute Rockne can make a vest out of a button hole will come down to a definite decision before a record crowd at the Yankees' stadium this afternoon when a virgin Notre Dame eleven will resume its annual series with the Army. It will be a strange list of names that Rockne will hand to the officials at the start of the game.

The famed four horsemen will ride no more. A 1924 guard will appear at fullback. A substitute end of last year will captain the outfit. The remainder of the 1924 championship team has passed on.

In place of the four horsemen—Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden—he has stepped forward with the four footmen — Edwards, O'Boyle, Hearnden and Hanousek—and the way they have used their pedic extremities in the open field to date has more than justified the title.

They may lack the precision and absolute perfection that characterized last year's backfield but the debit is said to have been overcome by the fact that the 1925 Notre Dame line is believed to have an edge on its immediate predecessor, which was good enough.

It will be viewed by a great crowd, the greatest that has attended a sport event in New York, barring boxing. The stadium was an absolute sell-out last night and the crowd will not be less than 70,000, rain or shine.

Both of the coaches, Rockne and McEwan, have tried to beat each other to the punch. They lost no time in conceding a defeat for their respective teams some days ago. No doubt about it, one of these gentlemen is absolutely right, barring a tie.

The probable lineup:

Notre Dame		Army.
Crowe (Capt)	L.E.	Baxter (Capt)
Boland	L.T.	Sprague
Morelli	L.G.	Schmidt
Maxwell	Center	Daly
Mayer	R.G.	Hamilton
McMannon	R.T.	Saunders
Wallace	R.E.	Born
Edwards	Q.B.	Yeomans
O'Boyle	L.H.	Buell
Hearnden	R.H.	Trapnell
Hanousek	F.B.	Wilson

By T. E. Steward.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—Like the corn crop in mid July, the Minnesota football squad has come to a nice stand, but it remains to be seen how it will head out. Minnesota's new coach, Dr. Clarence W. Spears, who did such fine things for West Virginia, has only a smattering of veterans among his material, but they give the impression of knowing plenty of football.

CAPT. ASCHER

Spears' lads licked North Dakota 25 to 6 the first week out and the following Saturday trounced Grinnell 34 to 6. The first big test, however, comes when the team faces Notre Dame here Oct. 24.

Center One of Big Stars.

Con Cooper, the Minnesota center from wildest South Dakota, seems to be about the only man with a position really cinched. With him as veterans from last year's team are Captain Ascher, a punter and passer who can also rip off some nice gains from his position at right half; Malcolm Graham, a really fast man who has had two years of backfield experience; Bob Peplaw, also a 10-second man but who has been hampered by knee injuries in past seasons, and Pete Guzy, a wonderful passer who unfortunately falls considerably below conference standards in weight. These represent the veteran backfield material.

Four veteran ends are showing the stuff. Fred Just, Chuck Morris, Roger Wheeler and George Tuttle. A new lad by the name of O'Brien has been performing splendidly at end in practice and seems sure to have a look-in during the season.

Two former high school stars in Minneapolis, Malvin Nydahl and Shorty Almquist, are giving some of the quarter and halfback candidates a nice bit of competition, while among other backfield aspirants, Herbert Joesting, Dutch Arendsee and Bill O'Shields, a negro player, look pretty good.

Developing New Guards.

A wholly new set of guards and tackles is being worked up by the doctor and his helpers. Minnesota's stalwart line of three years' experience vanished when the fires of class day died away on the campus last June. The big problem of the coaches lies between the ends, outside of center. Meili, Drill, Kaminski, Allison, Gary and Messmer are among the linesmen who are looking good.

BULLDOGS TAKE ON AKRON TIGERS

CANTON, Oct. 17.—Canton Bulldogs will attempt to get back in the running for the national professional football title here Sunday afternoon when they meet the Akron Tigers who are tied with Rock Island and Detroit for the leadership in the National league.

The Bulldogs had their title aspirations temporarily halted last week when they were beaten by Philadelphia Yellow Jackets and Pottsville, but a victory tomorrow will give them a good opportunity to again figure in the championship rating.

So far Akron has scored victories over Cleveland and Kansas City and tied Buffalo. The Bulldogs have won from Dayton and Rochester and lost two two games. Indications point to a close battle.

In an effort to strengthen the team the Bulldogs have signed three new players this week. McRoberts and Kyle, graduates of Westminster college, joined the squad. They were members of the Toronto team until this week. The other addition was Paul Hogan, former Washington & Jefefrson and Detroit U. star.

It is likely that Hogan will be at quarter today as Robb is suffering from three cracked ribs received in the Pottsville game. Pete Henry, all-time all-American tackle is not likely to see action due to a deep cut over his left eye received against Philadelphia.

Ruel Redinger, former Colgate star, who was unable to play last weeyk because of strained muscle in his back, will be back in the lineup tomorrow and will probably play one half.

OBERLIN FACES SECOND TEST

Clash on Home Lot With Thorpe's Mount Squad.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17.—Oberlin, conqueror of Wooster last Saturday, today meets its second conference test when Coach Thorpe's Mount Union eleven plays at Oberlin. Case goes to Akron for a game with Akron U. and Ohio Northern journeys to Delaware, where it meets Ohio Wesleyan, which defeated it last year by a score of 3 to 2. Other Ohio conference games include: Wooster vs. Western Reserve at Cleveland; Heidelberg vs. Baldwin Wallace at Berea; Wittenberg vs. St. Xavier at Cincinnati, and Muskingum vs. Kenyon at Gabrier.

Non-conference games to be played on Ohio gridirons today are: John Carroll vs. Dayton at Dayton; Ohio University vs. Toledo at Toledo; Urbana vs. Wilmington at Wilmington; Findlay vs. Bluffton at Bluffton; Ashland vs. Denison at Granville, and Thansylvania vs. Miami at Oxford.

SAILORS-TIGERS AT BALTIMORE

By George Barry.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 17.—This town went on a gala holiday today for the annual Navy-Princeton football game.

Deprived of the Army-Navy classic, Baltimore and Washington fans flocked to the stadium for the biggest feast of this year's local football menu.

It promised to be a treat well worth the journeying.

Smarting under last season's defeat, Navy, with a new coach, Jack Owsley, formerly of Yale, and a better balanced team generally, ruled a slight favorite with the crowd. The sailors already have won handily two games this year.

Princeton, despite victories over Amherst and Washington and Lee, has not been as impressive. The Tigers, however, have been thoroughly revamped during the last week by Coach Bill Roper and were ready to throw in the strongest lineup of the season.

It remained, however, one of those games in which anything might happen—as it generally does when the Tiger fights the Goat.

TIGERS ARE SET FOR MILWAUKEE

The Toronto Tigers are in excellent condition for their game tomorrow afternoon at Kilgus field with the Milwaukee Pros. of the National Professional football league, according to Manager Tom Gilligan.

Manager Gilligan today denied reports that Hogan, Nesser and other Tiger stars had joined the Canton Bulldogs. He declared that he would have his entire squad on the field against the Milwaukee invaders, including Sol Butler, the colored flash, and others who aided in Toronto's victory over Hammond two weeks ago.

Sunday's contest is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

Freed From All Baseball Rivalry, Football Becomes The Whole Show

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Football occupied all three rings and the center platform today, freed at least from the rivalry of any late-lingering counter attraction. Just to prove its right to attention, the national gridiron offered a number of games guaranteed to be fatal to plenty of campuc bric-a-brac before the dawn of another day.

The excellence of the program extended from the sun-kissed western slopes to the coast made famous by rum and from New England to Dixie, giving the day a right to more consideration than any other football date before November.

Four noteworthy contests were scheduled for eastern fields, the most interesting of these, an intersectional dispute of long standing between the Army and Notre Dame. Both were present with strong teams, in the opinion of any neutral observer. But both coaches disclaimed any hopes of winning. In fact, Knute Rockne, the wizard of South Bend, said a defeat would do his boys good. This led to the suggestion that Rockne and Captain McEwan of West Point trade teams and pray for victory.

Yale and Pennsylvania renewed a gridiron acquaintance permitted to lapse for 32 years. The Blue and Red hoped to extend the Bulldog, despite Yale's record of two season's unbroken victory. Penn itself was without defeat and favorably mentioned for sectional honors last year.

Princeton and Navy each encountered their first serious opposition in the Annapolis schedule, the number of youngsters in the tiger line leading to the belief that a fast and heavy group of middies might do more than make it interesting for the Orange and Black.

Harvard was due for its first hard workout against Holy Cross. The Crimson has shown signs of living down several sour memories of last year, but Holy Cross owned up to the loss of several important men from the 1924 lineup.

Other eastern games were: Cornell vs. Rutgers, Pittsburgh vs. Gettysburg, Brown vs. Bates, Washington and Jefferson vs. Carnegie, Boston College vs. Boston University, Delaware vs. Swarthmore and Dartmouth vs. Maine.

WOOSTER MEETS RESERVE CREW

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17. — While Wooster's defeat by Oberlin last week robbed fans of the hope of seeing a prospective champion in action, a capacity crowd was expected this afternoon to witness the game between Western Reserve and Wooster at Van Horn field. All indications pointed to a victory for Wooster, as Reserve in its game thus far has failed to show the punch that it displayed last year.

The lineup:

Reserve		Wooster
Crowl (C)	L.F.	Pfeffer
West	L.T.	Saurer
Carpenter	L.G.	Layport (C)
Morton	C.	Critchfield
Summerfield	R.G.	Wyckoff

VELVET IN HAT FINDS FAVOR IN FALL STYLE

Paris Adopts it in Every Type of Apparel, Too.

GOWNS SIMPLER

Coloring and Cut Make for Beauty This Season.

PARIS—Velvet in hats as well as in gowns finds increasing use in the new fall fashions.

It was only to be expected since every type of wearable and desirable gown is coming out in some kind of velvet this year. The shapes vary all the way from the large cavalier affairs to the smart small Directoire types with the new square crowns which are not too square, and therein lies their becoming vogue.

A season or so ago, the women as well as the modistes learned that not one woman in ten could wear a square high crown. The little cloche shape which has swept the world for the last few years is still the most popular, a little modified but still recognizable. Elaine is using it in a pleasing lavender shade of crinkled velvet with consecutive motifs about the brim like little petals. In another model she uses green velvet for a brim, the form itself being in brocade of silver and bottle-green.

Velour Hats, Too.

Hats of quilted velvet are a novelty and are made up without a scrap of trimming for street wear and traveling. They accompany coats banded with the same. Alexis, who, by the way, is a young American who is making some of the most attractive hats in the capital, uses quilted velvet in a lovely shade of blue edged with silver.

Gowns Are Simple.

Lon-banished brims are with us again on many of the new fall shapes. And whenever there is a noticeable one it is in front with the back turned up or folded over. Many of them are bordered with wide grossgrain ribbon of the same shade as the hat and have really no trimming at all. A charming capeline shape from the house of Blanche Hamard comes in old ribbon set off by a pleated cockade. Stylish and serviceable at the same times is a turned-up model destined to go for long morning walks in the crisp autumn air. Rouille velvet is the material and the trimming is a cabochon and tiny plumes.

Afternoon gowns are growing simpler and simpler, and according to the designers it is the coloring and cut that makes for beauty this season.

Simplicity in the modern sense si not what it seems, for the simpler one's clothes are the harder it is to have them really beautiful. No trimmings are there to cover up the defects, it is only the bare facts that count.

Crepe georgette is to be forever recommended for afternoon gowns and it is to be seen just now in all the new light shades. Chiffon is also noticed in delicate tones and in very flattering and becoming colors like lemon, prairie green, wildrose and cherry, really delightful ones to see at teatime on the dancing floor. For informal dinner parties these fluffy dresses are more popular than the more serious beaded ones. Black tulle edged with black lace is also much sought, generally accompanied by wreaths of flowers around the necklines.

Velvet, which is being used for all manner of clothes this season, is also going into afternoon gowns for more formal wear. Lenlet is showing one violet velvet with a yolk appliqued in pearls. The velvet applique also appears at the top of the graceful waistline which slopes down to the sides and at the wrist of the sleeves. The applique is done over a soft dull-surfaced grey which gives a charming effect. Still another comes in lilac that circle the skirt, the godets being velvet trimmed only with the godets made of bands and ruffles of lilac velvet, silver tissue and mauve georgette.

Ensembles or two-piece effects retain their vogue for afternoon wear, nearly always with long sleeves. Mirroleene, loreline, Patou crepes, faille crepe and crepe satin are featured in a dozen new colorings.

Blackpool, Scotland's seaside resort city, has 1,000,000 visitors a month.

Granddaughter.
Boiling, Surging Wall Street.
1,000,000 Rubber Acres.
King George's Chapter.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

Elinor Patterson, of Chicago, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patterson, and great-granddaughter of old Joseph Medill, decided not to sit around, as rich American girls usually do, waiting for some young man to marry her, and thus bestow a career upon her.

She chose to do something in the meanwhile, and has achieved success, playing the part of the nun in "The Miracle."

Three things, yes, four, women can do better than men—singing, acting, dancing and patiently studying the stars. There is plenty of room for "a career," to say nothing of producing the entire human race in pain and sorrow, a job that would drive many men to suicide, after one experience.

The father and mother of the ambitious, intelligent girl are congratulated upon their good judgment, allowing their daughter to develop her talent, in spite of the fact that she doesn't need the money."

Happy, busy day yesterday, in little old Wall street. "Boiling and surging" describes the market. Two and a half million shares were bought and sold. Even the little curb market sold more than half a million shares. All records since 1916 broken. A seat on the big exchange has sold for $126,000. More kinds of stocks were sold than ever before, and for two hours after the market opened, stocks sold at the rate of 10,000 shares a minute, what you might call "a market." Even expensive gambling money, 5½ per cent for call loans, couldn't discourage it.

But keep away from gambling. Ask the seedy ghosts that fill the air in New street after the brokers go home.

Little and big concerns come forward with smiling faces to announce "increases." For the first nine months this year Western Union took in $10,000,000 more than last year. Otis Elevator made $500,000 more than a year ago. And the powerfully managed telephone company took in many millions "extra." Telephone receipts are a gauge of national development.

Little things grow into big things. Not long ago, on the other side of the ocean, a man was giving his friends little red lumps of curious substance, saying: "Use this to rub out pencil marks." It was caoutchouc, milky juice from a tropical tree, hardening when exposed to the air. Because it rubbed out pencil marks it was called "a rubber." And to this day the caoutchouc shoes we make for our feet we call rubbers, although we don't use them to rub out pencil marks.

Little did the man who gave away pieces of rubber imagine that nations

SCHOOL BOARD FIGHT CARRIED TO HIGH COURT BY R. H. PERRY

Appeal Will Forestall Introduction of Religious Instruction.

RULING IS MADE

Judge Jones Warns Against Grading Pupils.

The East Liverpool district board of education yesterday won the second round of the fight over the proposed introduction of a course of religious education in the schools, when Judge Walter Jones, of Troy, presiding in the case at Lisbon, dismissed the temporary injunction granted R. H. Perry, steel plant executive.

Notice of Appeal Given

The court's ruling refused Perry's application for a permanent injunction to restrain the school board from permitting the Ministerial association to use the school rooms during school hours for the proposed Bible study.

Attorneys George E. Davidson, of East Liverpool, and George T. Farrell of Lisbon, representing Perry, took exceptions, filed notice of appeal and furnished $200 bond, preliminary to carrying the case to the appellate court. Whether the appeal will be argued in Lisbon during the week of Nov. 9, the date for the next session of the court, has not been determined.

The notice of appeal forestalls plans to proceed with the establishment of the proposed course until the higher court rules.

Opposes Grading of Pupils

The court held that the school board was acting within the scope of authority given it by the law, but added, "The grading of pupils in religious instruction is near the danger line, and I recommend that part of the plan be eliminated. The plan looks like one leading to the upbuilding of good morals and citizenship. If some people are alarmed, I think they are unduly so."

The temporary injunction against the board of education was granted Perry last August by Judge J. G. Moore, of Lisbon, after the school board had voted, 4 to 1, to comply with the request of the Ministerial association. Attorney J. H. Brookes, who opposed the plan, later resigned as president and member of the school board.

Arguments were heard yesterday on Perry's application for a permanent injunction. Rev. Frank G. Fowler, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church; Emmett Gaston, clerk-treasurer, and D. F. White, president, of the board of education, were among the witnesses called.

Solicitor Harry Brokaw, assisted by Attorney Thomas Summer, of

Police of Three States Join in Chase as Suspected Master Bandit Flees With $7,000.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 17—Police in cities in three states today had drawn a network about Huntington that they believe cannot be pierced by George "Dutch" Anderson, pal of Gerald Chapman, and far sought alleged double slayer, who is suspected of being the leader of a daring bandit gang that late yesterday swooped down on the Guyandotte bank here and escaped with $7,000 in currency.

The bandits informed H. A. McNeer, cashier, they were after an $80,000 payroll of the International Nickel plant which they said they understood was to be in the bank. They threatened to kill McNeer when he explained the payroll had not arrived. Brief descriptions of the leader of the robber gang, who entered flashing pistol in each hand and calmly herded the bank employes and a score of customers into a vault, tallied closely with descriptions of Anderson, police said.

The bandits fled in an automobile, which was traced as far as Hurricane, W. Va., half way between here and Charleston, W. Va. Authorities along all highways are on the lookout for men and the car. It is believed the suspects are headed east through the most picteresque mountain section of the state. Especial watch is being maintained along the new state highway to Sulphur Springs.

This was the first bank robbery in Huntington since Jesse James and his band raided the Huntington National bank in the center of the town district back in the '80's.

INDIANIANS PAY HOMAGE AS BODY OF SENATOR RALSTON GOES TO GRAVE

LEBANON, Ind., Oct. 17.—There were tears in the skies of Indiana today as a motor funeral cortege swung northward along the highways under leaden clouds, bringing home to Lebanon the body of Senator Samuel M. Ralston.

Strung out for miles behind it, waiting at every cross roads for the procession to pass that still more might join in the one last pilgrimage to do him homage, were motor cars of every make, carrying men and women from every walk of life—all bound to one focal point and all inspired to indifference to weather and discomfort by love of the man whose whole creed was written in the word of the poet:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

Men were there from the highest political councils of the nation who remembered that Samuel M. Ralston might have been the standard bearer of the Democrat party had he not realized that failing health might not allow him to make the presidential race or live through the devitalizing four years of national leadership that sapped the vitality of Wilson and of Harding, and sent them to their deaths ahead of their normal time.

Men there were from the little township surrounding Lebanon, who knew him in the role he chose to live—that of husband, father, neighbor

DISARMAMENT PARLEY LOOMS AS SECURITY PACTS GET O. K.

Great Britain Will Welcome Invitation From U. S.

LOCARNO HAPPY

Tiny Swiss Town Wins Place in History.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

President Coolidge is ready to issue the invitations, just as soon as he is assured that the nations of Europe and Asia are willing to come in.

The signing of the Locarno security pact, under which France and Germany and their neighbors agree to abolish warfare among themselves, has, in his opinion, removed the last great obstacle to the success of such a gathering.

Aims of Conference.

The chief aims to be sought in this second Washington conference are expected to be:

1.—Reduction of the world's standing armies.

2.—Limitation of aircraft armament.

3.—Limitation of submarines, both as to size and number that each nation may possess.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Great Britain would welcome an invitation from the United States to a disarmament conference, now that the European security pacts have been concluded at Locarno, it was stated in official circles today.

Whitehall officials said that they realized that it was a little early to discuss disarmament conferences until the Locarno pacts have actually been signed and their effectiveness has been noted, but they pointed out that while European nations may be inclined to delay action themselves they could not well afford to ignore any invitation coming from the United States.

Peace Receives Impetus.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 17.—After a night of celebration over the completion of the European security pact, this tiny Swiss town settled down today prepared to take its place in history as the spot where European peace received its greatest impetus.

As the various delegates to the security past conference prepared to leave for their homes, there was a greater evidence of international good feeling than has been seen since the

Uncle Sam Alleges Defendant Manufacturers of Porcelain Insulators Have Conspired for Several Years to Eliminate Competition Among Themselves and to Establish Uniform Prices for Their Products.

Three East Liverpool district porcelain manufacturers are among the 16 defendants named in the government suit charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, which was filed in the United States district court at Cleveland yesterday against the Porcelain Appliance Corporation, of Washington, its organizers, managers and members.

Member companies, alleged to form the Porcelain Appliance corporation, are charged with having pooled their patent rights under its control and with manufacturing and selling under licenses from it, thus fixing all prices.

District manufacturers listed in the suit are the Davidson Porcelain company, operating its plant in Chester; R. Thomas and Sons company, and H. R. Holmes. Two other defendants, the Brunt Tile & Porcelain company, Columbus, and G. O. Anderson, Parkersburg, W. Va., are formerly of East Liverpool.

Others Named In Action

Other members companies and individuals charged in the suit with conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade are:

Cook Pottery Co., Trenton, N. J.
Colonial Insulator Co., Akron, O.
Federal Porcelain Co., Carey, O.
Findlay Electrical Porcelain Co., Parkersburg, W. Va.
Illinois Electrical Porcelain Co., Macomb, Ill.
Mogadore Insulator Co., Mogadore, O.
National Electrical Porcelain Co., Carey, O.
J. H. Parker & Son, Inc., Parkersburg, W. Va.
Wheeling Tile Co., Wheeling, W. Va.
Circle "F" Manufacturing Co., Trenton, N. J.
Ravenswood Porcelain Co., Ravenswood, W. Va.
E. Hume Talbert, Washington.
Knox Porcelain Co., Knoxville, Tenn.
J. H. Parker, Parkersburg, W. Va.
R. C. Spencer, Carey, O.
J. E. Bicknell, Findlay, O.
P. G. Duryea, Trenton, N. J.

Patents Pooled, Charge.

The government alleges the defendant manufacturers of porcelain insulators have conspired for several years to eliminate competition among themselves and to establish uniform prices for their products. The first attempt was through the Armstrong bureau, a trade association later condemned by the supreme court, it is set forth.

Their purpose was finally attained through pooling patents in and issuing manufacturing licenses from the holding company, it is alleged.

Sargent Orders Suit.

The government also charges the patents they hold on porcelain insulators cover only minor improvements and are invalid because granted "improvidently and by mistake."

If valid, the theory is that the patents cover such narrow scope as not

COUNTY CHURCH 105 YEARS OLD

Hanoverton Congregation Plans Two-day Services.

The congregation of the Hanoverton Christian church, one of the oldest churches in eastern Ohio, will celebrate its 105th anniversary with special services tonight and Sunday. Many former residents of the district are expected to attend the celebration which will take the form of a homecoming.

The history of the Hanoverton churches dates back to the days when the village was made up of a few log cabins. It was established in 1820 and was known as the Bible Christian church. The first pastor came from Kentucky.

The church was almost wrecked by a controversy which developed in 1924 but six years later the congregation was reorganized with a membership of about 100. The present building was erected in 1859, just 66 years ago.

Many leaders in the Christian church served the Hanoverton church in bygone days. Among them are Alexander Campbell, Isaac Errett, H. L. Ice, Harrison Jones, Hiram Van Vorhees, W. H. Cramblett and others.

A house-warming and get-together meeting will be held at the church tonight. Prof. Irvin T. Green will speak at the Sunday morning service while visiting pastors and friends of the church will take part in the afternoon meeting. Prof. Green will also occupy the pulpit Sunday evening.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—The Prince of Wales has not lost his liking for jazz on his 25,000-mile journey through South Africa and South America.

One of the first questions he asked friends upon his arrival home was: "What are the latest jazz tunes? I have heard nothing younger than 'Tea for Two.'"

The prince has made solicitious inquiries concerning the health of his grandmother, Queen Alexandra, and it is understood he will take the first opportunity to go to Sandringham to visit her. The queen mother is now enjoying a drive almost daily and is said to be in better health than for some time.

DISARMAMENT PARLEY LOOMS AS SECURITY PACTS GET O. K.

Great Britain Will Welcome Invitation From U. S.

LOCARNO HAPPY

Tiny Swiss Town Wins Place in History.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

President Coolidge is ready to issue the invitations, just as soon as he is assured that the nations of Europe and Asia are willing to come in.

The signing of the Locarno security pact, under which France and Germany and their neighbors agree to abolish warfare among themselves, has, in his opinion, removed the last great obstacle to the success of such a gathering.

Aims of Conference.

The chief aims to be sought in this second Washington conference are expected to be:

1.—Reduction of the world's standing armies.

2.—Limitation of aircraft armament.

3.—Limitation of submarines, both as to size and number that each nation may possess.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Great Britain would welcome an invitation from the United States to a disarmament conference, now that the European security pacts have been concluded at Locarno, it was stated in official circles today.

Whitehall officials said that they realized that it was a little early to discuss disarmament conferences until the Locarno pacts have actually been signed and their effectiveness has been noted, but they pointed out that while European nations may be inclined to delay action themselves they could not well afford to ignore any invitation coming from the United States.

Peace Receives Impetus.

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 17.—After a night of celebration over the completion of the European security pact, this tiny Swiss town settled down today prepared to take its place in history as the spot where European peace received its greatest impetus.

As the various delegates to the security past conference prepared to leave for their homes, there was a greater evidence of international good feeling than has been seen since the

THREE DISTRICT FIRMS ARE NAMED AMONG 16 IN FEDERAL COURT ACTION

DAVIDSON AND R. THOMAS & SONS COMPANIES AND H. R. HOLMES LISTED

Uncle Sam Alleges Defendant Manufacturers of Porcelain Insulators Have Conspired for Several Years to Eliminate Competition Among Themselves and to Establish Uniform Prices for Their Products.

Three East Liverpool district porcelain manufacturers are among the 16 defendants named in the government suit charging violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, which was filed in the United States district court at Cleveland yesterday against the Porcelain Appliance Corporation, of Washington, its organizers, managers and members.

Member companies, alleged to form the Porcelain Appliance corporation, are charged with having pooled their patent rights under its control and with manufacturing and selling under licenses from it, thus fixing all prices.

District manufacturers listed in the suit are the Davidson Porcelain company, operating its plant in Chester; R. Thomas and Sons company, and H. R. Holmes. Two other defendants, the Brunt Tile & Porcelain company, Columbus, and G. O. Anderson, Parkersburg, W. Va., are formerly of East Liverpool.

Others Named in Action

Other member companies and individuals charged in the suit with conspiracy and combination in restraint of trade are:

Cook Pottery Co., Trenton, N. J.
Colonial Insulator Co., Akron, O.
Federal Porcelain Co., Carey, O.
Findlay Electrical Porcelain Co., Parkersburg, W. Va.
Illinois Electrical Porcelain Co., Macomb, Ill.
Mogadore Insulator Co., Mogadore, O.
National Electrical Porcelain Co., Carey, O.
J. H. Parker & Son, Inc., Parkersburg, W. Va.
Wheeling Tile Co., Wheeling, W. Va.
Circle "F" Manufacturing Co., Trenton, N. J.
Ravenswood Porcelain Co., Ravenswood, W. Va.
E. Hume Talbert, Washington.
Knox Porcelain Co., Knoxville, Tenn.
J. H. Parker, Parkersburg, W. Va.
R. C. Spencer, Carey, O.
J. E. Bicknell, Findlay, O.
P. G. Duryea, Trenton, N. J.

Patents Pooled, Charge.

The government alleges the defendant manufacturers of porcelain insulators have conspired for several years to eliminate competition among themselves and to establish uniform prices for their products. The first attempt was through the Armstrong bureau, a trade association later condemned by the supreme court, it is set forth.

Their purpose was finally attained through pooling patents in and issuing manufacturing licenses from the holding company, it is alleged.

Sargent Orders Suit.

The government also charges the patents they hold on porcelain insulators cover only minor improvements and are invalid because granted "improvidently and by mistake."

If valid, the theory is that the patents cover such narrow scope as not

COUNTY CHURCH 105 YEARS OLD

Hanoverton Congregation Plans Two-day Services.

The congregation of the Hanoverton Christian church, one of the oldest churches in eastern Ohio, will celebrate its 105th anniversary with special services tonight and Sunday. Many former residents of the district are expected to attend the celebration which will take the form of a homecoming.

The history of the Hanoverton churches dates back to the days when the village was made up of a few log cabins. It was established in 1820 and was known as the Bible Christian church. The first pastor came from Kentucky.

The church was almost wrecked by a controversy which developed in 1924 but six years later the congregation was reorganized with a membership of about 100. The present building was erected in 1859, just 66 years ago.

Many leaders in the Christian church served the Hanoverton church in bygone days. Among them are Alexander Campbell, Isaac Errett, H. L. Ice, Harrison Jones, Hiram Van Vorhees, W. H. Cramblett and others.

A house-warming and get-together meeting will be held at the church tonight. Prof. Irvin T. Green will speak at the Sunday morning service while visiting pastors and friends of the church will take part in the afternoon meeting. Prof. Green will also occupy the pulpit Sunday evening.

What the Bible Teaches About Church Attendance

Does God require a man to go to church?

Does the man who stays at home on Sunday have equal chance to the joys of the future life as the man who regularly attends church?

Why thousands do not go to church.

Does the church have a real message for the age?

Will we ever have a new religion?

Hear these questions discussed Sunday night.

NARROWS PLAN IS APPROVED

Jefferson County Acts on Improvement Project.

Jefferson county commissioners this morning passed a resolution authorizing engineers to proceed immediately with steps toward the temporary improvement of the "narrows," by the construction of a roadway under terms of a proposal from the state highway department.

Jefferson county commissioners yesterday were notified by the state highway department that $15,000 would be given to the project by the state if the county would provide a similar amount for the improvement of a five-mile stretch from Stratton to Yellow Creek, which would give traffic a through river road for use this winter.

The state highway department pointed out that if the plan were to be taken up, that steps should be taken immediately so that the job could be completed before winter.

Nomads of Mongolia To Establish Modern University at Ourga

MOSCOW.—Mongolia, home of nomads, aspires to Western learning. Two delegates from Mongolia to the bi-centennial eclebration of the Russian Academy of Science, announce that in Ourga, chief city of the country, which does not yet possess a railroad, will be a modern university within five years.

Within ten years, they say, they will be able to staff their university exclusively with native Mongolian professors. Many Mongolians are now studying here in the Communist university of the Tailing East.

NARROWS PLAN IS APPROVED

Jefferson County Acts on Improvement Project.

Jefferson county commissioners this morning passed a resolution authorizing engineers to proceed immediately with steps toward the temporary improvement of the "narrows," by the construction of a roadway under terms of a proposal from the state highway department.

Jefferson county commissioners yesterday were notified by the state highway department that $15,000 would be given to the project by the state if the county would provide a similar amount for the improvement of a five-mile stretch from Stratton to Yellow Creek, which would give traffic a through river road for use this winter.

The state highway department pointed out that if the plan were to be taken up, that steps should be taken immediately so that the job could be completed before winter.

C. & P. WILL PLAY AT SALINEVILLE

Wellsville fans will have an opportunity of seeing the C. & P. football team in action again when they line up against the Salineville independent team of that place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The locals came through last Saturday's game without injuries and Manager Brooks has put the players through some stiff practice this week, working out several new trick plays which will be tried against the Salineville outfit.

The addition of R. J. Pearch and W. E. Rosenberg in the backfield will greatly strengthen the team and although outweighed the Pennsy eleven expects to give a good account of itself in this contest.

Manager Brooks is desirous of arranging games with any team weighing 160 pounds in this vicinity. Communication should be addressed to him at 1614 Chester avenue, Wellsville.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, pastor of the First Christian church. Burial will be made in Spring Hill cemetery.

"HOME COMERS" SERVICE SUNDAY

A "home comers" service will be held Sunday in the First Presbyterian church with a special sermon for the occasion, "Back to The Father's House,' by the pastor, Rev. Frank H. Magill.

There will be special music at both the morning and the evening services.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

Last Chance To Register

A comparatively small number of electors' names were added to the registrars' books in the 21 precincts in East Liverpool on Friday, the first day of registration for the November 3 election, according to reports received by the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections.

And, too, few voters who have changed their place of residence since the August 11 primaries, applied to the precinct officials for transfers. Like electors who neglect to qualify, failure of removals to transfer means their disfranchisement.

Today is the last chance to enroll for the fall balloting, when municipal, township, judicial and board of education officers as well as a clerk of the municipal court will be elected, judgment passed on three proposed constitutional amendments, a $950,000 road bond issue and a three-mill school tax levy.

From 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 5 to 10 p. m. registrars will be on duty in the precinct voting places, prepared to enroll new voters, make corrections in registrations and issue transfers.

If you are not registered, go to the precinct place before 10 o'clock tonight. Failure to do so will bar you from the polls next month.

Appreciation For Roughnecks

Just as college students settle down to the serious business of fraternity life and organized football cheering, they are jumped onto by a rude professor from the University of California. Dr. J. B. Finley says the colleges are full of young men who are there because they don't want to work. Furthermore:

"We do not want a race of mollycoddles. The manicure shop is not the place where men are bred. I would rather trust the fate of the nation to a genuine roughneck than to a highbrow. Our nation will probably be saved, for a few years at least, by the young man who cannot go to college.

"Manhood is the ideal that is being overlooked in our educational system. We are trying to polish an article that is veneered. Give me an oak tree with the bark on it."

Fortunately for Prof. Finley's peace of mind, he is leaving all that behind him. He is going to take a position in the University of Mexico City. We may learn later whether Mexican students are underbrained and overmanicured like our own decadent youth. It hardly seems possible that there should be any "oaks with the bark on" down there, but they may have the saving grace of Spanish bayonets.

A Classical "Bawl-Out"

When Vice Chancellor Joseph Wells gave his annual Latin address at Oxford recently, he spoke his mind quite freely on the subject of undergraduate follies.

The stylish Oxford bags he described as "more barbarian than anything which the Dacians or Sarmations ever wore." He "bawled out" men and women students alike for their pernicious habit of sipping coffee for hours at a time in Oxford cafes. He attacked whole-heartedly the speed and number of student-driven automobiles in Oxford. "They have made the streets impassable save at grave peril, and their noise resounds through all open spaces."

It is rumored in these United States that some American students in some American colleges and universities need a similar scolding. But it is questionable whether many of them would derive much benefit from it if it were delivered in Latin.

Flyers Leaving Morocco

An official communication of the French military authorities at Fez has announced, according to a recent dispatch, "the approaching dissolution of the Sherifian escadrille composed of American aviators against the Moroccan rebels."

"This escadrille," says the communique, "now is reaching the end of its activities. Its members have shown themselves worthy of their great reputations." French squadrons are going in to take their places. This action follows a polite hint from the United States government.

No doubt the American flyers have done effective work there. But for that, the American public is not disposed to praise them so highly as the French. Americans at home are glad to learn that American citizens are going to stop helping foreign powers crush the life out of a small nation of brave, free people who deserve independence and have never done Americans any wrong.

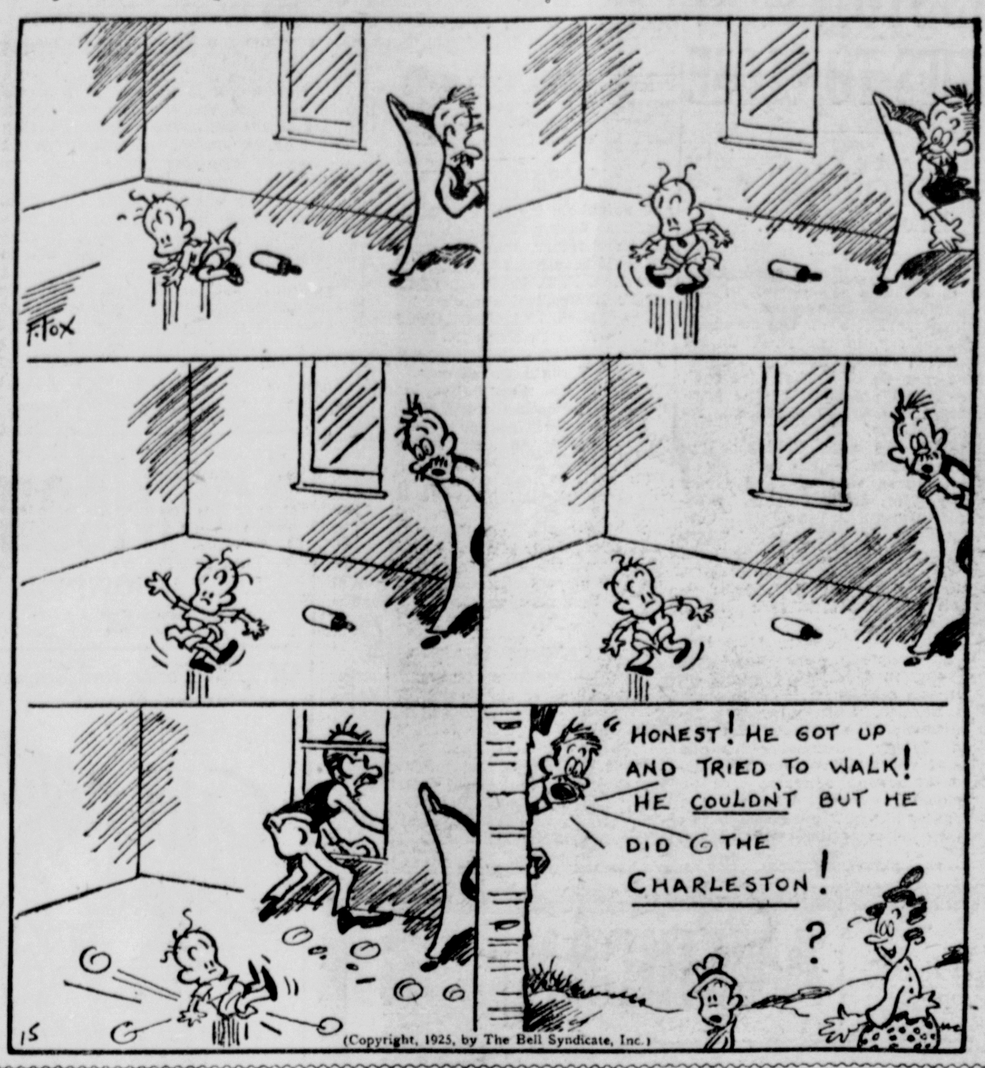
What, asks a realist, is the satisfaction of achievement compared with the satisfaction of watching other people work?

"Every legitimate business transaction benefits both sides," remarks a banker. But then why do bankers always act as if lending money at a profitable rate of interest were merely a favor to the borrower?

A motoring generation is now going back to horseback riding for exercise. Some future generation will make itself healthy and happy by discovering the art of walking.

Why make fun of the New Jersey girl who went to Chicago because she "wanted to get away from everybody and everything?" Everybody in Chicago acts like that all the time.

Baby's First Steps— By Fontaine Fox



NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Literature so far as our popular fiction goes is falling into new hands. Margazine and publishing houses from Fall lists indicate time for a new deal. A new crop of writers suddenly sprung up to dazzle them.

Old favorites have reached a point where they must stir their stumps and typewriters. Names hitherto unknown to the public are tagged to best sellers. A few years ago theer was a hiatus and then along came Sinclair Lewis with his triple blast.

Another hiatus and now there are at least a dozen fiction writers who are being eagerly sought at their own price to sign on the dotted line. I am told by a publisher's confidant that thre were a half dozen novels by old favorites rejected this season to make way for the new.

There is an age old bleat that the new writer must have a drag or be well known to receive attention of editors. This new situation disproves it. Also the theory that the scribbler must live in New York. Only one in the new list resides in the metropolis.

One indeed lives on an obscure farm in British Columbia, Genius, like water, finds its level and a writer does not have to fare forth with a hunting horn to be discovered. Nearly every magazine and publishing house has a literary Columbus whose job is to discover new talent.

It has become a most important post. Education it would also seem does not play such highly important part in novel writing. Three new writers were not even graduated from high school but all were omniverous readers. They learned largely from life.

The chief thing is to have a story to tell. So few have, en passant. The era of hysterical thought is gone. The new story tellers are telling coherent tales. Writing in the final analysis is merely self expression.

European hotel proprietors are sending their sons to New York to learn the hotel business. Louis Adlon of the Adlon in Berlin has one son who is a bus boy at the Ritz and another who is working in the kitchen of the Ambassador.

Hotel men probably know more about it but I do not believe anyone can learn one single thing that will aid him as a hotel proprietor by serving as bus boy. Nor as a waiter. But as a cook! That is different. Every hotel man should be a first rate cook and front office clerk. Still there may be something in the bus boy theory for five prominent hotel men have served in that lowly job. Yet I believe they would have gone just as far without this training.

Over the desk of a big hotel executive, by the way, is this sign: "Don't Worry — It Won't Last — Nothong Does."

When I was a clerk in a country hotel I used to rush to the edge of the sidewalk to carry the drummers' suitcase in. Also carry up his ice water. Today if some hotel clerks even answer a query you feel important.

When a tong war blazes forth in Chinatown all vehicles are forbidden to enter the tiny streets. Tong men with their sawed off shotguns are able to fire at their enemies from behind wagons and escape returning fire if vehicles fill the streets. The Chinese are especially careful of the innocent bystander. Every effort to bring about peace among the tongs has failed. Warfare always breaks out again and usually simultaneously in several cities.

Chuck Conners, down in Chinatown, used to say: "When a Chink gets mad he gets wronger and wronger until he kills. Then he lights a pill and is a peaceful feller until he kills again."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oc. 16.—A campaign against illiteracy in the United States is about to be waged under the direction of the Bureau of Education. The last census of the United States showed that this country ranks tenth in illiteracy, which seems appalling in a nation which is considered by its citizens as a leader in the progress of the world. The aim of those interested in this campaign is to reduce the amount of illiteracy before the next census is taken in 1930.

L. R. Alderman, a prominent educator of Portland, Oregon, has been appointed as Specialist in Adult Education in the bureau. Mr. Alderman has had a great deal of experience along this line. Furthermore, his interest in adult education amounts almost to a hobby. As he puts it, "it is wonderful to get paid for doing something you like."

Mr. Alderman has been a county school superintendent a university professor in the department of education, State superintendent for the State of Oregon, and city superintendent of the city of Portland, Oregon. During the World War he went to France and worked with the Army Education Corps. Afterwards he inaugurated a plan of education in the Navy which now reaches 25,000 men. He was also a member of the Survey Staff of the New York Public schools.

Although Mr. Alderman has had much experience in general educational work, he has always been particularly interested in adult education. He has watched and studied the various methods applied to teaching adults. From this study he has come to the conclusion against learning to read and write. It is simply told to show that many so-called illiterates have native ability which if directed in the right way take them far.

When teaching an adult Mr. Alderman believes that consideration should be given to what the pupil has learned by actual experience. For instance some golf instructors giving lessons to one who perhaps has played golf a little will take no note of that fact. They begin their instruction on the basis that the pupil has never played golf and knows absolutely nothing about it. They tell him so much at one time that he becomes confused and consequently gets little of nothing out of the lesson. On the other hand an instructor who gets the best results will first observe just how the pupil makes his strokes and holds his clubs. He then calls the attention of the pupil to any incorrect method he is using and shows him how it should be done.

The Bureau of Education hopes to decrease adult illiteracy through the co-operation of the States. It is planned that each state shall appoint a commission and through this carry out a plan which is to be worked out by the Bureau. Several states have already appointed commissions and are preparing to work vigorously toward reducing illiteracy so that when the next report of the Bureau of the Census come out the United States will make a better showing.

Summer Schools For Adults

Oklahoma has set up a commission and courses of instruction in teaching adults were given at the summer schools. Classes for adults were also held.

The Bureau has very ambitious plans, which while they are not directly connected with the program for reducing adult illiteracy, still in a measure overlap it. They include a survey of the education that adults require an entirely different system of teaching.

One of the outstanding differences between teaching a child and an adult is that repetition must be avoided in the case of the latter. A child's education may be planned with a view to the fact that he has no background of experiences. Everything is new to him. The same thing may told him over and over and he does not mind. With an adult it is different, however. He has thousands of experiences which have given him a practical knowledge, even though he may be termed an illiterate. He is bored with reiteration, and likewise does not as a rule take kindly to lecture courses.

Illiterate But Not Stupid

Mr. Alderman stresses the fact that because a man is illiterate does not necessarily mean that he is stupid. As an instance he tells the story of the janitor of a public school in a large Eastern city. This man was an excellent janitor and performed his duties in an entirely satisfactory manner. However, he could neither read nor write. Finally the powers-that-be decreed that it was out of keeping to have as janitor of apublic school an illiterate. Whereupon he was dismissed.

Later this erstwhile janitor rose to a position of prominence and wealth in the business world. He had become a successful contractor. One day while in a bank putting through a loan, an acquaintance upon noticing him make his mark instead of signing his name, exclaimed, "Gracious, do you mean that you can not write your own name?" Upon receiving an affirmative answer he continued, "Just think where you might have been if you could read and write?" To which the contractor replied somewhat grimly, "Yes, I know where I'd have been—janitor of a school."

The foregoing story, however, is not ment as a warning of aliens and factory industrial education. The bureau is interested in knowing just how courses for aliens are conducted, and how large factories and industrial plants train new employees.

Mr. Alderman believes that one of the best ways for grown-ups to advance their education is through the various extension courses. He says that such courses are such more compatible with the adult temperament than a straight college course would be. This, of course, does not apply to illiterates. Such courses are only for those who feel that they would like to continue their education after they have finished school. In many cases they may have been out of school for several years before beginnig an extensive course.

All persons interested in education feel that illiteracy in the United States has reached the point where drastic measures must be taken to combat it. Mr. Alderman is of the opinion that enforcing the compulsory education law is the most important one thing that can be done. He feels that by making this law effective illiteracy may be completely wiped out.

During the World War the tests of the War Department showed that illiteracy was more prevalent than even the Census reports showed. Practically 24 per cent of those in the draft could not read a typewritten order or letter. Some of these probably could sign their names or perhaps in a labored fashion read a few printed lines. They, therefore, probably would not have been classed as illiterates in the Census reports for the simple reason that when asked if they could read and write they would have replied, "yes."

Illiteracy is one of the foremost problems of the day and it is felt that everyone who can will be more than glad to do his share toward solving it within the next four years.

New Method Eradicates Wrinkles Like Magic

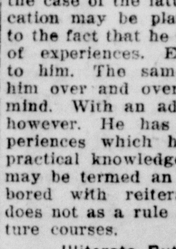
It has been found that a simple tarkroot mixture, spread over the entire face, acts almost magically upon even the deepest wrinkles and crowsfeet. It produces the natural rejuvenating effect of massage, only to a more marked degree. The danger of loosening the skin or muscles, as in unscientific or too frequent massaging, is eliminated, no rubbing being necessary. On the other hand, the skin and underlying tissues are so invigorated they become much firmer, and the skin's texture is so changed it again assumes its original clear, smooth, velvety appearance.

If you will procure a package of powdered tarkroot from your druggist, mix a spoonful with a spoonful of lemon juice, apply with the fingers, and sit down before your mirror, you will see the wrinkles and sags disappear, in less than 15 minutes! You will be amazed, to say the least. Tarkroot of course is perfectly harmless. And certainly it is inexpensive; a treatment costs less than three cents!

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Mrs. Miles Was Miserable a Long Time—Owes Final Recovery to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dover, Ohio.—"After my last baby was born I was up and around again, but I was sickly all the time and did not know how to get my work done. I had washed a heavy carpet and I think that was the cause of my troubles. I went to several doctors, but their medicines did not do me any good. I asked what the trouble was, for I could hardly walk and always had such pains in my left side and then in my right side. He told me I had inflammation that caused it. I had one of your text-books and was reading it, and I thought I would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After four days of taking it I began to feel better, so I took three bottles without missing a dose. That helped me more than any other medicine I had yet taken and I always have it handy now. It surely did put me on my feet again."—Mrs. JAMES MILES, 419 Cherry Street, Dover, Ohio.



You must believe that a medicine that helps other women will help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

Last Chance To Register

A comparatively small number of electors' names were added to the registrars' books in the 21 precincts in East Liverpool on Friday, the first day of registration for the November 8 election, according to reports received by the Columbiana county board of deputy state supervisors of elections.

And, too, few voters who have changed their place of residence since the August 11 primaries, applied to the precinct officials for transfers. Like electors who neglect to qualify, failure of removals to transfer means their disfranchisement.

Today is the last chance to enroll for the fall balloting, when municipal, township, judicial and board of education officers as well as a clerk of the municipal court will be elected, judgment passed on three proposed constitutional amendments, a $950,000 road bond issue and a three-mill school tax levy.

From 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. and from 5 to 10 p. m. registrars will be on duty in the precinct voting places, prepared to enroll new voters, make corrections in registrations and issue transfers.

If you are not registered, go to the precinct place before 10 o'clock tonight. Failure to do so will bar you from the polls next month.

Appreciation For Roughnecks

Just as college students settle down to the serious business of fraternity life and organized football cheering, they are jumped onto by a rude professor from the University of California. Dr. J. B. Finley says the colleges are full of young men who are there because they don't want to work. Furthermore:

"We do not want a race of mollycoddles. The manicure shop is not the place where men are bred. I would rather trust the fate of the nation to a genuine roughneck than to a highbrow. Our nation will probably be saved, for a few years at least, by the young man who cannot go to college.

"Manhood is the ideal that is being overlooked in our educational system. We are trying to polish an article that is veneered. Give me an oak tree with the bark on it."

Fortunately for Prof. Finley's peace of mind, he is leaving all that behind him. He is going to take a position in the University of Mexico City. We may learn later whether Mexican students are underbrained and overmanicured like our own decadent youth. It hardly seems possible that there should be any "oaks with the bark on" down there, but they may have the saving grace of Spanish bayonets.

A Classical "Bawl-Out"

When Vice Chancellor Joseph Wells gave his annual Latin address at Oxford recently, he spoke his mind quite freely on the subject of undergraduate follies.

The stylish Oxford bags he described as "more barbarian than anything which the Dacians or Sarmations ever wore." He "bawled out" men and women students alike for their pernicious habit of sipping coffee for hours at a time in Oxford cafes. He attacked whole-heartedly the speed and number of student-driven automobiles in Oxford. "They have made the streets impassable save at grave peril, and their noise resounds through all open spaces."

It is rumored in these United States that some American students in some American colleges and universities need a similar scolding. But it is questionable whether many of them would derive much benefit from it if it were delivered in Latin.

Flyers Leaving Morocco

An official communication of the French military authorities at Fez has announced, according to a recent dispatch, "the approaching dissolution of the Sherifian escadrille composed of American aviators against the Moroccan rebels."

"This escadrille," says the communique, "now is reaching the end of its activities. Its members have shown themselves worthy of their great reputations." French squadrons are going in to take their places. This action follows a polite hint from the United States government.

No doubt the American flyers have done effective work there. But for that, the American public is not disposed to praise them so highly as the French. Americans at home are glad to learn that American citizens are going to stop helping foreign powers crush the life out of a small nation of brave, free people who deserve independence and have never done Americans any wrong.

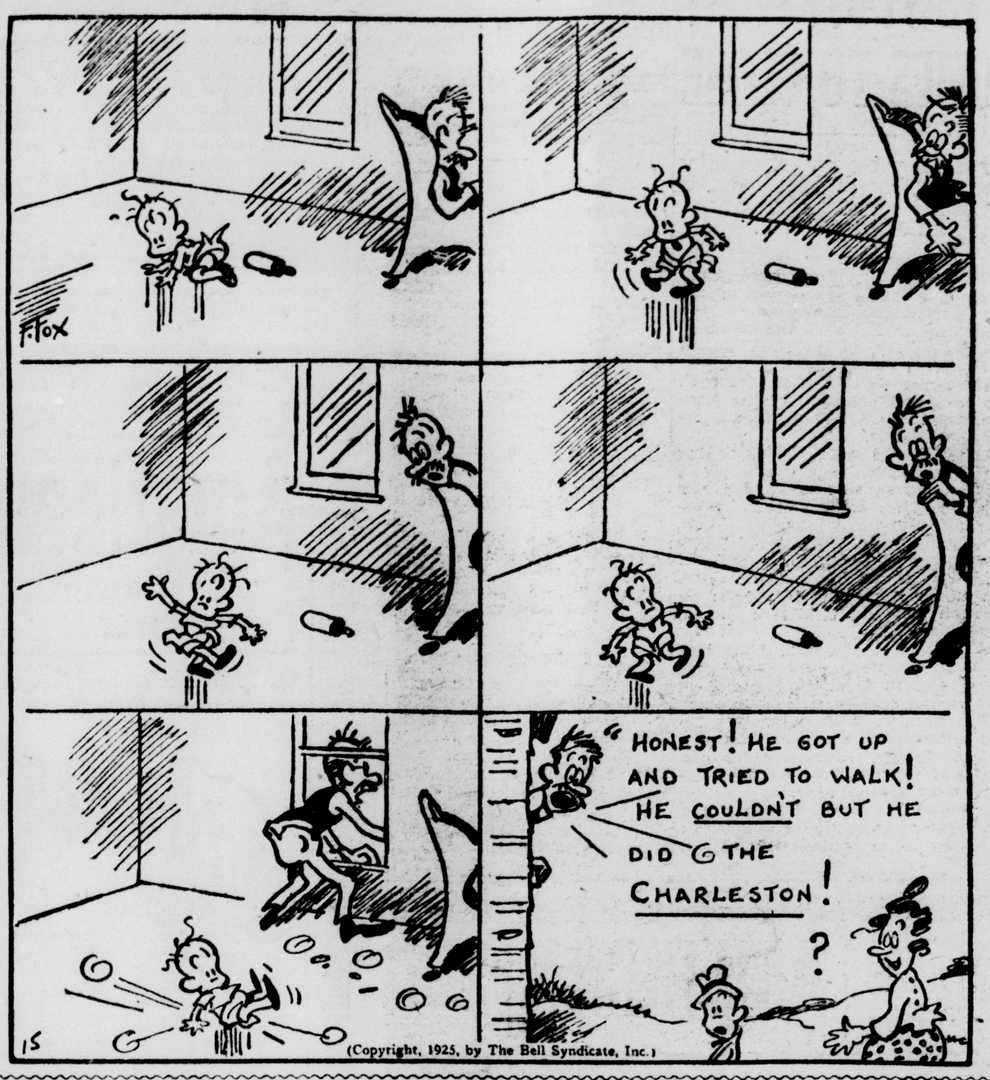
What, asks a realist, is the satisfaction of achievement compared with the satisfaction of watching other people work?

"Every legitimate business transaction benefits both sides," remarks a banker. But then why do bankers always act as if lending money at a profitable rate of interest were merely a favor to the borrower?

A motoring generation is now going back to horseback riding for exercise. Some future generation will make itself healthy and happy by discovering the art of walking.

Why make fun of the New Jersey girl who went to Chicago because she "wanted to get away from everybody and everything?" Everybody in Chicago acts like that all the time.

Baby's First Steps— By Fontaine Fox



NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Literature so far as our popular fiction goes is falling into new hands. Margazine and publishing houses from Fall lists indicate time for a new deal. A new crop of writers suddenly sprung up to dazzle them.

Old favorites have reached a point where they must stir their stumps and typewriters. Names hitherto unknown to the public are tagged to best sellers. A few years ago theer was a hiatus and then along came Sinclair Lewis with his triple blast.

Another hiatus and now there are at least a dozen fiction writers who are being eagerly sought at their own price to sign on the dotted line. I am told by a publisher's confidant that thre were a half dozen novels by old favorites rejected this season to make way for the new.

There is an age old bleat that the new writer must have a drag or be well known to receive attention of editors. This new situation disproves it. Also the theory that the scribbler must live in New York. Only one in the new list resides in the metropolis.

One indeed lives on an obscure farm in British Columbia, Genius, like water, finds its level and a writer does not have to fare forth with a hunting horn to be discovered. Nearly every magazine and publishing house has a literary Columbus whose job is to discover new talent.

It has become a most important post. Education it would also seem does not play such highly important part in novel writing. Three new writers were not even graduated from high school but all were omniverous readers. They learned largely from life.

The chief thing is to have a story to tell. So few have, en passant. The era of hysterical thought is gone. The new story tellers are telling coherent tales. Writing in the final analysis is merely self expression.

European hotel proprietors are sending their sons to New York to learn the hotel business. Louis Adlon of the Adlon in Berlin has one son who is a bus boy at the Ritz and another who is working in the kitchen of the Ambassador.

Hotel men probably know more about it but I do not believe anyone can learn one single thing that will aid him as a hotel proprietor by serving as bus boy. Nor as a waiter. But as a cook! That is different. Every hotel man should be a first rate cook and front office clerk. Still there may be something in the bus boy theory for five prominent hotel men have served in that lowly job. Yet I believe they would have gone just as far without this training.

Over the desk of a big hotel executive, by the way, is this sign: "Don't Worry — It Won't Last — Nothong Does."

When I was a clerk in a country hotel I used to rush to the edge of the sidewalk to carry the drummers' suitcase in. Also carry up his ice water. Today if some hotel clerks even answer a query you feel important.

When a tong war blazes forth in Chinatown all vehicles are forbidden to enter the tiny streets. Tong men with their sawed off shotguns are able to fire at their enemies from behind wagons and escape returning fire if vehicles fill the streets. The Chinese are especially careful of the innocent bystander. Every effort to bring about peace among the tongs has failed. Warfare always breaks out again and usually simultaneously in several cities.

Chuck Conners, down in Chinatown, used to say: "When a Chink gets mad he gets wronger and wronger until he kills. Then he lights a pill and is a peaceful feller until he kills again."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C. Oc. 16.—A campaign against illiteracy in the United States is about to be waged under the direction of the Bureau of Education. The last census of the United States showed that this country ranks tenth in illiteracy, which seems appalling in a nation which is considered by its citizens as a leader in the progress of the world. The aim of those interested in this campaign is to reduce the amount of illiteracy before the next census is taken in 1930.

L. R. Alderman, a prominent educator of Portland, Oregon, has been appointed as Specialist in Adult Education in the bureau. Mr. Alderman has had a great deal of experience along this line. Furthermore, his interest in adult education amounts almost to a hobby. As he puts it, "it is wonderful to get paid for doing something you like."

Mr. Alderman has been a county school superintendent a university professor in the department of education, State superintendent for the State of Oregon, and city superintendent of the city of Portland, Oregon. During the World War he went to France and worked with the Army Education Corps. Afterwards he inaugurated a plan of education in the Navy which now reaches 25,000 men. He was also a member of the Survey Staff of the New York Public schools.

Although Mr. Alderman has had much experience in general educational work, he has always been particularly interested in adult education. He has watched and studied the various methods applied to teaching adults. From this study he has come to the conclusion against learning to read and write. It is simply told to show that many so-called illiterates have native ability which if directed in the right way take them far.

When teaching an adult Mr. Alderman believes that consideration should be given to what the pupil has learned by actual experience. For instance some golf instructors giving lessons to one who perhaps has played golf a little will take no note of that fact. They begin their instruction on the basis that the pupil has never played golf and knows absolutely nothing about it. They tell him so much at one time that he becomes confused and consequently gets little of nothing out of the lesson. On the other hand an instructor who gets the best results will first observe just how the pupil makes his strokes and holds his clubs. He then calls the attention of the pupil to any incorrect method he is using and shows him how it should be done.

The Bureau of Education hopes to decrease adult illiteracy through the co-operation of the States. It is planned that each state shall appoint a commission and through this carry out a plan which is to be worked out by the Bureau. Several states have already appointed commissions and are preparing to work vigorously toward reducing illiteracy so that when the next report of the Bureau of the Census come out the United States will make a better showing.

Summer Schools For Adults

Oklahoma has set up a commission and courses of instruction in teaching adults were given at the summer schools. Classes for adults were also held.

The Bureau has very ambitious plans, which while they are not directly connected with the program for reducing adult illiteracy, still in a measure overlap it. They include a survey of the education that adults require an entirely different system of teaching.

One of the outstanding differences between teaching a child and an adult is that repetition must be avoided in the case of the latter. A child's education may be planned with a view to the fact that he has no background of experiences. Everything is new to him. The same thing may told him over and over and he does not mind. With an adult it is different, however. He has thousands of experiences which have given him a practical knowledge, even though he may be termed an illiterate. He is bored with reiteration, and likewise does not as a rule take kindly to lecture courses.

Illiterate But Not Stupid

Mr. Alderman stresses the fact that because a man is illiterate does not necessarily mean that he is stupid. As an instance he tells the story of the janitor of a public school in a large Eastern city. This man was an excellent janitor and performed his duties in an entirely satisfactory manner. However, he could neither read nor write. Finally the powers-that-be decreed that it was out of keeping to have as janitor of apublic school an illiterate. Whereupon he was dismissed.

Later this erstwhile janitor rose to a position of prominence and wealth in the business world. He had become a successful contractor. One day while in a bank putting through a loan, an acquaintance upon noticing him make his mark instead of signing his name, exclaimed, "Gracious, do you mean that you can not write your own name?" Upon receiving an affirmative answer he continued, "Just think where you might have been if you could read and write?" To which the contractor replied somewhat grimly, "Yes, I know where I'd have been—janitor of a school."

The foregoing story, however, is not ment as a warning of aliens and factory industrial education. The bureau is interested in knowing just how courses for aliens are conducted, and how large factories and industrial plants train new employees.

Mr. Alderman believes that one of the best ways for grown-ups to advance their education is through the various extension courses. He says that such courses are such more compatible with the adult temperament than a straight college course would be. This, of course, does not apply to illiterates. Such courses are only for those who feel that they would like to continue their education after they have finished school. In many cases they may have been out of school for several years before beginnig an extensive course.

All persons interested in education feel that illiteracy in the United States has reached the point where drastic measures must be taken to combat it. Mr. Alderman is of the opinion that enforcing the compulsory education law is the most important one thing that can be done. He feels that by making this law effective illiteracy may be completely wiped out.

During the World War the tests of the War Department showed that illiteracy was more prevalent than even the Census reports showed. Practically 24 per cent of those in the draft could not read a typewritten order or letter. Some of these probably could sign their names or perhaps in a labored fashion read a few printed lines. They, therefore, probably would not have been classed as illiterates in the Census reports for the simple reason that when asked if they could read and write they would have replied, "yes."

Illiteracy is one of the foremost problems of the day and it is felt that everyone who can will be more than glad to do his share toward solving it within the next four years.

Gulbransen Registering Pianos Now in American Homes

America's Answer to Mr. Gulbransen's Remarkable Creation

FRIENDS and families all over America gather nightly about the Gulbransen Registering Piano when the day's toil is done. It's the social center of thousands of homes that are known for their entertainment and charm.

By means of Mr. Gulbransen's masterful creation, the owner of a Gulbransen Registering Piano always has the companionship of music—not mechanical music as played by the ordinary player piano—but music of his own expression—his personal touch, the thing that makes hand playing what it is. On the Gulbransen you get hand played results by playing roll music. And anyone can play it—you, or your guests—without previous musical training.

You can play the Gulbransen Registering Piano for dances in perfect time and rhythm. You can accompany a singer as a musician would play—lively at first, then slowly as you near the words, pausing for the singer, then subduing the melody to a whisper—just as an accomplished pianist playing by hand.

If you haven't played a Gulbransen Registering Piano you have a new thrill awaiting you. We shall be glad to have you try this instrument in our show rooms. Come in and play a few rolls of the kind of music you like. You'll be surprised at the musical talent you possess even though you have never had any musical training, for you can play this instrument by roll with a personal touch just like hand playing.

$1095—"yet I certainly place it in the $2000 class!"

. . . "And better than the car I discarded which cost me almost twice as much," says the same delighted owner!

. . . "beauty such as has never before been seen in a popular-priced automobile" . . . "a symphony in color" . . . "to ride in the ordinary Six, then to experience the luxury and comfort of this one, is like comparing a day-coach to a Pullman" . . . "this, indeed, is a real automobile" . . . "as fine a specimen of engineering as I have ever seen" . . . these are but a few of the sentiments expressed by present owners and they represent the opinions of others by the thousands! . . .

"The Handsomest Car on the Street"—
one owner calls it

Inside, "a Superb Specimen of Quality Upholstery, Luxurious Equipment"—

. . . the interior of this car is upholstered in rich Baker Velour throughout, beautiful in sheen and texture, soft and cool to the touch—dust-proof, moth-proof, extremely long-wearing . . . Deep extra-comfortable cushionings . . . pitch of seats ensures a driving-and-riding comfort you have associated only with the finest automobiles . . . Generous seat-room for 5 passengers.

"All My Friends Remark Upon its Delightful Roominess"—

. . . Thus another owner speaks—and why shouldn't the wonderful spaciousness of this big comfortable car cause comment! . . . An extra inside area of 16½ cubic feet—the equivalent of the amount of space ordinarily occupied by 1½ more people . . . Consider what all that extra roominess means to the comfort and enjoyment of yourself and your passengers . . . Comfortable riding. No cramping, no crowding.

"An Engineering Masterpiece"
—so an internationally famous engineer describes it

. . . in every sense the power-plant of this big Six is a positive wonder. It is a simple statement of fact that never before under the hood of an automobile have six cylinders lived and worked together more harmoniously or more efficiently. Power enough for your every need—lightning getaway—unbeatable stamina—the lowest gas and oil consumption you've ever known in a six-cylinder automobile . . . The finely balanced crankshaft is drilled for positive force-feed lubrication at all speeds. Engine, clutch and transmission are a unit, all completely enclosed for protection against mud and dirt . . . "Everything about this car suggests bigness, quality, richness, fineness"—this is the expressed impression of owner after owner—To the best of our knowledge and belief, no better materials, no greater care, no broader engineering experience have ever been before concentrated on the production of an automobile.

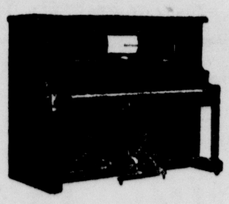
America's Answer to Mr. Gulbransen's Remarkable Creation

FRIENDS and families all over America gather nightly about the Gulbransen Registering Piano when the day's toil is done. It's the social center of thousands of homes that are known for their entertainment and charm.

By means of Mr. Gulbransen's masterful creation, the owner of a Gulbransen Registering Piano always has the companionship of music—not mechanical music as played by the ordinary player piano—but music of his own expression—his personal touch, the thing that makes hand playing what it is. On the Gulbransen you get hand played results by playing roll music. And anyone can play it—you, or your guests—without previous musical training.

You can play the Gubransen Registering Piano for dances in perfect time and rhythm. You can accompany a singer as a musician would play—lively at first, then slowly as you near the words, pausing for the singer, then subduing the melody to a whisper—just as an accomplished pianist playing by hand.



If you haven't played a Gulbransen Registering Piano you have a new thrill awaiting you. We shall be glad to have you try this instrument in our show rooms. Come in and play a few rolls of the kind of music you like. You'll be surprised at the musical talent you possess even though you have never had any musical training, for you can play this instrument by roll with a personal touch just like hand playing.

. . . "And better than the car I discarded which cost me almost twice as much," says the same delighted owner!

"to ride in the ordinary Six, then to experience the luxury and comfort of this one, is like comparing a day-coach to a Pullman" . . . "this, indeed, is a real automobile" . . . "as fine a specimen of engineering as I have ever seen" . . . these are but a few of the sentiments expressed by present owners and they represent the opinions of others by the thousands! . . .

"The Handsomest Car on the Street"—
one owner calls it

. . . a spectacularly beautiful color-combination . . . base of body a rich Peacock blue—upper structure two beautifully blended tones of grey—gleaming jet-black top trim—a fine gold line running all around the body-belt adds a still further note of richness . . . Consider what all that extra roominess means to the comfort and enjoyment of yourself and your passengers . . . Comfortable riding. No cramping, no crowding.

"An Engineering Masterpiece"
—so an internationally famous engineer describes it

. . . in every sense the power-plant of this big Six is a positive wonder. It is a simple statement of fact that never before under the hood of an automobile have six cylinders lived and worked together more harmoniously or more efficiently. Power enough for your every need—lightning getaway—unbeatable stamina—the lowest gas and oil consumption you've ever known in a six-cylinder automobile . . . The finely balanced crankshaft is drilled for positive force-feed lubrication at all speeds. Engine, clutch and transmission are a unit, all completely enclosed for protection against mud and dirt . . . "Everything about this car suggests bigness, quality, richness, fineness"—this is the expressed impression of owner after owner—To the best of our knowledge and belief, no better materials, no greater care, no broader engineering experience have ever been before concentrated on the production of an automobile.

FISHER PARK AGENTS NAMED

J. S. Hilbert and C. W. Hendershot Offer Allotment

Two East Liverpool realtors were added to the Fisher Park selling organization today when C. W. Hendershot, Potters' Savings and Loan building, and J. S. Hilbert, of George H. Owens and company, accepted selling agencies.

Fisher Park lots, large, level and beautifully laid out, are being offered at introductory prices. When the present program of improvements is completed, prices will be advanced.

Unlike the average home site selling proposition, Fisher Park is promoted by R. E. Hoopes and W. H. Watson, owners, who purchased the Sanford E. Fisher farm of approximately 67 acres. Only 98 home-site locations are being offered in the first plat. The remainder will be developed and offered in two separate plats.

Hoopes and Watson will continue the development and improvement of the property as fast as it is absorbed by East Liverpool home builders. The improvement of plat one, now on sale, will be completed next spring. The liberal terms—10 per cent down payment and 1 per cent each month—enable any worker to purchase a home site or make a profitable investment and pay as he or she earns.

East Liverpool people with time to spare are invited to join the Fisher Park sales organization. The company's offices are located at the corner of Sixth and Washington streets.

CARD OF THANKS.

THE ONE FORM OF INVESTMENT WHICH COMBINES ALL THE ELEMENTS OF A GOOD INVESTMENT IN THE HIGHEST DEGREE

Real Estate

ABRAHAM LINCOLN SAID:—

"Property is the fruit of labor ;property is desirable. It is a positive good in the world. That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence a just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not he who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself, thus be example showing that his own shall be safe from violence when built."

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN SAID:—

"Real estate is the best investment for small savings. More money is made from the rise in real estate values than from all other causes combined. To speculate in stocks is risky and even dangerous, but when you buy Real Estate you are buying an inheritance."

ANDREW CARNEGIE SAID:—

"The wise young man or wage earner of today invests his money in real estate—suburban real estate."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT SAID:—

"Every person who invests in well selected real estate in a growing section of a prosperous community adopts the surest method of becoming independent, for real estate is the basis of wealth."

GROVER CLEVELAND SAID:—

"No investment on earth is so safe, so sure, so certain to enrich its owner as undeveloped realty. I always advise my friends to place their savings in realty near some growing city... There is no such savings bank anywhere."

PERMANENT WEALTH exists in but few forms. The most stable, the most useful, the most profitable form of permanent weath is real estate.

FISHER PARK IS IMPROVED RESTRICTED REAL ESTATE

That's what you are being offered in Fisher Park. Fisher Park is the acme of location. Less than two miles from the Diamond. On the Lincoln Highway, it is on a main artery of travel. Improvements are being rushed and are costing thousands of dollars. Every dollar's worth of improvements is increasing the value of the property for purchasers.

There will be still more improvements next Spring. There will be homes built next spring. If we did not absolutely KNOW these statements to be true we would not make them. Both the improvements and the new homes will still further increase the value of Fisher Park Realty.

FISHER PARK PRICES MUST GO UP.

Sixty-seven acres of beautiful restricted home sites are offered in Fisher Park. Plat No. One, containing approximately 100 choice, improved lots, is ready, is meeting with enthusiasm, is selling fast. When Plat No. 1 is closed out; when building operations make Plat No. 1 a hive of industry, a colony of happy people in a desirable neighborhood, then Plat Two and Plat Three will be offered. But Plat One will be making profit for investors and providing protected neighborhood for home-builders before Plat Two improvements start.

Plat One is being offered at Introductory Prices. These prices must be advanced when the improvements are completed. Hence purchasers now can make additional profits by taking advantage of the introductory prices.

Ask any purchaser how much profit he wants right now on HIS investment. The more sales, the more improvements, the more building, the bigger the profits. It is your opportunity to share in these profits if you act now.

EASY PAYMENT TERMS FOR THE EARNER

Any man or woman who can save $10 to $15 a month out of present earnings can buy in Fisher Park. Our Easy Payment Plan insures that. All East Liverpool's growth in suburban trend of home builders, insures constantly improving market when you are ready to sell.

Cyrena Van Gordon to Appear In Concert Here Monday Night

"The American people have only themselves to blame for the foreign dominance of American opera," says Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto with the Chicago Civic Opera company, who will appear here in a concert October 19 under the auspices of the Civic Music association.

"We shall never have real American opera until we change our deferential attitude toward everything imported. We claim to be patriotic, we wave the Star Spangled Banner, yet we regard with awe everything artistic that bears the foreign label," states Miss Van Gordon.

"Lillian Norton had to Italianize her name to 'Nordica' before she could gain recognition in America. Edward Johnson sang for years in Italy under the name of 'Eduardo de Giovanno' but was courageous enough to drop that name when he returned to his native America. Charles Marshall was known in Italy as 'Carlos Marzilali.'"

"America," asserts Miss Van Gordon, "is producing just as good voices as France or Italy and has just as good schools of music. American audiences are beginning to realize this, and are according our native opera singers the recognition that they deserve.

"Of course, we shall need French, Italian, German and Russian opera," Miss Van Gordon hastens to explain, "and we shall need foreign stars to sing them, but the day is passing when singers will be engaged in this country merely on the strength of European reputation."

Miss Van Gordon has not only made an enviable name for herself in the realm of opera, but she is recognized everywhere as a superb concert singer.

Strong Men Face Fateful Days; One Ill, Two are Dead

"Ajax" Whitman, who once pushed a freight car weighing 27,000 pounds up a hill, is seriously ill at his home here from injuries sustained in lifting a comparatively small bag of bullion.

Eugene Sandow died in London this week as the fesult of an injury when he lifted his own automobile out of a ditch after an accident.

Sidmund Brietbart, German strong man who succeeded Sandow as the world's strongest man, died a few days ago in Germany, the result of poisoning from a small scratch on the finger.

PONY EXPRESS RIDER ARRIVES

Joseph W. Irwin Will Spend Week-end in City.

On a 610-mile trip, which began at Cleveland nearly two weeks ago, Joseph W. Irwin, of Cleveland, arrived here at noon today in pony express fashion.

The rider, who is a grandson of one of the original pony express riders, who carried messages through the west before the Civil war, was met at the postoffice by Chief of Police McDermott, Postmaster Edwin McClure and a large crowd. He was escorted to East Liverpool by a motorcycle officer and a delegation of Boy Scouts.

Irwin, who is 25 years old, carried the mail pouch used by the original riders, and also letters from mayors, postmasters and other citizens in towns in which he has visited. He is a member of the Black Horse troop, 107th Cavalry, Ohion national guard.

The pony express rider will spend the week-end here, where he and his horse will rest. He will leave early Monday morning for East Palestine, his next stop. From East Palestine he goes to Columbiana, Youngstown, Warren and back to Cleveland.

During the entire trip, Irwin is riding but one horse, "Hoppy," as he has been named. Thus far he has covered 290 miles, much of which has been done through snow and rainstorms.

He will compare time consumed in this trip with the time necessary to cover the same course by the more modern means of transportation — train, airplane and motor trucks.

He will rest for 10 to 12 days when he returns to Cleveland, after which he will make a trip from New York to San Francisco. During this journey he will use 55 mounts and stop only enough each day to get four or five hours sleep. From St. Joseph, Mo., from which point the original pony express riders started, to San Francisco, he will follow as nearly as possible the old trails used by the riders employed by the Wells-Fargo Express company about 65 years ago.

13 Injured, Heavy Property Damage in Storm in Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Oct. 17.—Thirteen persons injured and a heavy property damage toll were left here today in the wake of a wind of near-tornado proportions which played havoc in a swath five miles wide and fifteen miles long through Hart and Warren counties in south central Kentucky yesterday.

Houses and barns crumbled before the rsush of the wind, trees were uprooted and material damage was done, the reports stated.

Unconfirmed reports said damage had been heaviest in Camner a town of 300 population to which communication had not been restored today.

would struggle for control of earth's rubber supply, or that a quiet little man from Indiana, Harvey Firestone, would buy a million acres of African land in Liberia, to invest $100,000,000 in a rubber plantation.

That's what Firestone is doing, to make the United States and its manufacturers independent of the British rubber control.

His majesty, King George, allows it to be known that every day of his life he reads a chapter of the Bible. When he comes to the twenty-second chapter of St. Matthew he will find material for a whole week's thinking. All the way through he will realize, with pardonable self-complacency, how gentle modern kings are, compared with old kings, and how very temperate in their marriage enterprises.

Records of the eloquent voice of William Jennings Bryan will be preserved "for all time" at the national museum. How that voice will interest a civilized, educated race 50,000 years hence, if still audible! How the voice of an earnest Cro-Magnon would interest us today, if we could hear and understand it.

The government will take a census of "illiterates," Americans that can't read or write.

A long list, it will include extremely useful citizens. If you could get a list of human beings that can read and write, but can't think, of those that can read and write and think, but don't want to work, you would have a list of the easily spared.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—After forging ahead aggressively to new high price levels in the short session of the stock market today, industrial and motor stocks were called upon to absorb an enormous amount of profit taking, and values melted with surprising suddenness. All through the week's uproarious advance there has been considerable profit taking in all sections of the market, induced by the spread of the growing conservative attitude of Wall street interests.

Today there was a scramble to take profits near the close and the market wavered as values steadily declined.

BIDS RECEIVED ON DWELLINGS

Plan to Move Five Houses for Street Right of Way.

Bids for the five frame dwellings bordering the south side of West Eighth street, west of Jethro, were opened by Service Director A. G. Ellis this afternoon.

The houses are a part of the private right of way purchased by the city for the proposed West Eighth street improvement. The houses, three of which are one-story structures and the other two two-story buildings, will be removed immediately as Tatgenhorst & McLaughlin, who hold the contract for the road job, plan to begin work within the next 10 days.

The contractors will build retaining walls and make fills on the south side of the road during the winter to enable the traction company to move its tracks off the main roadway.

Private property on the northside of the street is to be condemned and will not be taken over by the city before next spring. This property includes several dwellings which must be moved before the street can be widened.

Interesting Legal Questions.

From the moment Perry's attorneys began their opening statements to the judge until the court ruled, interesting legal questions bobbed up. Stress was laid upon that phase of the Ohio code by counsel for the board of education that gave the board wide latitude in outlining a course of study, and of the right of school boards to open buildings under its charge to community meetings, etc.

Counsel for Perry argued that while the resolution passed by the East Liverpool board proposed the addition of religious instruction to the course of study, no reference was made to what kind of religious instruction would be authorized.

Attorney Farrell's Argument.

"I don't know what kind of religion they propose to teach, and they do not say what kind is proposed," Attorney George T. Farrell, of Lisbon, of counsel for Perry, said during his closing argument. "The character of the issue is the only legitimate question. There are few instances in this country, so far as our search discloses, where boards of education have gone so far. Therefore, we do not have many cases to refer to. You cannot erect a church through taxation, and while schools can be erected through taxation, they can only be used for the purpose for which they are intended and as the law provides.

"Why does not the other side come before the court fairly and squarely and say what they are going to do? When the Ministerial association goes before the board of education and asks for bread will it give them a stone? Why not be frank? The resolution says they are going to teach religious instruction. What religion? They don't say. They say they don't know. I don't."

"The supreme court of the United States has spoken on this issue," City Solicitor Harry Brokaw said during his closing argument. "The board of education has discreationary power. The plaintiffs in their arguments have fallen short of the mark. They have nothing justifiable to back this suit."

Brokaw referred to numerous citations of courts in Ohio and in other states to support his argument, and also declared that "the reading of the Bible in the public schools was religious instruction."

Judge Praises Counsel.

Judge Jones, in dictating his decision, announced that he "believed he was as well qualified as any other magistrate to decide the issue because "I am rather liberal in my views. I am a member of one of the denominations herein represented, and I may add that I have many times attended services in a Catholic church. I have sat within the walls of the synagogue, and to take another step I have set within the walls of the Mormon temple at Salt Lake during a service. I am prone to inject personality into an issue, and I may offer an apology for so doing in this case, but as I have stated I have a quite liberal knowledge of these situations."

The court took 30 minutes to hand down his opinion. He commended opposing counsel for the able manner in which they presented the issues in question, declaring that "arguments were able and thorough on both sides."

"I am unable to believe the matter is as serious as some seem to think it is," Judge Jones said. "The facts in the pleadings are agreed upon. Is this a question wherein there is a violation of the constitution and the bill of rights? The question is: Is it going to be religious instruction or religious propaganda? But, religious instruction does not mean propaganda.

Authority Not Overreached.

"What is religion? 'Do justice and walk humbly before God.' This should be inculcated in the minds of all. What is religion? The Sermon on the Mount? The framers of the constitution wisely decreed that religion is essential to good government. We cannot shut our eyes to some of the modern tendencies. Look at the crime wave. It's not what the different churches teach, but the Holy Scriptures.

"The presumption is that those who may be engaged as teachers will instruct in the fundamentals in the highest sense, by teaching the relation of God to man and of man to God, and not a church ritual. When those wholesome rules are violated then it would be time to envoke the aid of the courts. The law permits religious instructions in public. It is not the business of the courts to regulate the actions of the board of education a bit more than it is to regulate the actions of the board of county commissioners. When the authority of such bodies are everreached, then the aid of the courts can be sought to right any wrong that has been committed.

Premature Action, Court Believes.

"This action is prematurely brought, I believe. The law is not contradictory unless there is some overt act. The court will not allow a danger signal to be hoisted before something is done.

"The grading of pupils in religious instruction is near the danger line, and I recommend that part of the plan be eliminated. The plan looks like one leading to the upbuilding of good morals and citizenship. If some people are alarmed, I think they are unduly so.

"The court will therefore sustain the demurrer to the evidence, and the temporary order is dismissed at the costs of the relator."

Find Bloody Fingerprints On Auto In Which Two Die

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 17.—Four bloody fingerprints on the left side of an automobile in which pretty Madeline Latimer of Milwaukee and James Sears, Kenosha garage man, were shot to death on the Howland avenue road six miles north of here, were today discovered by Chief of Police Thad L. Logan and Detective Sergt. Emil F. Meissner. A hurried call for Milwaukee's finger print expert, John Bauschek, was sent in by police officials in the hope that the impressions may be that of the murderer, although many other hands have been permitted on the car since it was removed form the scene of the tragedy.

Only after having exhausted all the obvious leads did the searchers finally return to the most logical field for evidence. The reason for this was due to the fact that Sheriff Frank Willems had ordered the car brought to the county garage immediately after its discovery and it was felt by the police who were not officially called into the case until yesterday by Coroner Joseph Friend that the deputies that drove the car had destroyed all chances of securing the murderer's fingerprints from the steering wheel. The slayers drove the car 300 feet away from the actual scene of the murder.

A number of minor leads are also being run down by the combined forces of the Sheriff, police and coroner's offices. The most important of these was the discovery of several blood stains under the Pike Creek bridge on the Howland road where the bodies were discovered. Specimens of the blood were collected and sent to Milwaukee Laboratories for analysis.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17. — Bartholomew Ulcar, 8, was dead today, the result of being run down by an auto in a street last night. The driver, held for investigation, said he stepped from behind a street car directly into the path of his machine.

Put House in Order.

Germany's delegation returns home to set his house in order and make every effort to meet the conditions which the allies have laid down to be fulfilled before there can be a relaxation of the terms of the treaty of Versailles. The allies' interpretation of article XVI is said to meet the demands of the Germans and it is understood that once Germany has convinced the allies of her intent to carry out the Versailles treaty that Great Britain has agreed to evacuate Cologne and France has promised that the Rineland will be relaxed.

Dr. Luther and Herr Stresseman realize that they will face some difficulties when they bring their program before the Reichstag, but they are confident they can overcome these obstacles.

Present plans are for a special meeting of the league of nations in December to admit Germany to membership.

Sign Pacts on Dec. 1.

aled here will be formally signed in aled here will be formally sined in London on December 1.

Once the security pact is actually in operation it is understood that the signatory powers will then lend their support to a disarmament conference, probably under the auspices of the league of nations. This understanding has been reached among the allies as a concession to Germany. The German statesmen declared that Germany alone is disarmed and that she can not enjoy equal privileges under the league of nations covenant unless other nations are similarly disarmed. To offset this the allies have promised to lend their support to a disarmament conference. It is understood that reference to this promise is made in the general protocol signed yesterday.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Initialing of the western security pact, hailed as a cause of general rejoicing in other European countries and as a historic step toward peace and moral stability, aroused only lugubrious comment in Germany's Nationalist newspapers today.

The fact that the approval of the Locarno delegates was not binding until their respective parliaments had approved, and that the contents of the pact have not been made public, were pointed out in these pessimistic comments, which warned that the rejoicing might prove premature. The results must be considered with suspicion as yet, the press said.

With the exception of Vowaerts, the Social Democratic organ, the enthusiasm of even the Democratic newspapers was dampened by the fact that Germany had secured no concessions as to the status of the Rhineland.

"If Germany passes up her chance this time," said Lokal Anzeiger, "she should realize she is no longer needed for any political bargaining in Europe."

Tageblatt recalls the late President Wilson's 14 points, on which the paper claimed Germany was duped.

COUNTY WATER SUPPLY SAFE

The water supply in Hancock county has been declared free from pollution and safe for use by L. F. Warwick of the State Department of Health who has just completed an inspection and survey of the water works in this county.

During his inspection tour the state representative was accompanied by Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health officer. The towns of Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Pughtown, Hollidays Cove and Weirton were visited. Several springs around Weirton and through the county at large were condemned but the water supplied by public water works all tested pure.

Dr. Ahouse has stated that at this time there is no sickness in the county traceable to polluted water, a condition which Mr. Warwick brands as very unusual and praiseworthy.

The county health head assisted by Miss Brown, county nurse, is now inspecting the school children and urging their parents to correct the defects in health they discover.

Cyrena Van Gordon to Appear In Concert Here Monday Night

"The American people have only themselves to blame for the foreign dominance of American opera," says Cyrena Van Gordon, dramatic mezzo-contralto with the Chicago Civic Opera company, who will appear here in a concert October 19 under the auspices of the Civic Music association.

"We shall never have real American opera until we change our deferential attitude toward everything imported. We claim to be patriotic, we wave the Star Spangled Banner, yet we regard with awe everything artistic that bears the foreign label," states Miss Van Gordon.

"Lillian Norton had to Italianize her name to 'Nordica' before she could gain recognition in America. Edward Johnson sang for years in Italy under the name of 'Eduardo de Giovanno' but was courageous enough to drop that name when he returned to his native America. Charles Marshall was known in Italy as 'Carlos Marziali.'"

"America," asserts Miss Van Gordon, "is producing just as good voices as France or Italy and has just as good schools of music. American audiences are beginning to realize this, and are according our native opera singers the recognition that they deserve.

"Of course, we shall need French, Italian, German and Russian opera," Miss Van Gordon hastens to explain, "and we shall need foreign stars to sing them, but the day is passing when singers will be engaged in this country merely on the strength of European reputation."

Miss Van Gordon has not only made an enviable name for herself in the realm of opera, but she is recognized everywhere as a superb concert singer.

PONY EXPRESS RIDER ARRIVES

Joseph W. Irwin Will Spend Week-end in City.

On a 610-mile trip, which began at Cleveland nearly two weeks ago, Joseph W. Irwin, of Cleveland, arrived here at noon today in pony express fashion.

The rider, who is a grandson of one of the original pony express riders, who carried messages through the west before the Civil war, was met at the postoffice by Chief of Police McDermott, Postmaster Edwin McClure and a large crowd. He was escorted to East Liverpool by a motorcycle officer and a delegation of Boy Scouts.

Irwin, who is 25 years old, carried the mail pouch used by the original riders, and also letters from mayors, postmasters and other citizens in towns in which he has visited. He is a member of the Black Horse troop, 107th Cavalry, Ohion national guard.

The pony express rider will spend the week-end here, where he and his horse will rest. He will leave early Monday morning for East Palestine, his next stop. From East Palestine he goes to Columbiana, Youngstown, Warren and back to Cleveland.

During the entire trip, Irwin is riding but one horse, "Hoppy," as he has been named. Thus far he has covered 290 miles, much of which has been done through snow and rainstorms.

He will compare time consumed in this trip with the time necessary to cover the same course by the more modern means of transportation — train, airplane and motor trucks.

He will rest for 10 to 12 days when he returns to Cleveland, after which he will make a trip from New York to San Francisco. During this journey he will use 55 mounts and stop only enough each day to get four or five hours sleep. From St. Joseph, Mo., from which point the original pony express riders started, to San Francisco, he will follow as nearly as possible the old trails used by the riders employed by the Wells-Fargo Express company about 65 years ago.

13 Injured, Heavy Property Damage in Storm in Kentucky

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Oct. 17.—Thirteen persons injured and a heavy property damage toll were left here today in the wake of a wind of near-tornado proportions which played havoc in a swath five miles wide and fifteen miles long through Hart and Warren counties in south central Kentucky yesterday.

Houses and barns crumbled before the rsush of the wind, trees were uprooted and material damage was done, the reports stated.

Unconfirmed reports said damage had been heaviest in Camner a town of 300 population to which communication had not been restored today.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—After forging ahead aggressively to new high price levels in the short session of the stock market today, industrial and motor stocks were cllled upon to absorb an enormous amount of profit taking, and values melted with surprising suddenness. All through the week's uproarious advance there has been considerable profit taking in all sections of the market, induced by the spread of the growing conservative attitude of Wall street interests.

Today there was a scramble to take profits near the close and the market wavered as values steadily declined.

Premature Action, Court Believes.

"This action is prematurely brought, I believe. The law is not contradictory unless there is some overt act. The court will not allow a danger signal to be hoisted before something is done.

"The grading of pupils in religious instruction is near the danger line, and I recommend that part of the plan be eliminated. The plan looks like one leading to the upbuilding of good morals and citizenship. If some people are alarmed, I think they are unduly so.

"The court will therefore sustain the demurrer to the evidence, and the temporary order is dismissed at the costs of the relator."

Find Bloody Fingerprints On Auto In Which Two Die

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 17.—Four bloody fingerprints on the left side of an automobile in which pretty Madeline Latimer of Milwaukee and James Sears, Kenosha garage man, were shot to death on the Howland avenue road six miles north of here, were today discovered by Chief of Police Thad L. Logan and Detective Sergt. Emil F. Meissner. A hurried call for Milwaukee's finger print expert, John Bauschek, was sent in by police officials in the hope that the impressions may be that of the murderer, although many other hands have been permitted on the car since it was removed form the scene of the tragedy.

Only after having exhausted all the obvious leads did the searchers finally return to the most logical field for evidence. The reason for this was due to the fact that Sheriff Frank Willems had ordered the car brought to the county garage immediately after its discovery and it was felt by the police who were not officially called into the case until yesterday by Coroner Joseph Friend that the deputies that drove the car had destroyed all chances of securing the murderer's fingerprints from the steering wheel. The slayers drove the car 300 feet away from the actual scene of the murder.

A number of minor leads are also being run down by the combined forces of the Sheriff, police and coroner's offices. The most important of these was the discovery of several blood stains under the Pike Creek bridge on the Howland road where the bodies were discovered. Specimens of the blood were collected and sent to Milwaukee Laboratories for analysis.

Boy Killed By Auto.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17. — Bartholomew Ulcar, 8, was dead today, the result of being run down by an auto in a street last night. The driver, held for investigation, said he stepped from behind a street car directly into the path of his machine.

The documents concluded here will probably be made public on Tuesday of next week, if arrangements to this end can be made.

Put House in Order.

Germany's delegation returns home to set his house in order and make every effort to meet the conditions which the allies have laid down to be fulfilled before there can be a relaxation of the terms of the treaty of Versailles. The allies' interpretation of article XVI is said to meet the demands of the Germans and it is understood that once Germany has convinced the allies of her intent to carry out the Versailles treaty that Great Britain has agreed to evacuate Cologne and France has promised that the Rineland will be relaxed.

Dr. Luther and Herr Stresseman realize that they will face some difficulties when they bring their program before the Reichstag, but they are confident they can overcome these obstacles.

Present plans are for a special meeting of the league of nations in December to admit Germany to membership.

aled here will be formally signed in aled here will be formally sined in London on December 1.

Once the security pact is actually in operation it is understood that the signatory powers will then lend their support to a disarmament conference, probably under the auspices of the league of nations. This understanding has been reached among the allies as a concession to Germany. The German statesmen declared that Germany alone is disarmed and that she can not enjoy equal privileges under the league of nations covenant unless other nations are similarly disarmed. To offset this the allies have promised to lend their support to a disarmament conference. It is understood that reference to this promise is made in the general protocol signed yesterday.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Initialing of the western security pact, hailed as a cause of general rejoicing in other European countries and as a historic step toward peace and moral stability, aroused only lugubrious comment in Germany's Nationalist newspapers today.

The fact that the approval of the Locarno delegates was not binding until their respective parliaments had approved, and that the contents of the pact have not been made public, were pointed out in these pessimistic comments, which warned that the rejoicing might prove premature. The results must be considered with suspicion as yet, the press said.

With the exception of Vowaerts, the Social Democratic organ, the enthusiasm of even the Democratic newspapers was dampened by the fact that Germany had secured no concessions as to the status of the Rhineland.

"If Germany passes up her chance this time," said Lokal Anzeiger, "she should realize she is no longer needed for any political bargaining in Europe."

Tageblatt recalls the late President Wilson's 14 points, on which the paper claimed Germany was duped.

COUNTY WATER SUPPLY SAFE

The water supply in Hancock county has been declared free from pollution and safe for use by L. F. Warwick of the State Department of Health who has just completed an inspection and survey of the water works in this county.

During his inspection tour the state representative was accompanied by Dr. John B. Ahouse, county health officer. The towns of Chester, Newell, New Cumberland, Pughtown, Hollidays Cove and Weirton were visited. Several springs around Weirton and through the county at large were condemned but the water supplied by public water works all tested pure.

Dr. Ahouse has stated that at this time there is no sickness in the county traceable to polluted water, a condition which Mr. Warwick brands as very unusual and praiseworthy.

The county health head assisted by Miss Brown, county nurse, is now inspecting the school children and urging their parents to correct the defects in health they discover.

The Story Of A Girl Who Dared

By Edgar Poe Norris

CHAPTER 71.

She sat regarding herself in the mirror of her exquisitely carved dresser. Her own face faded out, and there was reflected in her eyes two spectral figures in a shadowy scene on the wide veranda of Ainsley house on a Sunday afternoon. One of the figures is herself, and the other is Philip Weinrich.

She is entertaining, or rather tolerating, a caller.

"Now, Phil," she says, "I don't know whether I am going to marry you. She regards the diamond gleaming on the third finger of her left hand.

"Why, Amoura," the spectral Philip exclaims. "What do you mean?"

"You mean," he flushes, "that our engagement is at an end? That everything is over?"

"Don't be dramatic, Phil. I'm not jilting you to marry some one else. I love you as much now as I ever have—if I have loved you." The wraith of Philip Weinrich winces at this. "But I've been digging deep into myself to find out, if I can, what I know and what I don't know. And I find I don't know anything. I've been brought up to be a LADY, and consequently I'm totally ignorant of all the big things that really matter. I don't know how to do anything, except, perhaps, bang a piano in the conventionally approved Miss Priscilla fashion. Listen, Phil, if our parents were to die tomorrow and leave us penniless, we would be as helpless as babes in the woods. Neither of us could earn enough to feed ourselves. We'd be worse off than the most miserable family down in that alley. And here we are preparing to marry, and raise a family—."

"But," is the protest, "they aren't going to leave us penniless, and besides, I—."

"No, Phil, there's no use arguing," she says. "You know I'm right; or you ought to know."

The other spectre regards her sullenly.

"We need not say anything about the engagement being broken. I'll wear your ring until I go away, then I'll return it. Then mother can diplomatically let it be known that everything is off."

"You're going away! Where?"

"I don't chose to tell you—or anyone," she says, rising. Seated, he gazes at her as one awe-stricken. "Amoura! What—."

She bends over and kisses him like a child caressing a dog. With that she leaves him alone on the veranda. . . .

With the whole scene vividly impressed upon her mind, Amoura sits there at the mirror as one in a trance. Then the spectres disappear and her own face is reflected. Calmly she regards herself. Has she changed since then? Has Philip? She couldn't imagine Philip being any other than the Philip she had parted from that day in Chicago, but in her mind there was little relation between the Amoura of then and now. (Human, very human.)

She dressed very carefully and went down to the sun parlor to await his coming. Her heart missed a beat or two when Della announced him.

"It's good to see you again," she said, extending both hands.

He gave one of his funny little bows—it was little more than a nod—as he took her hands lightly. "You are as beautiful as ever, Amoura," he remarked simply.

"I know you're lying, but say it again." She mimicked the expression of her casual friend in La Houbierre's dressing room.

"You are as beautiful as ever, Amoura," he repeated solemnly.

They both laughed.

"Philip, I'm dying to see the roads and the woods. I haven't dared to venture out alone, except once, because of the staring eyes."

"I was going to suggest it."

An hour later they sat on the stump of a tree in the shadow of another ten times as old as Westland, intent on the vast panorama spread out below.

They had been silent for many minutes when Philip spoke.

"I want to tell you," Amoura, that—." He hesitated.

MISSING WEIRTON MAN IS SOUGHT

Police of two states are looking for Anas Simon, 28, Syrian coffee house proprietor of Weirton, who disappeared one week ago and has not been seen since. A reward has been offered for information as to his whereabouts.

His wife says that she knows of no reason for his disappearance, unless foul play befell him. He had paid all of his debts the day before, and she had had no trouble with him.

PEAKS OF PACIFIC NOT REALLY DEAD

Might Again Burst Out as Volcanoes.

Tacoma, Wash.—Ice-crowned volcanic cones along the Pacific coast generally are presumed to be dead. Scientists, however, agree they are not merely burned-out shells, but that it is entirely possible they may erupt at any time.

Mount Rainier and Mount Baker in Washington, Mount Hood in Oregon and Mount Shasta and Lassen peak in California are individuals in a great series of volcanoes that extends in a circle for 10,000 miles or more around the North Pacific ocean in both North America and Asia.

There was a time, in the opinion of the scientists, when these peaks were in violent eruption at the same time, so that a chain of fire bounds the Pacific coast, for the five peaks are so close together that any one in eruption could be observed from its nearest neighbors.

Lassen Alone Now Is Active.

Since 1914 Lassen has been in frequent eruption, and it is regarded as scientifically established that not one of the volcanoes can be called dead. All except Lassen have been quiet for several thousand years, in the opinion of expert reckoning.

During the last century there have been several minor eruptions from Mount Rainier, the mightiest of the five volcanoes. It has been hundreds of years since the great peak blew off a half mile of its top and scattered volcanic ash to a depth of hundreds of feet over what now is Washington.

Almost every year faint earthquakes are recorded on Rainier, and steam still issues from the crater, which is half a mile across. This steam is so intense that great caverns have been melted in the snow that fills the crater.

These caves, sheltered from the winds and warmed by the escaping steam, have often proved of advantage to persons scaling the peak.

Owed Lives to Warm Caverns.

Stephens and Van Trump, the first white men to conquer Mount Rainier, more than half a century ago, undoubtedly owed their lives to these steam caves. It would have been impossible for them to have retraced their steps in the darkness, and they could not have lived through a night on the summit without blankets or other protection if it had not been for the timely discovery of the warm caverns.

The steam on top of Mount Rainier is so hot that it will transform a pan of snow to boiling water in ten minutes. Eggs can be cooked if placed in the hot pumice of the crater.

Many Indians on Farms In State of New York

Albany, N. Y.—More than 23,000 acres of land are under cultivation by Indians in New York state, a recent census shows. Some Indians run farms as large as from 300 to 400 acres, and only basketry can compare with farming on the reservations.

PEAKS OF PACIFIC NOT REALLY DEAD

Might Again Burst Out as Volcanoes.

Tacoma, Wash.—Ice-crowned volcanic cones along the Pacific coast generally are presumed to be dead. Scientists, however, agree they are not merely burned-out shells, but that it is entirely possible they may erupt at any time.

Mount Rainier and Mount Baker in Washington, Mount Hood in Oregon and Mount Shasta and Lassen peak in California are individuals in a great series of volcanoes that extends in a circle for 10,000 miles or more around the North Pacific ocean in both North America and Asia.

There was a time, in the opinion of the scientists, when these peaks were in violent eruption at the same time, so that a chain of fire bounds the Pacific coast, for the five peaks are so close together that any one in eruption could be observed from its nearest neighbors.

Lassen Alone Now Is Active.

Since 1914 Lassen has been in frequent eruption, and it is regarded as scientifically established that not one of the volcanoes can be called dead. All except Lassen have been quiet for several thousand years, in the opinion of expert reckoning.

During the last century there have been several minor eruptions from Mount Rainier, the mightiest of the five volcanoes. It has been hundreds of years since the great peak blew off a half mile of its top and scattered volcanic ash to a depth of hundreds of feet over what now is Washington.

Almost every year faint earthquakes are recorded on Rainier, and steam still issues from the crater, which is half a mile across. This steam is so intense that great caverns have been melted in the snow that fills the crater.

These caves, sheltered from the winds and warmed by the escaping steam, have often proved of advantage to persons scaling the peak.

Owed Lives to Warm Caverns.

Stephens and Van Trump, the first white men to conquer Mount Rainier, more than half a century ago, undoubtedly owed their lives to these steam caves. It would have been impossible for them to have retraced their steps in the darkness, and they could not have lived through a night on the summit without blankets or other protection if it had not been for the timely discovery of the warm caverns.

The steam on top of Mount Rainier is so hot that it will transform a pan of snow to boiling water in ten minutes. Eggs can be cooked if placed in the hot pumice of the crater.

WOMEN GRANTED DIVORCE DECREES

On the grounds of extreme cruelty, a divorce has been granted Adda M. Wilkes against her husband, Henry C. Wilkes. The custody of the children has been awarded the plaintiff by the court.

Extreme cruelty was also the grounds upon which the divorce action of Blanche G. Snyder based her action for divorce against her husband, George C. Snyder. There was no contest in this case when it went to trial.

Hearing Continued.

The hearing on the citation in the divorce action of Marie Prince of Salem against her husband, Paul Prince, which was to have come up in common pleas court Friday, has been continued until Nov. 2.

Two Divorce Actions.

James Lester Prosser, who was married at New Cumberland, W. Va., Sept. 26, 1918, has filed an action for divorce in common pleas court against his wife, Annie M. Prosser. The petition declares that Mrs. Prosser has been guilty of extreme cruelty.

John McMillen, whose last known address was New Cumberland, W. Va., has been sued for divorce by his wife Hazel McMillen, whom she married at Lisbon, March 4, 1920. Wilful absence is charged in the petition.

Case Settled.

After pending in common pleas court for over a year, the case of W. F. Smith as receiver against James McConnell and others has been finally settled.

Denied New Trial.

A motion for a new trial has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore in the case of Bell Bruder against Simon Burson, in which action a jury recently returned a verdict for $400. The plaintiff sued to recover $2,000 as a result of an automobile accident. Exceptions to the ruling of the court has been taken by the plaintiff, and a judgment for $400 and plaintiff's costs has been handed down by the court.

Petition Filed.

William H. Pancake, as trustee under the will of Joel Johnson, deceased, has filed his petition in common pleas court against Levi George of Negley and others, asking the court to place a construction upon the will of the decedent.

Case Appealed.

After Abe Griffith was awarded a judgment by default for $40 for work and labor in the court of Justice of the Peace P. V. Mackall in East Liverpool against Verne Carson, the defendant then took an appeal to common pleas court, the transcript having just been filed.

Motion Overruled.

In the $25,000 damage action filed in common pleas court by Elizabeth Clark against Robert Auld, a motion to amend the petition has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore, to which the defendant has taken exceptions. Leave has been granted the defendant to plead by October 31.

Seeks Alimony.

Claiming that she is 60 years of age, and that her husband left her March 15 last without cause and abandoned her, Elizabeth Meek has filed a petition for alimony in common pleas court against her husband, William Meek. The couple were married at Wilkinsburg, Pa., January 29, 1906.

WOMEN GRANTED DIVORCE DECREES

On the grounds of extreme cruelty, a divorce has been granted Adda M. Wilkes against her husband, Henry C. Wilkes. The custody of the children has been awarded the plaintiff by the court.

Extreme cruelty was also the grounds upon which the divorce action of Blanche G. Snyder based her action for divorce against her husband, George C. Snyder. There was no contest in this case when it went to trial.

Hearing Continued.

The hearing on the citation in the divorce action of Marie Prince of Salem against her husband, Paul Prince, which was to have come up in common pleas court Friday, has been continued until Nov. 2.

Two Divorce Actions.

James Lester Prosser, who was married at New Cumberland, W. Va., Sept. 26, 1918, has filed an action for divorce in common pleas court against his wife, Annie M. Prosser. The petition declares that Mrs. Prosser has been guilty of extreme cruelty.

John McMillen, whose last known address was New Cumberland, W. Va., has been sued for divorce by his wife Hazel McMillen, whom she married at Lisbon, March 4, 1920. Wilful absence is charged in the petition.

Case Settled.

After pending in common pleas court for over a year, the case of W. F. Smith as receiver against James McConnell and others has been finally settled.

Denied New Trial.

A motion for a new trial has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore in the case of Bell Bruder against Simon Burson, in which action a jury recently returned a verdict for $400. The plaintiff sued to recover $2,000 as a result of an automobile accident. Exceptions to the ruling of the court has been taken by the plaintiff, and a judgment for $400 and plaintiff's costs has been handed down by the court.

Petition Filed.

William H. Pancake, as trustee under the will of Joel Johnson, deceased, has filed his petition in common pleas court against Levi George of Negley and others, asking the court to place a construction upon the will of the decedent.

Case Appealed.

After Abe Griffith was awarded a judgment by default for $40 for work and labor in the court of Justice of the Peace P. V. Mackall in East Liverpool against Verne Carson, the defendant then took an appeal to common pleas court, the transcript having just been filed.

Motion Overruled.

In the $25,000 damage action filed in common pleas court by Elizabeth Clark against Robert Auld, a motion to amend the petition has been overruled by Judge James G. Moore, to which the defendant has taken exceptions. Leave has been granted the defendant to plead by October 31.

Seeks Alimony.

Claiming that she is 60 years of age, and that her husband left her March 15 last without cause and abandoned her, Elizabeth Meek has filed a petition for alimony in common pleas court against her husband, William Meek. The couple were married at Wilkinsburg, Pa., January 29, 1906.

MIKE CEBULA, CHESTER HURLER, LEADS RIVALS IN INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

Frank Riley's Ace, Big Factor in Chester's "Baby World's Series" Conquests, Wins 15 Games and Loses Three During Season; Strikes Out 108 Batters in the 113 Innings in Which he Works; Thomas and Pollock Among Leaders.

Mike Cebula, Pilot Frank Riley's "ace,' easily qualifies as the leading pitcher of the City Industrial League with a percentage of .833 for 15 victories and three defeats during the 1925 season, according to figures by T. T. Jones, league statistican. He did not lose a single game in the initial half of the year. His trio of losses occurred in the second section, when, following a slight indisposition, he started out lacking his old form.

He lost one to Laughlin, one to K. T. K., and one to Babcock and Wilcox.

His victories in the second half were: Two from K. T. K., one each from Trotter and Wellsville.

In the first half he won 11 games. He then defeated Trotters four times; K. T. K., thrice; Laughlin twice; and B. & W. and Wellsville once each.

Cebula pitched the most innings during the season—113; struck out the greatest number of batsmen—108; and also walked the most—42.

Cebula and Thomas, of Laughlin, were in 19 games each as pitchers while R. Pollock started in 20 or part of full contests with Howell and P. Bennett of B. & W., and Sainor, of K. T. K., in 16 each.

Next to Cebula with 113 innings, was Thomas, of Laughlin, who hurled 103 innings. Then followed R. Pollock, of Trotter, with 98 1-3 and Sainor of K. T. & K., and Stoffel, of K. T. K., who haved 81 1-3 and 78 innings, respectivaly.

Sainor, of K. T. K., allowed the most runs—61. P. Bennett, of B. & W., permitted 59 and M. Cebula of Chester, 57, with Powell, of the same club right behind with 56.

Sainor, of K. T. K., permitted the greatest number of hits, 94, with M. Cebula second, 81 being made off him, and 79 off P. Bennett, of B. & W., with Stoffel, of K. T. K., and Thomas, of Laughlin, following closely with 75 each.

In strikeouts, M. Cebula took honors with 108 with Thomas, of Laughlin, second with 82 and R. Pollock, of Trotter, third with 61. Sainor of K. T. K., fanned 53 and Stoffel of K. T. K., and Powell, of Chester, 50 each.

"Mike" walked 42 men, the top number. Thomas of Laughlin, passed 34, third to Howell, of B. & W., who sent 37 to first base in this manner.

M. Cebula hit seven batters during the season, and Bucher, of K. T. K., who was in less than half of the number of games in which the former worked, landed just as many times on the opposition's anatomy. Sainor, of K. T. K., and McGeehan, of B. & W., hit five each.

In all, 51 different players essayed to do hilltop duty at various times during the season. They were divided among the seven teams as follows: Wellsvile 11; Chester 10; B. & W., 9; Laughlin and K. T. K., 8 each and Trotter, 5. Manager Fowler used only R. Pollock, Deshler, Barr, Heckathorne and Sawyer during the scheduled engagements.

Complete statistics on all pitchers will be announced later.

By T. E. Steward.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—Like the corn crop in mid July, the Minnesota football squad has come to a nice stand, but it remains to be seen how it will head out. Minnesota's new coach, Dr. Clarence W. Spears, who did such fine things for West Virginia, has only a smattering of veterans among his material, but they give the impression of knowing plenty of football.

CAPT ASCHER

Spears' lads licked North Dakota 25 to 6 the first week out and the following Saturday trounced Grinnell 34 to 6. The first big test, however, comes when the team faces Notre Dame here Oct. 24.

Center One of Big Stars.

Con Cooper, the Minnesota center from wildest South Dakota, seems to be about the only man with a position really cinched. With him as veterans from last year's team are Captain Ascher, a punter and passer who can also rip off some nice gains from his position at right half; Malcolm Graham, a really fast man who has had two years of backfield experience; Bob Peplaw, also a 10-second man but who has been hampered by knee injuries in past seasons, and Pete Guzy, a wonderful passer who unfortunately falls considerably below conference standards in weight. These represent the veteran backfield material.

Four veteran ends are showing the stuff. Fred Just, Chuck Morris, Roger Wheeler and George Tuttle. A new lad by the name of O'Brien has been performing splendidly at end in practice and seems sure to have a look-in during the season.

Two former high school stars in Minneapolis, Malvin Nydahl and Shorty Almquist, are giving some of the quarter and halfback candidates a nice bit of competition, while among other backfield aspirants, Herbert Joesting, Dutch Arendsee and Bill O'Shields, a negro player, look pretty good.

Developing New Guards.

A wholly new set of guards and tackles is being worked up by the doctor and his helpers. Minnesota's stalwart line of three years' experience vanished when the fires of class day died away on the campus last June. The big problem of the coaches lies between the ends, outside of center. Meili, Drill, Kaminski, Allison, Gary and Messmer are among the linesmen who are looking good.

BULLDOGS TAKE ON AKRON TIGERS

CANTON, Oct. 17.—Canton Bulldogs will attempt to get back in the running for the national professional football title here Sunday afternoon when they meet the Akron Tigers who are tied with Rock Island and Detroit for the leadership in the National league.

The Bulldogs had their title aspirations temporarily halted last week when they were beaten by Philadelphia Yellow Jackets and Pottsville, but a victory tomorrow will give them a good opportunity to again figure in the championship rating.

So far Akron has scored victories over Cleveland and Kansas City and tied Buffalo. The Bulldogs have won from Dayton and Rochester and lost two two games. Indications point to a close battle.

In an effort to strengthen the team the Bulldogs have signed three new players this week. McRoberts and Kyle, graduates of Westminster college, joined the squad. They were members of the Toronto team until this week. The other addition was Paul Hogan, former Washington & Jefefrson and Detroit U. star.

It is likely that Hogan will be at quarter today as Robb is suffering from three cracked ribs received in the Pottsville game. Pete Henry, all-time all-American tackle is not likely to see action due to a deep cut over his left eye received against Philadelphia.

Ruel Redinger, former Colgate star, who was unable to play last weeyk because of strained muscle in his back, will be back in the lineup tomorrow and will probably play one half.

OBERLIN FACES SECOND TEST

Clash on Home Lot With Thorpe's Mount Squad.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17.—Oberlin, conqueror of Wooster last Saturday, today meets its second conference test when Coach Thorpe's Mount Union eleven plays at Oberlin. Case goes to Akron for a game with Akron U. and Ohio Northern journeys to Delaware, where it meets Ohio Wesleyan, which defeated it last year by a score of 3 to 2. Other Ohio conference games include: Wooster vs. Western Reserve at Cleveland; Heidelberg vs. Baldwin Wallace at Berea; Wittenberg vs. St. Xavier at Cincinnati, and Muskingum vs. Kenyon at Gabrier.

Non-conference games to be played on Ohio gridirons today are: John Carroll vs. Dayton at Dayton; Ohio University vs. Toledo at Toledo; Urbana vs. Wilmington at Wilmington; Findlay vs. Bluffton at Bluffton; Ashland vs. Denison at Granville, and Thansylvania vs. Miami at Oxford.

SAILORS-TIGERS AT BALTIMORE

By George Barry.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 17.—This town went on a gala holiday today for the annual Navy-Princeton football game.

Deprived of the Army-Navy classic, Baltimore and Washington fans flocked to the stadium for the biggest feast of this year's local football menu.

It promised to be a treat well worth the journeying.

Smarting under last season's defeat, Navy, with a new coach, Jack Owsley, formerly of Yale, and a better balanced team generally, ruled a slight favorite with the crowd. The sailors already have won handily two games this year.

Princeton, despite victories over Amherst and Washington and Lee, has not been as impressive. The Tigers, however, have been thoroughly revamped during the last week by Coach Bill Roper and were ready to throw in the strongest lineup of the season.

It remained, however, one of those games in which anything might happen—as it generally does when the Tiger fights the Goat.

RAIN DROPS PLAY PRELUDE TO MIDDLE WEST'S PREMIER---COLUMBIA VS. STATE

ILLINOIS-IOWA ATTRACT FANS

By George A. Strickler.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Saturday for the first time in twelve months, football, king in the college court, will parade the walks of popularity unchllenged by baseball and its mighty following.

Leading the great athletic promenade in the middles west will be the Illinois-Iowa game at Iowa City, a contest of father against son, Zuppke of Illinois portraying the paternal role with Ingwerson, the beligerent offspring.

Aside from it's import as a conference title race tilt, the game will attract attention as the meeting of Grange, all-American iceman, and Kutsch, sophomore upstart of Iowa, Grange has yet to exhibit in his customary phenomenal manner this fall, and in this game will undoubtedly be pressed for honors by the fleet Hawkeye half-back, who is making his maiden appearance in a conference game.

Other games of little less importance are the Chicago-Northwestern joust and the family argument at Madison, where Yost and Little clash figuratively while Michigan and Wisconsin take to task the matter of big ten rating.

At Indiana Ingram will test a new offense against Syracuse. Purdue will forego conference competition for another week, tackling a hoosier entry from Rose Poly, and Minnesota takes on Wabash at Mineapolis. Butler and Franklin play at Indianapolis and at Davenport St. Ambrose is host to Loyola.

TIGERS ARE SET FOR MILWAUKEE

The Toronto Tigers are in excellent condition for their game tomorrow afternoon at Kilgus field with the Milwaukee Pros. of the National Professional football league, according to Manager Tom Gilligan.

Manager Gilligan today denied reports that Hogan, Nesser and other Tiger stars had joined the Canton Bulldogs. He declared that he would have his entire squad on the field against the Milwaukee invaders, including Sol Butler, the colored flash, and others who aided in Toronto's victory over Hammond two weeks ago.

Sunday's contest is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

Fans Disappointed Because Wet Field Will Slow up Running Attacks and Passes of Both Teams.

By JACK CEJNAR.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 17.—The drip, drip, drip of a steady rain played the prelude today to the middle west's football premier—the intersectional clash between Columbia and Ohio State universities.

The weeping skies brought disappointment to thousands of Buckeye fans for a wet field meant the slowing up of the running attacks and overhead offenses of both teams, upon which the fans had expected to feast their eyes.

Today was the day and 2:30 p. m. the time, when Elmer Marek, a highly touted, corn-fed youth from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was to make his debut in the Ohio State stadium as a successor to Chic Harley.

For years Ohio State supporters have scanned their football horizon for a man to fill the immortal Harley's shoes. Coach John W. Wilce has assured them that the young Hawkeye athlete would step into them and not rattle around inside. Some of his more optimistic assistants have even indicated Harley's shoes might pinch the 1925 find. Accordingly the fans, some 40,000 of them, as advance ticket sales indicated, planned to be present this afternoon and see this meteoric son of Mrs. Marek in action.

As to the outcome of the game, campus opinion seemed evenly divided today. While both Coach Charles Crowley and Coach Wilce smeared the bear dope on heavily, the fans, in face of the bad weather and the heavy field called it a toss-up.

Coach Crowley claimed his crew was outweighed, and that the rain therefore operated in favor of Ohio State. He also pointed out that his team had not yet gone through the acid test of a big game, as the Buckeye gridders did when they met and tied Stagg's veteran eleven in Chicago last week.

On the other hand Coach Wilce was lamenting that he was forced to send a squad of cripples against the flashy visitors who ran up 170 points on their first three opponents this season and kept their own goals uncrossed.

The probable lineup:

Columbia.		Ohio State.
Furey	L. E.	Cunningham
Weiberg	L. T.	Urifil
Shaw	L. G.	Hess
Schimmettitsch	C	Klein
Rappael	R. G.	Myers
Aulich	R. T.	Nickols
Wagner	R. E.	Rowan
Capt. Pease	Q. B.	Grim
Kirchmeyer	F. B.	Karow
Madden	H. B.	Marek
Sessit	H. B.	Clark

Officials—H. P. Swain, Dickinson, umpire; H. C. McCreath, Boston, referee; Don Hamilton, Notre Dame, field judge; H. J. Thompson, Georgetown, head linesman.

Time of periods—15 minutes.

Freed From All Baseball Rivalry, Football Becomes The Whole Show

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Football occupied all three rings and the center platform today, freed at least from the rivalry of any late-lingering counter attraction. Just to prove its right to attention, the national gridiron offered a number of games guaranteed to be fatal to plenty of campuc bric-a-brac before the dawn of another day.

The excellence of the program extended from the sun-kissed western slopes to the coast made famous by rum and from New England to Dixie, giving the day a right to more consideration than any other football date before November.

Four noteworthy contests were scheduled for eastern fields, the most interesting of these, an intersectional dispute of long standing between the Army and Notre Dame. Both were present with strong teams, in the opinion of any neutral observer. But both coaches disclaimed any hopes of winning. In fact, Knute Rockne, the wizard of South Bend, said a defeat would do his boys good. This led to the suggestion that Rockne and Captain McEwan of West Point trade teams and pray for victory.

Yale and Pennsylvania renewed a gridiron acquaintance permitted to lapse for 32 years. The Blue and Red hoped to extend the Bulldog, despite Yale's record of two season's unbroken victory. Penn itself was without defeat and favorably mentioned for sectional honors last year.

Princeton and Navy each encountered their first serious opposition in the Annapolis schedule, the number of youngsters in the tiger line leading to the belief that a fast and heavy group of middies might do more than make it interesting for the Orange and Black.

Harvard was due for its first hard workout against Holy Cross. The Crimson has shown signs of living down several sour memories of last year, but Holy Cross owned up to the loss of several important men from the 1924 lineup.

Other eastern games were: Cornell vs. Rutgers, Pittsburgh vs. Gettysburg, Brown vs. Bates, Washington and Jefferson vs. Carnegie, Boston College vs. Boston University, Delaware vs. Swarthmore and Dartmouth vs. Maine.

WOOSTER MEETS RESERVE CREW

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17. — While Wooster's defeat by Oberlin last week robbed fans of the hope of seeing a prospective champion in action, a capacity crowd was expected this afternoon to witness the game between Western Reserve and Wooster at Van Horn field. All indications pointed to a victory for Wooster, as Reserve in its game thus far has failed to show the punch that it displayed last year.

The lineup:

Reserve		Wooster
Crowl (C)	L.F.	Pfeffer
West	L.T.	Saurer
Carpenter	L.G.	Layport (C)
Morton	C.	Critchfield
Summerfield	R.G.	Wyckoff
Finn	R.T.	Null
Cathcart	R.E.	Junkin
Prestage	Q.B.	Siskowic
Havel	L.H.	Lehman
Lariche	R.H.	Blough
Phypers	F.B.	Fox

YALE FAVORITE OVER PENN 11

Eli Backfield, However, Slowed up by Injuries.

By Larry Smits.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 17. — Yale ruled a five to three favorite in the renewal of football relations with Pennsylvania today after a lapse of 32 years, but the fans who flocked from Pennsylvania points were willing to lay four to three that Penn would score on the much-revised Blue team.

The prospects at an early hour were that Phil Bunnell, Bulldog quarterback, would remain alone of the regulars in the backfield, at least for any considerable part of the game. Dan Allen was still suffering from a sore hand from the Georgia game and the mashed nose Ben Cutler received probably would necessitate his demoval. Billy Kline, plunging half, ruined a knee in Thursday's practice and was an unlikely bet today.

Penn had less ill luck with injuries, although Captain Willson's painful boil, which threatened his incapacity, was not expected to improve his play. The Red and Blue team counted on the low-running, and hard-hitting Krueze to make heavy gains through the Yale line.

INTERSECTIONAL TILT CALLS FOR SPOTLIGHT ON TODAY'S SCHEDULE

"Four Footmen" take Horsemen's Places on Midwest Outfit, and They Use Their Feet Extremely Well, Says Walsh; New Forward Line is Believed to Have Decided Edge on 1924 Seven Both Coaches Predict Defeat.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The moot question of whether the genius that is Knute Rockne can make a vest out of a button hole will come down to a definite decision before a record crowd at the Yankees' stadium this afternoon when a virgin Notre Dame eleven will resume its annual series with the Army. It will be a strange list of names that Rockne will hand to the officials at the start of the game.

The famed four horsemen will ride no more. A 1924 guard will appear at fullback. A substitute end of last year will captain the outfit. The remainder of the 1924 championship team has passed on.

In place of the four horsemen—Stuhldreher, Miller, Crowley and Layden—he has stepped forward with the four footmen — Edwards, O'Boyle, Hearnden and Hanousek—and the way they have used their pedic extremities in the open field to date has more than justified the title.

They may lack the precision and absolute perfection that characterized last year's backfield but the debit is said to have been overcome by the fact that the 1925 Notre Dame line is believed to have an edge on its immediate predecessor, which was good enough.

It will be viewed by a great crowd, the greatest that has attended a sport event in New York, barring boxing. The stadium was an absolute sell-out last night and the crowd will not be less than 70,000, rain or shine.

Both of the coaches, Rockne and McEwan, have tried to beat each other to the punch. They lost no time in conceding a defeat for their respective teams some days ago. No doubt about it, one of these gentlemen is absolutely right, barring a tie.

The probable lineup:

MIKE CEBULA, CHESTER HURLER, LEADS RIVALS IN INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE

Frank Riley's Ace, Big Factor in Chester's "Baby World's Series" Conquests, Wins 15 Games and Loses Three During Season; Strikes Out 108 Batters in the 113 Innings in Which he Works; Thomas and Pollock Among Leaders.

Mike Cebula, Pilot Frank Riley's "ace," easily qualifies as the leading pitcher of the City Industrial League with a percentage of .833 for 15 victories and three defeats during the 1925 season, according to figures by T. T. Jones, league statistican. He did not lose a single game in the initial half of the year. His trio of losses occurred in the second section, when, following a slight indisposition, he started out lacking his old form.

He lost one to Laughlin, one to K. T. K., and one to Babcock and Wilcox.

His victories in the second half were: Two from K. T. K., one each from Trotter and Wellsville.

In the first half he won 11 games. He then defeated Trotters four times; K. T. K., thrice; Laughlin twice; and B. & W. and Wellsville once each.

Cebula pitched the most innings during the season—113; struck out the greatest number of batsmen—108; and also walked the most—42.

Cebula and Thomas, of Laughlin, were in 19 games each as pitchers while R. Pollock started in 20 or part of full contests with Howell and P. Bennett of B. & W., and Sainor, of K. T. K., in 16 each.

Next to Cebula with 113 innings, was Thomas, of Laughlin, who hurled 103 innings. Then followed R. Pollock, of Trotter, with 98 1-3 and Sainor of K. T. & K., and Stoffel, of K. T. K., who haved 81 1-3 and 78 innings, respectivaly.

Sainor, of K. T. K., allowed the most runs—61. P. Bennett, of B. & W., permitted 59 and M. Cebula of Chester, 57, with Powell, of the same club right behind with 56.

Sainor, of K. T. K., permitted the greatest number of hits, 94, with M. Cebula second, 81 being made off him, and 79 off P. Bennett, of B. & W., with Stoffel, of K. T. K., and Thomas, of Laughlin, following closely with 75 each.

In strikeouts, M. Cebula took honors with 108 with Thomas, of Laughlin, second with 82 and R. Pollock, of Trotter, third with 61. Sainor of K. T. K., fanned 53 and Stoffel of K. T. K., and Powell, of Chester, 50 each.

"Mike" walked 42 men, the top number. Thomas of Laughlin, passed 34, third to Howell, of B. & W., who sent 37 to first base in this manner.

M. Cebula hit seven batters during the season, and Bucher, of K. T. K., who was in less than half of the number of games in which the former worked, landed just as many times on the opposition's anatomy. Sainor, of K. T. K., and McGeehan, of B. & W., hit five each.

In all, 51 differeent players essayed to do hilltop duty at various times during the season. They were divided among the seven teams as follows: Wellsvile 11; Chester 10; B. & W., 9; Laughlin and K. T. K., 8 each and Trotter, 5. Manager Fowler used only R. Pollock, Deshler, Barr, Heckathorne and Sawyer during the scheduled engagments.

Complete statistics on all pitchers will be announced later.

By T. E. Steward.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 17.—Like the corn crop in mid July, the Minnesota football squad has come to a nice stand, but it remains to be seen how it will head out. Minnesota's new coach, Dr. Clarence W. Spears, who did such fine things for West Virginia, has only a smattering of veterans among his material, but they give the impression of knowing plenty of football.

CAPT. ASCHER

Spears' lads licked North Dakota 25 to 6 the first week out and the following Saturday trounced Grinnell 34 to 6. The first big test, however, comes when the team faces Notre Dame here Oct. 24.

Center One of Big Stars.

Con Cooper, the Minnesota center from wildest South Dakota, seems to be about the only man with a position really cinched. With him as veterans from last year's team are Captain Ascher, a punter and passer who can also rip off some nice gains from his position at right half; Malcolm Graham, a really fast man who has had two years of backfield experience; Bob Peplaw, also a 10-second man but who has been hampered by knee injuries in past seasons, and Pete Guzy, a wonderful passer who unfortunately falls considerably below conference standards in weight. These represent the veteran backfield material.

Four veteran ends are showing the stuff. Fred Just, Chuck Morris, Roger Wheeler and George Tuttle. A new lad by the name of O'Brien has been performing splendidly at end in practice and seems sure to have a look-in during the season.

Two former high school stars in Minneapolis, Malvin Nydahl and Shorty Almquist, are giving some of the quarter and halfback candidates a nice bit of competition, while among other backfield aspirants, Herbert Joesting, Dutch Arendsee and Bill O'Shields, a negro player, look pretty good.

Developing New Guards.

A wholly new set of guards and tackles is being worked up by the doctor and his helpers. Minnesota's stalwart line of three years' experience vanished when the fires of class day died away on the campus last June. The big problem of the coaches lies between the ends, outside of center. Meili, Drill, Kaminski, Allison, Curry and Messmer are among the linesmen who are looking good.

BULLDOGS TAKE ON AKRON TIGERS

CANTON, Oct. 17.—Canton Bulldogs will attempt to get back in the running for the national professional football title here Sunday afternoon when they meet the Akron Tigers who are tied with Rock Island and Detroit for the leadership in the National league.

The Bulldogs had their title aspirations temporarily halted last week when they were beaten by Philadelphia Yellow Jackets and Pottsville, but a victory tomorrow will give them a good opportunity to again figure in the championship rating.

So far Akron has scored victories over Cleveland and Kansas City and tied Buffalo. The Bulldogs have won from Dayton and Rochester and lost two two games. Indications point to a close battle.

In an effort to strengthen the team the Bulldogs have signed three new players this week. McRoberts and Kyle, graduates of Westminster college, joined the squad. They were members of the Toronto team until this week. The other addition was Paul Hogan, former Washington & Jefefrson and Detroit U. star.

It is likely that Hogan will be at quarter today as Robb is suffering from three cracked ribs received in the Pottsville game. Pete Henry, all-time all-American tackle is not likely to see action due to a deep cut over his left eye received against Philadelphia.

Ruel Redinger, former Colgate star, who was unable to play last weeyk because of strained muscle in his back, will be back in the lineup tomorrow and will probably play one half.

OBERLIN FACES SECOND TEST

Clash on Home Lot With Thorpe's Mount Squad.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17.—Oberlin, conqueror of Wooster last Saturday, today meets its second conference test when Coach Thorpe's Mount Union eleven plays at Oberlin. Case goes to Akron for a game with Akron U. and Ohio Northern journeys to Delaware, where it meets Ohio Wesleyan, which defeated it last year by a score of 3 to 2. Other Ohio conference games include: Wooster vs. Western Reserve at Cleveland; Heidelberg vs. Baldwin Wallace at Berea; Wittenberg vs. St. Xavier at Cincinnati, and Muskingum vs. Kenyon at Gabrier.

Non-conference games to be played on Ohio gridirons today are: John Carroll vs. Dayton at Dayton; Ohio University vs. Toledo at Toledo; Urbana vs. Wilmington at Wilmington; Findlay vs. Bluffton at Bluffton; Ashland vs. Denison at Granville, and Thansylvania vs. Miami at Oxford.

SAILORS-TIGERS AT BALTIMORE

By George Barry.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 17.—This town went on a gala holiday today for the annual Navy-Princeton football game.

Deprived of the Army-Navy classic, Baltimore and Washington fans flocked to the stadium for the biggest feast of this year's local football menu.

It promised to be a treat well worth the journeying.

Smarting under last season's defeat, Navy, with a new coach, Jack Owsley, formerly of Yale, and a better balanced team generally, ruled a slight favorite with the crowd. The sailors already have won handily two games this year.

Princeton, despite victories over Amherst and Washington and Lee, has not been as impressive. The Tigers, however, have been thoroughly revamped during the last week by Coach Bill Roper and were ready to throw in the strongest lineup of the season.

It remained, however, one of those games in which anything might happen—as it generally does when the Tiger fights the Goat.

RAIN DROPS PLAY PRELUDE TO MIDDLE WEST'S PREMIER---COLUMBIA VS. STATE

ILLINOIS-IOWA ATTRACT FANS

By George A. Strickler.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Saturday for the first time in twelve months, football, king in the college court, will parade the walks of popularity unchllenged by baseball and its mighty following.

Leading the great athletic promenade in the middles west will be the Illinois-Iowa game at Iowa City, a contest of father against son, Zuppke of Illinois portraying the paternal role with Ingwerson, the beligerent offspring.

Aside from it's import as a conference title race tilt, the game will attract attention as the meeting of Grange, all-American iceman, and Kutsch, sophomore upstart of Iowa, Grange has yet to exhibit in his customary phenomenal manner this fall, and in this game will undoubtedly be pressed for honors by the fleet Hawkeye half-back, who is making his maiden appearance in a conference game.

Other games of little less importance are the Chicago-Northwestern joust and the family argument at Madison, where Yost and Little clash figuaratively while Michigan and Wisconsin take to task the matter of big ten rating.

At Indiana Ingram will test a new offense against Syracuse. Purdue will forego conference competition for another week, tackling a hoosier entry from Rose Poly, and Minnesota takes on Wabash at Mineapolis. Butler and Franklin play at Indianapolis and at Davenport St. Ambrose is host to Loyola.

TIGERS ARE SET FOR MILWAUKEE

The Toronto Tigers are in excellent condition for their game tomorrow afternoon at Kilgus field with the Milwaukee Pros. of the National Professional football league, according to Manager Tom Gilligan.

Manager Gilligan today denied reports that Hogan, Nesser and other Tiger stars had joined the Canton Bulldogs. He declared that he would have his entire squad on the field against the Milwaukee invaders, including Sol Butler, the colored flash, and others who aided in Toronto's victory over Hammond two weeks ago.

Sunday's contest is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

Fans Disappointed Because Wet Field Will Slow up Running Attacks and Passes of Both Teams.

By JACK CEJNAR.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 17.—The drip, drip, drip of a steady rain played the prelude today to the middle west's football premier—the intersectional clash between Columbia and Ohio State universities.

The weeping skies brought disappointment to thousands of Buckeye fans for a wet field meant the slowing up of the running attacks and overhead offenses of both teams, upon which the fans had expected to feast their eyes.

Today was the day and 2:30 p. m. the time, when Elmer Marek, a highly touted, corn-fed youth from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was to make his debut in the Ohio State stadium as a successor to Chic Harley.

For years Ohio State supporters have scanned their football horizon for a man to fill the immortal Harley's shoes. Coach John W. Wilce has assured them that the young Hawkeye athlete would step into them and not rattle around inside. Some of his more optimistic assistants have even indicated Harley's shoes might pinch the 1925 find. Accordingly the fans, some 40,000 of them, as advance ticket sales indicated, planned to be present this afternoon and see this meteoric son of Mrs. Marek in action.

As to the outcome of the game, campus opinion seemed evenly divided today. While both Coach Charles Crowley and Coach Wilce smeared the bear dope on heavily, the fans, in face of the bad weather and the heavy field called it a toss-up.

Coach Crowley claimed his crew was outweighed, and that the rain therefore operated in favor of Ohio State. He also pointed out that his team had not yet gone through the acid test of a big game, as the Buckeye gridders did when they met and tied Stagg's veteran eleven in Chicago last week.

On the other hand Coach Wilce was lamenting that he was forced to send a squad of cripples against the flashy visitors who ran up 170 points on their first three opponents this season and kept their own goals uncrossed.

The probable lineup:

Columbia.		Ohio State.

Freed From All Baseball Rivalry, Football Becomes The Whole Show

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Football occupied all three rings and the center platform today, freed at least from the rivalry of any late-lingering counter attraction. Just to prove its right to attention, the national gridiron offered a number of games guaranteed to be fatal to plenty of campuc bric-a-brac before the dawn of another day.

The excellence of the program extended from the sun-kissed western slopes to the coast made famous by rum and from New England to Dixie, giving the day a right to more consideration than any other football date before November.

Four noteworthy contests were scheduled for eastern fields, the most interesting of these, an intersectional dispute of long standing between the Army and Notre Dame. Both were present with strong teams, in the opinion of any neutral observer. But both coaches disclaimed any hopes of winning. In fact, Knute Rockne, the wizard of South Bend, said a defeat would do his boys good. This led to the suggestion that Rockne and Captain McEwan of West Point trade teams and pray for victory.

Yale and Pennsylvania renewed a gridiron acquaintance permitted to lapse for 32 years. The Blue and Red hoped to extend the Bulldog, despite Yale's record of two season's unbroken victory. Penn itself was without defeat and favorably mentioned for sectional honors last year.

Princeton and Navy each encountered their first serious opposition in the Annapolis schedule, the number of youngsters in the tiger line leading to the belief that a fast and heavy group of middies might do more than make it interesting for the Orange and Black.

Harvard was due for its first hard workout against Holy Cross. The Crimson has shown signs of living down several sour memories of last year, but Holy Cross owned up to the loss of several important men from the 1924 lineup.

Other eastern games were: Cornell vs. Rutgers, Pittsburgh vs. Gettysburg, Brown vs. Bates, Washington and Jefferson vs. Carnegie, Boston College vs. Boston University, Delaware vs. Swarthmore and Dartmouth vs. Maine.

WOOSTER MEETS RESERVE CREW

CLEVELAND, Oct. 17. — While Wooster's defeat by Oberlin last week robbed fans of the hope of seeing a prospective champion in action, a capacity crowd was expected this afternoon to witness the game between Western Reserve and Wooster at Van Horn field. All indications pointed to a victory for Wooster, as Reserve in its game thus far has failed to show the punch that it displayed last year.

The lineup:

Reserve		Wooster
Crowl (C)	L. F.	Pfeffer
West	L. T.	Saurer
Carpenter	L. G.	Layport (C)
Morton	C.	Critchfield
Summerfield	R. G.	Wyckoff
Finn	R. T.	Hull
Cathcart	R. E.	Junkin
Prestage	Q. B.	Siskowic
Havel	L. H.	Lehman
Lariche	R. H.	Blough

Real Economy in Transportation

CHEVROLET

Quality is the biggest factor in economy;
Quality determines the pride you take in your car;
Quality determines whether the price you pay is economical or uneconomical;
Quality, the finest you can buy in a low priced car, is provided by Chevrolet.

The quality built into a Chevrolet assures economy from the time of your purchase through the entire life of the car.

Study Chevrolet quality in relation to Chevrolet cost—then you will realize that Chevrolet prices are unusually low.

The experience of over two million owners has proved that Chevrolet cost of operation is small—that the motor gives a high mileage with a low consumption of gasoline and oil.

Come—and find out for yourself how remarkable a value you obtain in a Chevrolet because of its "Quality at Low Cost."

VELVET IN HAT FINDS FAVOR IN FALL STYLE

GOWNS SIMPLER

Coloring and Cut Make for Beauty This Season.

PARIS—Velvet in hats as well as in gowns finds increasing use in the new fall fashions.

It was only to be expected since every type of wearable and desirable gown is coming out in some kind of velvet this year. The shapes vary all the way from the large cavalier affairs to the smart small Directoire types with the new square crowns which are not too square, and therein lies their becoming vogue.

A season or so ago, the women as well as the modistes learned that not one woman in ten could wear a square high crown. The little cloche shape which has swept the world for the last few years is still the most popular, a little modified but still recognizable. Elaine is using it in a pleasing lavender shade of crinkled velvet with consecutive motifs about the brim like little petals. In another model she uses green velvet for a brim, the form itself being in brocade of silver and bottle-green.

Velour Hats, Too.

Hats of quilted velvet are a novelty and are made up without a scrap of trimming for street wear and traveling. They accompany coats banded with the same. Alexis, who, by the way, is a young American who is making some of the most attractive hats in the capital, uses quilted velvet in a lovely shade of blue edged with silver.

Gowns Are Simple.

Lon-banished brims are with us again on many of the new fall shapes. And whenever there is a noticeable one it is in front with the back turned up or folded over. Many of them are bordered with wide grossgrain ribbon of the same shade as the hat and have really no trimming at all. A charming capeline shape from the house of Blanche Hamard comes in old ribbon set off by a pleated cockade. Stylish and serviceable at the same times is a turned-up model destined to go for long morning walks in the crisp autumn air. Rouille velvet is the material and the trimming is a cabochon and tiny plumes.

Afternoon gowns are growing simpler and simpler, and according to the designers it is the coloring and cut that makes for beauty this season.

Simplicity in the modern sense si not what it seems, for the simpler one's clothes are the harder it is to have them really beautiful. No trimmings are there to cover up the defects, it is only the bare facts that count.

Crepe georgette is to be forever recommended for afternoon gowns and it is to be seen just now in all the new light shades. Chiffon is also noticed in delicate tones and in very flattering and becoming colors like lemon, prairie green, wildrose and cherry, really delightful ones to see at teatime on the dancing floor. For informal dinner parties these fluffy dresses are more popular than the more serious beaded ones. Black tulle edged with black lace is also much sought, generally accompanied by wreaths of flowers around the necklines.

Velvet, which is being used for all manner of clothes this season, is also going into afternoon gowns for more formal wear. Lenief is showing one violet velvet with a yolk appliqued in pearls. The velvet applique also appears at the top of the graceful waistline which slopes down to the sides and at the wrist of the sleeves. The applique is done over a soft dull-surfaced grey which gives a charming effect. Still another comes in lilac that circle the skirt, the godets being velvet trimmed only with the godets made of bands and ruffles of lilac velvet, silver tissue and mauve georgette.

Ensembles or two-piece effects retain their vogue for afternoon wear, nearly always with long sleeves. Mirroleene, loreline, Patou crepes, faille crepe and crepe satin are featured in a dozen new colorings.

Blackpool, Scotland's seaside resort city, has 1,000,000 visitors a month.

VELVET IN HAT FINDS FAVOR IN FALL STYLE

GOWNS SIMPLER

Coloring and Cut Make for Beauty This Season.

PARIS—Velvet in hats as well as in gowns finds increasing use in the new fall fashions.

It was only to be expected since every type of wearable and desirable gown is coming out in some kind of velvet this year. The shapes vary all the way from the large cavalier affairs to the smart small Directoire types with the new square crowns which are not too square, and therein lies their becoming vogue.

A season or so ago, the women as well as the modistes learned that not one woman in ten could wear a square high crown. The little cloche shape which has swept the world for the last few years is still the most popular, a little modified but still recognizable. Elaine is using it in a pleasing lavender shade of crinkled velvet with consecutive motifs about the brim like little petals. In another model she uses green velvet for a brim, the form itself being in brocade of silver and bottle-green.

Velour Hats, Too.

Hats of quilted velvet are a novelty and are made up without a scrap of trimming for street wear and traveling. They accompany coats banded with the same. Alexis, who, by the way, is a young American who is making some of the most attractive hats in the capital, uses quilted velvet in a lovely shade of blue edged with silver.

Gowns Are Simple.

Lon-banished brims are with us again on many of the new fall shapes. And whenever there is a noticeable one it is in front with the back turned up or folded over. Many of them are bordered with wide grossgrain ribbon of the same shade as the hat and have really no trimming at all. A charming capeline shape from the house of Blanche Hamard comes in old ribbon set off by a pleated cockade. Stylish and serviceable at the same times is a turned-up model destined to go for long morning walks in the crisp autumn air. Roulle velvet is the material and the trimming is a cabochon and tiny plumes.

Afternoon gowns are growing simpler and simpler, and according to the designers it is the coloring and cut that makes for beauty this season.

Simplicity in the modern sense si not what it seems, for the simpler one's clothes are the harder it is to have them really beautiful. No trimmings are there to cover up the defects, it is only the bare facts that count.

Crepe georgette is to be forever recommended for afternoon gowns and it is to be seen just now in all the new light shades. Chiffon is also noticed in delicate tones and in very flattering and becoming colors like lemon, prairie green, wildrose and cherry, really delightful ones to see at teatime on the dancing floor. For informal dinner parties these fluffy dresses are more popular than the more serious beaded ones. Black tulle edged with black lace is also much sought, generally accompanied by wreaths of flowers around the necklines.

Velvet, which is being used for all manner of clothes this season, is also going into afternoon gowns for more formal wear. Leniel is showing one violet velvet with a yolk appliqued in pearls. The velvet applique also appears at the top of the graceful waistline which slopes down to the sides and at the wrist of the sleeves. The applique is done over a soft dull-surfaced grey which gives a charming effect. Still another comes in lilac that circle the skirt, the godets being velvet trimmed only with the godets made of bands and ruffles of lilac velvet, silver tissue and mauve georgette.

Ensembles or two-piece effects retain their vogue for afternoon wear, nearly always with long sleeves. Mirroleene, loreline, Patou crepes, faille crepe and crepe satin are featured in a dozen new colorings.
